

SOCE OFFERS CAA SUMMER COURSES

SOUTHERN OREGON COLLEGE OF EDUCATION, Ashland — The civilian pilot training courses to be offered at the Southern Oregon College of Education this summer will begin June 15. The college has been granted a quota of 20 students for the primary course and 10 students for the secondary course. A limited number of women students may enroll for the primary course. Any student who can meet the following requirements will be eligible to enroll for these courses:

1. He must be between the ages of 19 and 26.
2. He must be an American citizen.
3. He must have had at least one year of college.
4. He must pass a physical examination from a Civil Aeronautics administration flight surgeon. In addition, the applicant must provide insurance coverage which will satisfy the government authorities and pay a small course fee. Anyone who is interested in enrolling for aeronautics training should inquire at the office of the coordinator of civilian pilot training at the college immediately.

DRUG STORE GETS REMODELING JOB

Work is now under way on the remodeling and expansion of Everybody's drug store, it was announced by Charles W. Whisenant, owner. Everybody's is taking over the store space just vacated by Schoen's bakery. The present drug store and the space next door formerly used by the bakery are being completely remodeled into one large modern drug establishment. Everybody's will be open for business while the work is taking place.

The change will make use of new fluorescent lighting, new linoleum, new shelving and display tables and general redecoration. When completed Everybody's will be one of the largest and most modern drug stores in town, Whisenant promised. He plans to add several new departments and services.

Whisenant opened Everybody's in December of 1933 in the store which he is now incorporating in the larger quarters. By 1935 the business had grown enough to necessitate his first expansion. At that time he moved to the present location.

Camp Fire News

SUMMER CAMP
Now that the school term has come to an end and plans are being made for summer vacation the question of whether or not daughter attends summer camp is discussed by many parents. Daughter would like to go to camp this summer.

Father can see no particular advantage in sending Mary away for a week or two to be looked after and possibly entertained. Mother wonders if her child would not be homesick and after all would not be happier with the rest of the family at the beach or wherever they may decide to go.

Several questions come to the minds of parents when a child suggests a camp vacation. And of course it is only natural that parents should ask these questions. What is the objective of camp? Are health facilities good? What first aid and medical care does camp provide? How well qualified are the persons who act as counselors?

Parents may interview the director who will give them the information that they desire. The objective of a good camp is not merely to entertain the child. An effort is made first of all to develop her health and strength by hiking, swimming, archery and other outdoor activities. Camp life will give her an appreciation of nature. She will become more interested in birds, flowers, trees and plants. The child is helped to learn by doing, to participate in the daily activities. Independence and self reliance are developed. Camp provides an ideal place for the child to attempt management of her own life without her parents.

The well-conducted camp makes allowances for the fact that little children might get homesick. Leaders who can give affection and sympathy are chosen. A good camp affords a child happiness and wise use of leisure time. It can and has done a lot for many children. It is an experience every child needs.

Won't you enroll your daughter at our Camp Fire Girls' camp? It will be held this year August 10 to August 24 at Lake of the Woods. Our camp is ideally located for nature lore, camp craft and water sports. In addition to these, hand craft, dramatics, folk dancing and music are on the schedule. Swimming and horse back riding provide two activities probably enjoyed by the girls more than anything else offered at camp.

ELDER ELECTED BY FOOTPRINTERS

City Police Officer Robert Elder was named president of the Klamath chapter of the International Footprinters association at the annual election held at a meeting in the party room at the Pelican cafe Wednesday evening.

Elder succeeds District Attorney L. Orth Sizemore, who has served for two years as president of the group of law enforcement officers and civilians.

Other new officers are: Frank Blackmer, vice president; L. A. Murphy, treasurer; Louis Johnson, secretary, and the following directors: John Arkell, Earl Heuvel, Carl Mueller, Dale Mattoon, Lloyd Low, Bud Wilson and Frank Hamm.

Death Preferred To Dentist Chair

TACOMA, June 5, (AP)—Stepping from a dentist's chair, Dorothy Blaney, 26, plunged out of a window and dropped nine floors to her death here late yesterday afternoon.

Her plunge was made from the Fidelity building, at Eleventh and Broadway, the city's busiest intersection.

Police investigators said they were told she passed her mother on her way to the window but did not speak to her.
