Grandfather Has His Day

With the coming of Sunday, June the fifteenth, the head of the house—Father—will have his day. But Grandfather has his day, too, and on this page are five well known Dads of fathers and mothers who have presented them with charming grandchildren.

Mr. N. B. Drew and his granddaughter, Nancy Drew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greer Drew, who observed her second anniversary on Friday, June the thirteenth. Mother was the former Faye Buchanan.

Young David Macartney and his proud grandfather, Mr. Ralph R. Macartney Sr., both looking pleased as punch. David is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Macartney and mother was Mary Jane Moore before her marriage.

While Grandfather C. L. Harvey watches his young grandson, Erik Mathisen, the one-year-old responds with a nice smile. Erik is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritjof Mathisen, mamma being the former Alice Harvey.

Boasting two grandchildren, Mr. Burge Mason Sr., beams on John and Clarissa Mason, children of Mr. and Mrs. Burge Mason Jr., of this city. Mother was Mildred Sinniger of Roseburg.

And from Salt Lake City comes round-eyed little Enid Patricia Sharp, daughter of Lieutenant and Mrs. Douglas Sharp, to pose with Grandfather Mylous P. Winningham. Enid's mother was the former Enid Winningham, also visiting here.
