Currin's

There are six different specials on at Currin's for Drugs right now. And every one of them is a good one. They're available only as long as the stock lasts, however, so if you see anything you want (and you should) don't wait too long before going down to the store.

Here they are:

1. A $1.00 jar of Harriet Hubbard Ayer's cleansing cream and a $1.00 box of her Luxuria face powder. . . $2.00 value. . . All for only $1.00.

2. A $1.00 bottle of Tussy's lovely cologne. . . In three fragrances. . . Blue Iris, tropical spice or mountain laurel. . . At half price, 50c.

3. A $1.00 jar of Tussy's cream deodorant for 50c.

4. A combination package containing a $1.00 box of Tussy face powder with matching rouge and lipstick. . . All for only $1.00.

5. A $2.00 bottle of Worth's perfume (nearly a quarter of an ounce) and a one ounce flacon of matching cologne. . . Both for $2.00. . . The fragrances are carnation, gardenia and lilac. . . And you ought to sniff the carnation. . . It's marvelous!

6. A Tussy lipstick for 50c, or two for $1.00. . . These are being closed out because they come in gun metal cases, and, since gun metal is on the "priority list," Tussy has to have a different kind of case. . . The new ones, with the same kind of lipstick (I'm told) will be out soon.

These six specials. . . Count 'em. . . Are at Currin's for a limited time.

A couple of years ago I remarked in this column that an awful lot of people used the mail box at the S. P. station instead of depositing their mail at the postoffice. . . And now I see by The Herald and News that the postmaster is threatening to take the mail box away if people don't use the postoffice until 8 p. m. . . Which I call an example of slow to wrath but awful when aroused."

Goeller's

COLORED ceilings are becoming more and more in favor since people let their imaginations go a little and forgot that white or ivory ceilings had been the fashion for twenty years or so. . . People are rather hard to change, however, but Mrs. Goeller told me that she persuaded a friend of hers to put an apricot colored ceiling in a bedroom with blue walls. . . And the effect is marvelous.

Goeller's Wallpaper and Paint store has a couple of dozen different books showing color combinations and arrangements for every room in a house. . . And they all indicate what I've been reading about elsewhere. . . That ceilings are different. . . Colored, flowered, dotted or striped ceilings are creating much more interesting rooms, as fast as people can get out of the rut of plain white or ivory ceilings.

In case you don't remember, Goeller's is the place where you buy Pittsburgh paints.

Church Influence

SOME of the newest styles in dresses, hats and shoes are definitely ecclesiastic in effect. . . Because, it is claimed, the thoughts of many are turning to religion in this period of strife and chaos.

Anyhow. . . The world's greatest artists have contributed their part to the designs of ecclesiastic garments both for the high dignitaries of the church and the lower orders of the clergy. . . So there are, ready-made, lots of ideas for our designers to draw on and adapt.

The monk's shoe has been more or less popular for a long time, but now it is expected to "grate excitement" in several new versions. . . And the cowl neckline, which is flattering to anyone, will be seen more often.

In addition, hats inspired by the bishop's mitre (or mitre) . . . And the biretta. . . The hooded capelet. . . The stole (which has been used before). . . And the cardinal's cape. . . All these are being incorporated in the new styles.

Here's a true story: A young man of our acquaintance was bothered by a sweet young thing who kept asking him to parties. . . He wasn't interested, but she wouldn't give up. . . So he took her out one night. . . After he had gotten her back on her front porch, he kissed her good-night, and then pulled out his false teeth before her very eyes. . . She hasn't called him up since.

REVERSIBLE coats are going to be more popular than ever this Fall and Winter. . . And I saw some of the darlings combinations at Long's this week. . . The kind that every girl will want for campus wear.

There are coats that are trench coats when worn on one side and big plaid effects when worn the other way. . . Others have plain colors and trench coat combinations. . . They're all the answer to any girl's request for two coats and parents' hope for two for the price of one!

Trench coats, incidentally, are going strong for Fall wear

They provide the military atmosphere that is just the thing right now.

Mr. and Mrs. Long recently returned from the markets, and now the things they bought are piling in every day. . . Darling pin cord dresses, jackets, skirts and slacks. . . Lots of casual felt hats.

Light wool dresses with a touch of femininity. . . And date dresses that are feminine from the neckline to the hem.

Some of the cutest accessories I ever saw are at Long's too. . . For instance, patchwork suede beanies and bags to match. . . Suede vests and beanies. . . Every girl will love them.

If you have both silk and nylon hosiery on hand, wear the silk now. . . Nylon will keep, but silk will deteriorate if kept too long.

Garcelon's

If occasionally you wish you could cuss when you remove the filter from your coffee maker and wash it or replace it with a fresh one, here is your answer. . . Don't provide the occasion for cussing. . . Instead, buy one of the 50c Cory glass filter rods that fit on any kind of coffee maker (drip method). . . And you do away with cloth paper filters entirely.

Garcelon's also carries a Cory combination package that is very handy. . . And, since it costs only $1.00, would make a dandy practical gift or prize. . . The package contains one of the Cory filter rods, a "funnel holder" to make the top part of your coffee maker stand up by itself, and a measuring cup.

Incidentally, Jane Garcelon told me once that Cory Coffee Brewers are the best glass coffee makers on the market. . . They come in 6, 8 and 12-cup sizes. . . Price. . . Well, the 6-cup size without the stove is $2.75, the 8-cup is $3.95. . . And the 8-cup, with the electric stove is $6.45.

These Cory Coffee Brewers

are different than most, with a hinged top covering the lower part so it can be used as a coffee pot on the table. . . They all come trimmed in black, ivory or walnut.

PLAY-BY-PLAY

ACCOUNT GIVEN

OF BOMB RAID

Editor's Note: Pilot Officer Jack Calder, a former Canadian Press staff writer, now an observer in the Royal Canadian air force, here describes his first operational flight over German-occupied territory as navigator and bomb-aimer.

By JACK CALDER
(Copyright, 1941,
By The Canadian Press)
LONDON, Aug. 14 — Maxie looked at the oil pressure again and then looked at me.

"I think we might just make it," he said.

Then it was time to dash out to sea, if we were to be at the target at the zero hour. The formation tightened behind us and we climbed for three minutes through broken cloud. Behind were other formations — all streaking for Brest and the Gneisenau.

We leveled out and suddenly broke cloud. Below us was blue sea and far ahead the coast of France.

I thought of that bad oil leak which might make our gun turret unserviceable at the target area. The wireless operator was working desperately to repair it. His wedding was only a couple of weeks ahead and he wanted to come back for it.

Objects on the coast grew bigger and I went forward to the bomb-aimer's position. Max pat- ted me on the shoulder as I passed him. Boy, he was cool. He had refused to turn back because we were leading the formation and there was a job to do.

"Look at that ack-ack come up," someone said.

Ahead of us the sky was cluttered with little patches of anti-aircraft shell bursts. We headed across the little peninsula toward the drydocks of Brest.

"I'm going to try the runup from here," Max said over the inter-communicating phone.

"But we're 10 miles off the target and will be there two minutes early if we make our move now," I told him.

"That's all right," he argued. And he was captain. "They're not bothering us now and we've got a good chance of getting in."

"Okay," I said. "Steady ahead. Target."

Below I saw barrage balloons at about 6000 feet. Something was burning on the ground — probably a fighter aircraft.

It happened like a flash. "Rat-a-tat-tat-tat," went the guns in our rear turret.

"I just shot down an ME109," called the rear gunner. "I didn't even have time to report it."

"Heads up," cried the gunner leader. "Here come two more."

"I've got one," called the rear gunner of No. 3 aircraft.

"Let's have less people talking at one time," Maxie ordered. "Give the gunnery leader a chance."

"All right, but I've got an ME109, too," yelled No. 2 rear gunner.

Below I saw a parachute open. One of our victims had managed to bail out. Someone reported that one fighter had crashed on the ground.

Now we were doing violent evasive action. The ack-ack was coming at us. The target was desperately near.

"Broomph! Broomph!" went a burst right beneath my face. I put on my parachute.

"You'll have to do a 90-degree turn left to make it," I told Maxie. "Quickly."

He wheeled her over and the formation followed.

The target was coming down the drift wires.

"Dropping, dropping, go!" I hollered and the bombs sailed out. On the last turn No. 3 had slithered above us and his bombs near hit us as they fell.

"Bombs gone," I shouted. "Good show," said Maxie. "Now let's get out of here."

At that moment I knew that we had missed the Gneisenau because I had felt a slight skid as we came out of the last sharp turn and straightened out.

As we dived and turned, I saw the bombs bursting slightly to the left and beyond the target. At least we had helped to mess up the docks.

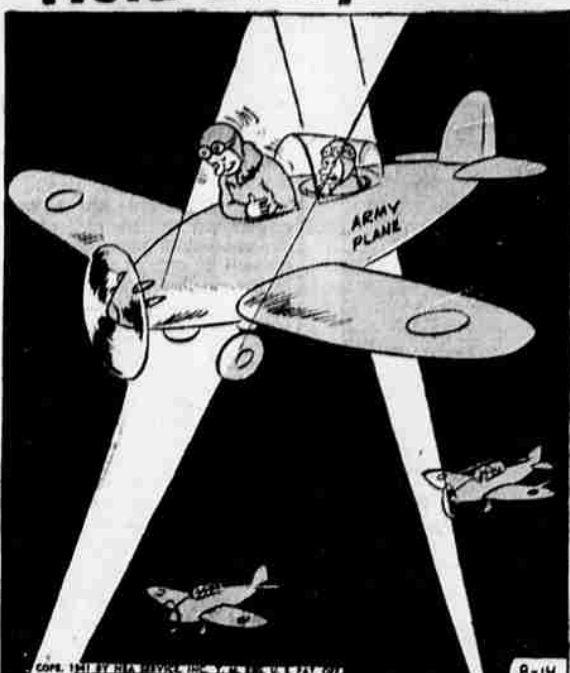

The shells were breaking all around us. We got out because Maxie was so cool.

BODY FOUND
EUGENE, Aug. 14 (P)—The body of Felix A. Trustrum, about 45, was found yesterday at his farm home near Florence.

Coroner Charles P. Poole said he died of a bullet wound, apparently self-inflicted.

Elsewhere

In Oregon

NEHALEM, Aug. 14 (P)—Nehalem bay commercial fishermen report an unusually large run of salmon. Sizes too have been big, the fish averaging 25 pounds.

ASTORIA, Aug. 14 (P)—Don Dixon, Portland logger who plunged from a guy wire 60 feet to the top of a car Sunday, failed to appear on the job Monday as he had planned. He turned up at the Anliker brothers logging operation at Glenwood but asked for a week's layoff to recover from bruises.

BEND, Aug. 14 (P)—A tandem bicycle brought Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Damon of Oakland, Calif., here this week on a vacation trip. They were en route from Klamath Falls to Eugene.

MILTON-FREEWATER, Aug. 14 (P)—Local prune growers, after a trip to Yakima, reported that fresh prunes were selling at not less than $27.50 a ton net to growers and $25.50 on cannery deals. Picking is expected to start here Aug. 15.

MARSHFIELD, Aug. 14 (P)—R. L. Bechtel of Reedsport has been elected district president of the International Woodworkers of America, succeeding W. L. Harris of Marshfield.

REDMOND, Aug. 14 (P)—Principal Edgar R. Means said today Redmond Union high school might close for a week in October to release students for the potato harvest. School is to open for the 1941-42 year on Sept. 2.

The closure will depend on labor conditions.

REDMOND, Aug. 14 (P)—Work on the big Wikup dam on the Deschutes river will be turned over soon to CCC company 3530, Lt. George F. Block, commander, announced. The other company at Camp Wikup, No. 596, will be disbanded Aug. 15, but most of its personnel will be absorbed by other companies.

DEFENSE HOMESITE Laid in Portland

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (P)—A site at Portland for construction of 85 homes for married enlisted men and civilian personnel at the army air base was approved today by the federal works agency.

The 17-acre site, 85 per cent owned by the city, is bounded on the east by N. E. 27th avenue, the west by an alley west of N. E. 24th avenue, the north by N. E. Lombard street and the south by N. E. Dekum street.

BEAN PICKERS Sought in Stayton

SALEM, Aug. 14 (P)—The state employment service issued a call today for 1400 workers to pick beans in the Stayton area, asserting that the bean growers would suffer losses unless the pickers are found.

Growers said good weather has increased the crop far above original estimates. Until yesterday, there were more pickers than were needed.

SALEM, Aug. 14 (P)—The Salem Retail Trade bureau said today it would begin circulation tomorrow of petitions calling for an election on whether parking meters should be installed in the downtown area.

The city council has voted to give the meters a trial, but the trade bureau wants an election first.

Markets and Financial

SLIGHT CLIMB MADE BY FEW STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (P)—The stock market tried to break its lengthy stalemate today with a creeping rally and was moderately successful so far as rails and scattered industrials were concerned.

Brokerage consensus was that the improved tendencies that seeped into the list were due mainly to technical causes—the Associated Press average of 80 stocks had been unchanged or down in the past 14 sessions—and not to any outstanding news developments.

Wall street halted, along with the ticker tape, to read the Roosevelt-Churchill statement of joint policy drawn up at a sea conference. The eight-point program, however, failed to stir the speculative pulse.

Lethargy was pronounced throughout and transfers for the five hours approximated 400,000 shares.

While fractional advances were well distributed at the close, numerous issues held at Wednesday's final marks and minus signs were plentiful.

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Aug. 14 (P)—Capt. John M. Holmes' attorneys expected he would take the stand in his own defense today in his trial for the murder of Wilson D. McNary Jr.

In yesterday's testimony, District Attorney Gilbert Ferrell described Holmes, 36-year-old former army flier and well known society figure, as a pre-meditating killer.

The prosecutor declared that Holmes, irked at McNary's attentions to the millionaire widow of a sugar magnate, and feeling that the woman had become indifferent to him, "decided to commit suicide, and also decided to take McNary along with him."

McNary, 26-year-old Portland shipping executive, married and the father of a young son, was found shot to death in his hotel room at San Mateo on May 3.

Holmes lay on the floor nearby, critically wounded by a shot through the head that cost him his eyesight.

R. A. McLaren of San Mateo, a close friend of both Holmes and McNary, identified as in Holmes' handwriting a note to the Burlingame police saying "McNary tried to steal my girl, so he goes with me as an example by which others may benefit. J. M. Holmes."

Wearing dark glasses, neatly dressed and relaxed during the trial.

TRUSTY RECAPTURED Near Prison Farm

SALEM, Aug. 14 (P)—Paul H. Moody, 50, state prison trusty received May 20 from Douglas county to serve a year for obtaining money under false pretenses, was recaptured yesterday 2 1/2 hours after he escaped from a state prison gun crew that was working on a potato farm 12 miles north of Salem.

Moody was captured a mile away from the farm by a man whose name was not learned by prison officials.

CAVE CITY CHAMBER Secretary Coming

Elwood Hussey, secretary of the Cave City chamber of commerce and prominent in Legion and 40 and 8 circles, will be here August 19 for the annual steak feed of the Klamath Legion post, according to a letter received by Fred Heilbrunner.

Hussey also asked Heilbrunner to express appreciation to Klamath fliers who attended the Illinois valley airport opening celebration held recently near Cave City.

WHEAT SLIPS BACK

AFTER ABRUPT RISE

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (P)—Wheat prices shot up as much as 24 cents in the first few minutes of trading today, but then abated and tumbled back to around yesterday's close.

Short covering and mill buying contributed to the original upward drive, with houses with eastern connections bringing substantial orders into the pits.

Some buying also was of the stop-loss nature. Profit taking developed rapidly on the reaction.

Trade attention centered on the Roosevelt-Churchill statement but there was no unanimity of opinion about what it fore-shadowed. Failure of the stock market to show any reaction caused some late selling and there was uncertainty about the fate of the bill to freeze wheat and corn stocks held by the government.

Wheat closed unchanged to 4 cents lower compared with yesterday's finish, September $1.11 1/2, December $1.15 1/4, May $1.18 1/4; corn 1-c down, September 77c, December 81c; oats 1-c lower.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Aug. 14 (AP. USDA)—Wool prices showed some irregularity on the Boston market today. Original bag lines of bulk fine territory wools were selling at prices ranging from 98 cents to $1.03, scoured combing, with tools of short French combing lengths showing the easing tendency.

Scattered sales on medium-grade territory wools were closed at 90 to 92 cents, scoured basis, for combing 1 1/2 blood, and at 85 to 87 cents, scoured basis, for combing 1 bloods. Combing brights, 1 blood fleeces were moving in moderate volume, at prices ranging from 45 to 47 cents, in the grease, but scattered sales of similar 1 1/2 blood fleeces were mostly at 45 to 46 cents, in the grease.
