Police Chief Frank Hamm issued a statement Tuesday thanking all who cooperated in making the celebration traffic arrangements successful and in holding down accidents over the holidays to a "pleasing low."

Hamm's statement: "I wish to thank the motorists of Klamath Falls, The News and Herald and radio station KFJL for the wonderful cooperation they gave the police department during the celebration days of July 4, 5 and 6. After checking the accident experience I find that Klamath Falls this year had a very low accident rate as the following figures will testify:

Property damage 12
Personal injury 1

"The maximum time for the motorist to get to and from the rodeo was 30 minutes this year, as compared with two hours during the previous years. There was only one slight property damage on South Sixth street while the two lane traffic plan was in operation.

"This was made possible by careful driving during the heavy traffic congestion, and shows what can be done when the motorist becomes traffic conscious.

"During this same period there were 20 arrests for hazardous moving violations. By dividing the number of arrests into the number of personal injuries we arrive at an enforcement

COUNCIL ENDORSES REGATTA SUNDAY

Wholehearted endorsement of the Upper Klamath lake boat regatta, to be staged Sunday, was given by the mayor and city council Tuesday.

Cooperation of the police and other city departments was extended the junior chamber of commerce, sponsor of the regatta.

Mayor John Houston urged that people of the city invite their relatives and friends into the city for the big water carnival.

"The city should do everything in its power to help the junior chamber make a great success of this affair," said the mayor.

The stage is set for the annual Soap Box derby slated for July 19, and permission of the city council was granted the Turner Chevrolet company to proceed with plans. The firm sponsors the derby which is a civic affair and open to all boys between the ages of 11 and 15, inclusive.

Permission of residents along Portland street from Pacific Terrace to Crescent avenue, had been obtained by Turner's before they made a plea to the council to have Portland blocked from the edge of Pacific Terrace to the railroad tracks.

MERRILL—Lottie Williams, manager of the Crater Lake Dairy store since it opened here three years ago, left last weekend for Portland where she expects to be associated in business with a sister, Miss Williams, who resigned a week prior to her leaving will be succeeded by Mary Lacey Fox, who also has been employed at the dairy store since it opened for business.

Continuing with the personnel will be Nellie Barry Wahlert and Virginia Haskins Moore.

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—James F. Byrnes was sworn in at the White House today as an associate justice of the supreme court.

stituted a logical prelude to an attempt at invading England.

Should an invasion be successful, he said, the reich would be in position to take a pincers campaign against the western hemisphere — the threat President Roosevelt mentioned yesterday when he notified congress that United States naval forces had landed in Iceland as the occupation vanguard.

The council voted that henceforth the city will refuse to accept options on city property on which the title is not cleared for title insurance. This action was in accordance with a recommendation of the executive committee of the realty board.

Mayor Houston told the council he feels the council should approve or reject all expenses for trips which any city official may take. Heretofore this has been done by the finance committee. After some discussion, it was decided the finance committee recommendations on each proposed trip should be reviewed and either confirmed or rejected by the council.

Recent actions of the council as a whole were approved. These included refusal to permit the AFL sawmill workers union to use a loudspeaker on the public streets, and to authorize the finance committee to take necessary steps in acquiring a new "black Maria" for the police.

A. J. Kroenert, 425 Pine street, told the council that because of escaping steam from Klamath Heating company pipes, he can get nothing but hot water out of the pipes in his house. The matter was referred to the city engineer and plumbing inspector.

Councilman Wiesendanger recommended that a street along the eastern hills, between Del Moro and Fremont streets, be temporarily closed. He said that people drive slowly along this dusty road and peek into the yards and back windows of houses below. The matter was taken under advisement.

council a letter objecting to the council's recent decision to permit parking in the curbside parkway on Eleventh street adjoining the reclamation property. Hayden said that traffic is heavy on Eleventh street and it is essential to maintain vision for operators of equipment moving in and out of the two entrances to the reclamation property. He asked that the council prohibit any parking within 30 feet of these entrances. The matter was referred to the council as a whole.

WILSON GIVEN EVEN CHANCE OF RECOVERY

in a pick-up truck. She drove to Officer Wilson's house at Beatty to appeal to him for help, and he accompanied her back to the Fisher house.

According to the account given District Attorney L. Orth Slesmore and Sheriff Lloyd L. Low, Wilson walked to the door of the house.

He saw Fisher inside, with the rifle.

At that moment Fisher allegedly shouted, "Here it is!" and the rifle fire followed.

Wilson, despite the wounds in his chest, staggered back from the house for about 50 feet, and emptied his gun into the structure.

Fisher came around the corner with his rifle in his hand. Tommy Wilson, a negro living nearby who had witnessed the gunplay, shouted to Wilson to fall flat. Wilson rolled under an old truck for cover.

Tommy Wilson and Del McDonald then took the wounded officer in a truck to Beatty. A call was made to Sheriff Low and Indian Officer John Arkell, and Wilson was then placed in a car which started for Klamath Falls.

Posse Forms

A few miles from Beatty the bearings burned out in the car. Mrs. Jack Harrison, wife of a Beatty merchant, was following in her car and brought Wilson on into the Klamath Valley hospital. Because of the nature of the wounds it was virtually impossible to give him effective first aid, and he had bled badly when brought to the hospital.

Sheriff Low and Deputy Sheriff Jack Franey sped immediately to Beatty, gathered a posse, and began a search for Fisher.

Caught in Field

The white man was tracked around the outskirts of Beatty and finally cornered behind a house.

He was advised to come out and give himself up by the sheriff, who was not sure whether Fisher was armed.

Instead, Fisher chose to run. He fled across a rye field. The possemen pursued, firing several shots. It was black and none of the bullets took effect, but Fisher flung himself on the ground, crawling over his gun.

He was found in that position and taken into custody.

Sheriff Low said over long distance telephone he had not questioned Fisher immediately.

The sheriff said Fisher had allegedly written a note which indicated he "wished" he had also shot his wife.

Two Indians, Clifford Hecoceta and Merlyn Chocktoot, were in the Fisher house at the time of the shooting, investigators said. They had entered the place after Mrs. Fisher had left to get Officer Wilson.

Fellow-officers of Wilson's in the Indian service, state police, sheriff's office and city police were all ready last night to give blood transfusions, as well as Recreation Officer Dave Bridge of the city and County Juvenile Officer Spec Murray. One of all the officers has been typed, and half a dozen of the men were reported to have the proper type for the transfusion.

Bridge was selected to give the blood to Wilson.

State or Federal

Wilson is 35 years of age, married, and has two children in Portland. He has been at Beatty about five years, and officers stated he is one of the most highly respected men in law enforcement circles in this area. He is employed by the federal Indian service, under Indian Officer John Arkell of Klamath Agency.

Fisher has lived at Beatty a number of years. He has a misdemeanor record at the county jail, where his "mug" and record are on file.

It was not certain Tuesday whether the case against Fisher would be taken through federal or state courts. An attorney on a federal officer is a federal offense, and there are state laws against assault while armed with a dangerous weapon and assault with intent to kill. Legal angles of the case were awaiting the outcome of Wilson's fight for life at the hospital.

KLAMATH ON NEW TELEPHONE LINES

a small brick building on the telephone line near Chemult, which houses additional equipment necessary for these carrier systems. This particular structure is called a repeater station, where the voice currents are amplified so that there will be no loss in volume. Klamath Falls, incidentally, is a major repeater station point.

Another small building, known as a filter hut, has been erected on the outskirts of Klamath Falls, to house equipment made necessary by the changing of the circuits from open wire on poles to wire in cables through the city.

An accurate technical explanation of how the carrier systems work would fill several books, but, briefly, the 18-voice channels, or telephone conversations, on each pair of wires are made possible by the use of carrier frequency bands, somewhat analogous to radio stations, which broadcast and are heard on different frequencies or bands. Roughly speaking, the voice messages are placed on a special band or frequency range, then at the receiving end are converted or filtered by the special equipment back to the ordinary telephone voice bands. In the "J" type carrier systems on open wire the frequency used range from 30,000 to 140,000 cycles. The ordinary range for voice is from 200 to 3000 cycles.

The "J" type carriers are a product of the research and development work of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The total expenditure in Oregon alone to provide these new carrier systems will be in the neighborhood of $380,000.

HOMER WINS FOR AMERICAN LEAGUE

When the fateful ninth began the National leaguers appeared to have their fourth victory in the classic wrapped up.

They were headed 5 to 3 by virtue of two home runs hit in successive innings by Arky Vaughn, veteran shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, each with a man on base. Passeau, fourth pitcher for the National leaguers, appeared to be holding the Americans well in check.

Catcher Frank Hayes, first American up in the ninth, was an easy pop-up victim, and some of the fans began moving for the exits, but Ken Keltner of Cleveland, batting for the pitcher, beat out a smash to shortstop, and Lou Boudreau followed with a clean single to center. Cecil Travis worked Passeau for a walk to load the sacks and bring up Joe DiMaggio.

Joe obliged with a hard grounder to short and Keltner scored while Travis was being forced at second. Williams, who had knocked in the first run of the game in the fourth frame, worked the count to one strike and two balls and then laid into the horsehide to climax about as thrilling a tussle as the game ever produced.

POLICE BUSINESS TAKES SHARP DROP

Five drunks appeared in police court Tuesday morning after an average of around 25 per day during the weekend celebration. Robert Weigel, Klamath county farmhand, received a fine of $100 and 30 days when he entered a plea of guilty to drunk driving, and $5 or 2½ days on no operator's license. His right to apply for a license has been revoked for one year.

A fine of $25 was paid by Jack Harrison of Beatty on a reckless driving charge.

David Junell, 605 Broad street, and Ben Hamilton, same address, were charged with disorderly conduct after a fracas which sent Hamilton to Klamath Valley hospital with knife wounds, and Junell to a doctor with injuries from a baseball bat. Neither man wished to sign a complaint against the other and both were then signed by Officer Orville Hamilton.

Henry Lewis Gibson, charged with no operators license and violation of the basic rule, left a watch as bail.

and considerable damage to the business district. Other points in the south and southeast were bombed and the British said five night raiders were destroyed.

The nazis made a morning attack on another south coast town, but were driven off after a half hour fight with British planes. No bomb damage was reported.

Bly Garbage Dump Catches on Fire

Fire burned at the garbage dump at Bly Tuesday, and because it is located in a forest area equipment was moved in to prevent the blaze from spreading.

Klamath Forest Protective offices reported a grass and juniper fire in the vicinity of Copco, on the Klamath river south of the state line.

CHILD INJURED IN CAR COLLISION ON SOUTH SIXTH STREET

Iris Snodgrass, 3-year-old daughter of Elmer F. Snodgrass who was here this past week with the West Coast carnival, suffered a deep forehead cut above the left eye when a car in which she was riding with her father collided with a machine operated by David Raymond Baker, 24, 2400 South Sixth street, late Saturday.

The accident occurred on Spring street.

Numerous other weekend accidents were reported to city police, a few minor injuries included in the list of crashes.

BO-MILE COLUMN REACHES KLAMATH

Klamath Falls under a warm afternoon sun Tuesday stretches 80 miles from head to rear once it is under way on the highway. It takes three hours to pass one point, officers said, and travels in eight sections, 40 to 50 vehicles in each section.

Included in the visiting regiments is Company H of the 116th Medical, all men coming from Lebanon, Ore.

The line is made up of slightly more than 475 vehicles, according to General Rilea and other high officers of the 41st division and is believed to be the largest military column ever to traverse the Pacific highway. General Rilea is in Grants Pass with the 186th.

Virtually one-third of these troops, now in Klamath Falls, visited here en route south to Hunter Liggett, and officers said the men were "mighty glad" to be back in Klamath Falls where they received such a warm welcome on their trip south.

The men are last of the 41st division to leave Hunter Liggett, officers said.

Getting an early start in cool morning air, the 162nd will start rolling early — around 2:30 or 3 o'clock Wednesday, officers said. They will be on their way over the Willamette Pass and will be in Eugene Wednesday night, arriving in Portland Thursday afternoon. A parade is scheduled for Friday night in Portland at which time 3500 men of the 82nd brigade will parade in front of the home folks. This will include only Portland men from the 82nd, 218th field artillery and 41st signal corps. Also marching will be coastal and eastern Oregon companies of the 162nd, men who were unable to get home as the troops moved north.
