Garden Club Plans Show

Weeds, Seeds, Grasses To Feature Monday Afternoon Exhibit

Gardens are a bit on the shy side at this time of the year, what with iris and tulips long since gone, delphinium and larkspur on the seed side, and the early fall flowers just beginning to make themselves known. But this should cause just that much more interest in the weed show which is scheduled for Monday, July the twenty-eighth, in the small club rooms of the city library.

The show itself is open to the public but is sponsored by the garden study group of the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club. But those interested ask prospective exhibitors to bear in mind the fact this show is open to the public and no need be a member of the club or the group to enter exhibits.

Club rooms will be open at ten o'clock Monday morning for work. Exhibitors should bring containers, all needed equipment and material. There will be no judging at this show, it was announced.

At twelve o'clock noon, and until one o'clock, the women will enjoy a paper sack lunch. At one o'clock sharp there will be a board meeting of the garden study group, and a very brief business meeting of the club at two o'clock.

The public is urged to take part in this exhibit and some exceptionally interesting work is expected to be on display. There is no charge asked of those who wish to see the exhibit during the afternoon.
