

GERMANY SAYS TROOPS SLASH INTO RUSSIA

the German army are taking their planned course, with great success.

Soviet Disagrees
Although Russian advices indicated German penetration of 10 to 15 miles in places in Adolf Hitler's new drive to the east, the soviet high command declared two nazi columns had been repulsed with heavy losses.

Hinting at a huge loss of life, Moscow news reports said the frontier guards opposed the Germans hand-to-hand "and the enemy was unable to advance an inch except over their dead bodies."

From Berlin, DNB said weak forces of Russian fliers had been driven off and forced to jettison their bombs in open fields when they sought to raid objectives in East Prussia.

It reported, too, that a single German bomber had destroyed 23 cars of a soviet fuel train in an attack yesterday.

A nazi U-boat was said to have sunk a Russian submarine in the Baltic sea off the Latvian coast.

A Reuters dispatch from Ankara told of unconfirmed reports that Russian cruisers, destroyers and submarines were battling German aerial squadrons off the Bulgarian coast of the Black sea.

A Berlin dispatch from Bratislava said little Slovakia had entered the war with Germany against Russia.

The possibility of further aid for Germany was brought up by the report of Lithuanians in Berlin that a Kaunas broadcast claimed that the capital was firmly in the hands of a Lithuanian army corps of 18,000 men revolting against Russian rule.

SEATTLE HUNTS MADMAN AFTER WOMAN KILLED

shot seriously through the neck, and another motorist, R. F. Bull, 43, plumbing supplies salesman, was critically shot and bludgeoned.

Officers, working double shifts and under orders to "shoot to kill" yesterday's abductor-slayer, however were warned by Coroner Otto Mittelstadt that while "the crimes are of different type, maybe the slayer has gone berserk and is killing whenever he gets the chance."

He ordered an autopsy on Mrs. Link's body.

SEATTLE, June 24 (AP)—Nine-year-old Howard Link was trying so hard that it hurt today to be a man, after a bestial slayer last night killed his mother and made him an orphan.

Howard's father, Arthur Link, Chicago lithographer, died two years ago, and Howard and his mother took the insurance money, came here last July and built a home.

"I guess I'll have to sell the house now, since mother is dead," he said, tearless in the face of the obvious consolatory efforts of his cousins, Lael McBurney, 7, and her brother Robert, 10.

"I guess I'll have to put up a 'For Sale' sign . . .

"I woke up at 4:30 this morning," he declared, keeping his chin ever so stiff and his voice calm. "I saw the light was still on. Mother usually put it out at 20 minutes to 12 when she came home from work."

"I got up and looked in the bedroom, and she wasn't there. Then I went downstairs and looked around. And she wasn't there, either. So then I called the hotel where she works as a telephone operator, and they told me she had gone home."

"I put out the light then."

Then he called his aunt Vera (Mrs. McBurney) and pretty soon the elders of the family found his mother's body in the back of a vacant lot where she had been throttled, kicked to death and criminally assaulted.

Howard cried then, expostulating "my mummy dead!" Then suddenly accepting the fact, he became very quiet and very calm and ever so business-like about "selling the house."
