SHRINKING IN THE RAIN

THAT cloudburst Monday afternoon brought terrific embarrassment to a friend of mine . . . She was caught in it four blocks from where her car was parked . . . And she was wearing a knit dress . . . The dress shrank and shrank . . . Finally, a block from the car, she could see above the tops of her stockings . . . By the time she reached her car and jumped in, she said, only her little behind was covered . . . And she was afraid some of that may have showed.

Beauty Shop

WITH school such a short time away, lots of thoughts are turning to permanents . . . Because what girl with straight hair doesn't want a wave? . . . So I questioned Ruby Engel at the Medical Dental Beauty shop when she was fixing my hair Tuesday and this is what I found:
She is offering that wonderful Creme Oil permanent for $5.00 . . . It's the regular $7.50 kind, but I know a gal who paid $10.00 for exactly the same one in Medford . . . This is the permanent wave treatment that reconditions your hair while waving it.
And then, on Mondays, the Medical Dental Beauty Shop has a $3.50 special on the Oil of Redwood permanent . . . It's $5.00 other days . . . And it's marvelous for the price . . . Most $3.50 waves, even on "special," can't come up to it.
You can phone 3448 for an appointment . . . The shop is in back of the barber shop in the Medical Dental building lobby.

Garcelon's

It does seem early to talk about Christmas shopping now, but the truth is that this year you may very easily wait too long and find you can't get what you want long before Christmas!
For instance . . . At Garcelon's this week I learned that the store has been informed there will be no more shipments this year after November 1 . . . After Christmas, maybe . . . And it is possible there will be another price raise on Fostoria this Fall.
Shortages are threatened also in all pottery, dinnerware, appliances and cooking ware.
So if you are wise . . . Which most of us are not . . . You'll select your Christmas gifts now . . . Garcelon's will lay them away for you, and will deliver your orders whenever they're wanted.

During the "big rain" last Monday, employes of a South Sixth street store worked frantically with brooms sweeping the water away from the front door . . . After half an hour of successful work they went back into the store and found two inches of water on the floor . . . It had come in the back door.

LEADERS AGAINST STUBBLE BURNING

CORVALLIS, Aug. 21 (AP)—Unusually heavy stands of stubble throughout the state this year, will increase growers' temptation to burn it off before plowing, crops leaders and AAA officials at Oregon State college believe.
Even though it involves extra expense, the practice of returning all such organic matter to the soil is essential in Oregon if the fertility and best physical condition are to be maintained, they said.

Indians Entertain Army With Dance

MADRAS, Ore., Aug. 21 (AP)—The time was when central Oregon Indians greeted paleface war parties with tomahawks and scalping bees.
Not Wednesday. They entertain them with renditions of old-time war dances, to tunes played by an all-Indian orchestra.
The Indians joined with white citizens of this town to entertain army troops encamped nearby while en route to Washington war maneuvers.
While the Indians staged their dances, the white folks sent caravans of trucks and cars to the army encampment at Culver to

Currin's

FOR two months now I've been waiting for the 20 per cent sale of Helena Rubinstein products held annually by Currin's For Drugs . . . Because that is the time I buy large sizes, where you get more for your money anyway, and then with the extra 20 per cent saving I feel justified in buying some of the luxury items.
Rubinstein's 20 per cent sale starts Friday of this week at Currin's . . . Every article in the Rubinstein line is 20 per cent less than during the rest of the year . . . Jars of stuff that usually cost $2.00 are only $1.60, things that are $5.00, ordinarily, can be had for only $4.00 . . . Et cetera.

I came across an article sent out by Helena Rubinstein the other day, in which beauty budgets were discussed, and I found that I have been spending too much money on lipsticks! So I'm going to follow her advice:
HERE'S HOW TO FIGURE IT
ONE fourth of your beauty budget should go for cleansing and massage creams and foundation cream like Town and Country Make-Up Film . . . These take care of you throughout the day.
One fourth more should be set aside for night cream (for special lubrication) and Skin Radiance Cream to "wake-up" your skin every morning . . . And for Beauty Grains or Beauty Grains or Beauty Grains Cream which clean out the pores in the periodic washings that every skin needs.
Just as your wardrobe includes hats, shoes, costume jewelry, etc., you need beauty accessories . . . Face powder, lipstick and eye make-up . . . And these should use up another one fourth of your budget.
Finally, allowance should be made for special occasions when you want to look your glamorous best . . . Just as you have a lovely evening dress for glamor occasions, so you should have on hand some kind of masque to give yourself a facial at home . . . Also a Medicated Cream to help correct blemishes that appear now and then, a Special

Eye Cream to lubricate the delicate tissues around the eyes, refreshing cologne and dusting powder, and a lovely perfume.
With the savings you can make by taking advantage of the 20 per cent sale, you'll have enough left over to get some of the luxury items . . . Like bath oil, Pasteurized Milk Bath, the new Apple Blossom Foam Bath, or "Body Smooth" (which is a lotion to use after bathing) . . . Or even one of those darling triple compacts with a lipstick forming the clasp.
Thelma Davis at Currin's will help you plan your beauty budget, if you wish . . . She's thoroughly trained, having attended two Rubinstein "schools," the advanced one just last year.
Remember . . . The 20 per cent Rubinstein sale at Currin's starts Friday . . . This week.

FIVE-HOUR FISHING PROVES LUCRATIVE

ASTORIA, Aug. 21 (AP)—California fishermen using live bait continued to land albacore tuna here Wednesday, while northern fishermen equipped with jigs on trolling lines had no luck.

Capt. Louis Zermatten, San Pedro, unloaded 17,668 pounds of albacore caught with live bait in five hours of fishing. The fish brought $2372-$307.50 per ton.
Fishermen not using live bait ranged far seaward in search of tuna although Capt. Zermatten said he made his catch close in.

PRINTERS RAP POSSIBLE CIO ORGANIZATION

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 21 (CP)—The International Typographical union should do "everything in its power to prevent the Congress for Industrial Organization from organizing within our jurisdiction," Vice-president Jack Gill of Indianapolis, Ind., told the 85th annual convention of the ITU here Wednesday.

He spoke as delegates considered and then passed a resolution advising the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union and the International Stereotypers and Electrotypers' union that if they do not respect the jurisdiction of the ITU, then the ITU will not interfere with any of its subordinate unions which may organize printing trades workers not within the jurisdiction of the ITU.

Woodruff Randolph, secretary-treasurer, Indianapolis, opposed the latter part of the motion on the ground it would open an avenue for a local union to "organize groups that are not eligible for membership in the ITU."

Another resolution approved by the gathering urged the union's executive to use "their best endeavors by way of mediation" in "the difficult situation created by the controversy between the lithographers, printing pressmen and photoengravers in many jurisdictions."

Reduction of the maximum working day from eight to six hours and the maximum week from 40 to 30 hours, sought by Chicago delegates, was opposed by the committee on laws. "We do not consider the time is opportunity to ask for any further reduction," a committee member said.

Key West, Fla., is more than 800 miles farther south than Los Angeles, Calif.

Body of Valley Youth Found in Rogue River

MEDFORD, Aug. 21 (AP)—The body of a young man found by a guide in lower Rogue river late yesterday, was identified by the state police and Coroner H. W. Conger Thursday as Nye Matthews, 32, a member of a pioneer Eagle Point family.

Coroner Conger reported Matthews had been missing since late last Sunday, when he fled from arrest by the state police following a domestic dispute on the Crater Lake highway. Matthews, according to the coroner, fled into the brush while the state trooper was trying to push the Matthews auto off the highway. That was the last seen of him until the finding of his body. An inquest will be held tonight.

NORTHWEST OIL RELIEF TALKED

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 21 (AP)—Approaching fall weather will relieve any shortage of gasoline supplies in the Pacific northwest, H. D. Collier, San Francisco, president of Standard Oil Company of California, said yesterday.
Commenting on Interior Secretary Ickes' statement at Spokane yesterday that the northwest, like the east, faced an oil shortage because tankers were being diverted, Collier said:
"Now, naturally, we haven't the number of ships to move oil and gasoline up to Oregon and Washington to carry on the volume of business necessary to supply all demands.
"But we are in hopes that by the utilization of barges, the railroads, and transportation trucks we can relieve the shortage in tankers to a degree that will supply the trade in the area without rationing."
