PINE TREE IN NEW DRESS ON OPENING DAY

The Pine Tree theatre, since 1922 a landmark along Klamath Falls' Main street, has a new face, in fact a brand new dress, and was scheduled to open her new birch doors at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night to interested movie fans who have watched the progress of improvement on the theatre since it first started on May 22.

Mrs. Rose M. Poole announced the showing of Irene Dunne and Cary Grant in "Penny Serenade," along with added attractions. A group of prominent San Franciscans were here to attend the opening of the Pine Tree.

Neat and streamlined as a feather, and with the feather as the interior motif, work on the $15,000 improvement job was completed late Tuesday afternoon.

The two exterior shops have been taken over and this space included in the Main street lobby which is centered with a maroon and apple green tile box office. Down toward Seventh street there is a neat little candy and popcorn bar which opens on Main street.

Birch doors with oval glass open into the foyer which has an extremely attractive giant mirror in peach tones, which reflects the comings and goings from the theatre lobby. A deep piled rug, with the stairway carpets in a vivid crimson, complements the dove grey walls which have, in some way, given back the effect of a splash of silver. The modern lighting fixture is difficult to describe, but most fascinating with crystal feathers curling from its sides and top. The same fixture is repeated in the smartly groomed mezzanine floor.

On the first floor there is a well planned office, and off of that a room where the Wagner letters for the marquee are kept in racks. Going upstairs the patron receives a pleasant surprise when his hand touches the metal railings, the silver gleaming in a long, curved ribbon. Especially attractive is the furniture chosen for the mezzanine. The pieces are known as modern unit furniture and are upholstered in a royal blue mohair, interesting combination with the crimson and gold conventional carpeting. A huge peach toned mirror throws back a gay foreground of crimson, gold, blue, peach and silver which is exceptionally fascinating under the theatre's artificial light.

A powder room for women patrons has a carpeting of green-blue with soft golden feathers in the pattern. The lavatory is done in a rose-pink tile. The men's smoking room repeats the colors as does the tile lavatory.

Ted Snyder, with Poole theatre for many years, and associated with the Pine Tree since its first year in Klamath Falls, is manager of the theatre. Martin Ravestien of San Francisco designed the smart interior of the theatre, and local labor was used entirely on the remodeling, renovating job. The Pine Tree theatre was built by Hart brothers of Sacramento, in 1921 and early in 1922 had its formal opening. It was acquired by the Poole interests in 1924 and has been operated by them since that time. The old Pine Tree sign gave way to the new, modernistic, 45-foot vertical sign, early in the remodeling period, along with the old marquee which has been replaced by an imposing structure. Wagner letters were installed by George Dickinson of Portland.
