WORK STARTS ON BLY HIGH SCHOOL JOB

BLY—Construction has been started at the high school, and work at present is confined to remodeling the building to better accommodate the expected increase in the elementary department. The old gymnasium will be converted into a cafeteria and class room. This room will be used as a study hall and will be large enough to accommodate all students not in classes. The part now occupied by the stage will be used as a library with convenient shelves for reference books and county library books.

Plans for the gymnasium are perfected, but as yet no work has been done because of unforeseen difficulty in obtaining a contractor. However, the delay will not be long and soon the new unit will be under way. The building will be located 40 feet from the present unit and entrances will be made at both front and rear. Those at the rear will accommodate the high school children, and the high school students will use the front doors. Showers and convenient dressing rooms are included in the plans. Bly will have a gymnasium to suit its progressive spirit.

Defense Activity at Bly Shows Increase

BLY — Activity pertaining to war and defense is in evidence in Bly. Increased enrollment and added interest is reported from the classes in first aid held on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the shop of the high school. "Red" Smith is the teacher and is planning to follow up the present beginners' course with an advanced class.

Women of Bly and Ivory Pine have started a class in sewing and knitting which meets in the home economics room of the school every Thursday. The project on hand now is baby clothes of the simplest patterns in flannel. The women may either work at the school or take the material home. An impetus to the work was the gift of a large box of new clothing donated by Mrs. Olive Protsman. At the Thursday meeting August 7 Anne Mengel will furnish tea and Mrs. George Elliott will fill the cookie jar. As there is a lot of work to be done, women of the community were urged to attend.
