plained bitterly against British and United States aid to Chiang Kai-Shek. A Domei agency statement declared the message was prompted by "the very delicate relations existing between Japan and the United States following outbreak of the Russian-German war" and reaffirmed Japan's desire to establish a "co-prosperity sphere" in East Asia, then lasting peace.

Ichi Kishi says . . . Domei said Japan wanted "disposal of the China affair."

Ichi Kishi, a board of information official, said Japan was trying to create peace and security in East Asia through cooperation with the Nanking Wang Ching-Wei regime.

"In spite of this," he added, "these powers (Britain and the United States) are aiding Chungking with materials and munitions and thereby unnecessarily prolonging the unfortunate Chinese-Japanese hostilities."

The Domei comment was made after all members of the cabinet and some of the highest military officials of the nation had held an emergency meeting to discuss American-Japanese relations following delivery of the Kono message to Roosevelt in Washington yesterday.

Domei said:

"Well-informed circles are of the opinion that what Japan is aiming at under the prevailing complex international situation is disposal of the China affair and construction of the East Asia co-prosperity sphere with the ultimate object of ushering in an era of permanent peace in the Pacific, and in consideration of the very delicate relations existing between Japan and the United States following outbreak of the Russian-German war Prince Kono conveyed Japan's firm conviction on this broad viewpoint to President Roosevelt."

The important commercial newspaper Chugai indicated a belief the American-Japanese crisis could be settled amicably. "From time immemorial," said Chugai, "there has been no problem which could not be settled by mutual conversations between Japan and the United States."

Earlier a brief official announcement said that the Kono message outlined "the imperial government's attitude toward the Pacific situation."

At the same time, it was learned that French police had broadened their counter-drive against opposition elements to include the empire. A military tribunal at Meknes, French Morocco, sentenced two men to serve six years at hard labor for "an attack on the external security of the state."

Emotions were reported running high in Colette's home town, Caen, at the news of his arrest and one of the things which may have stirred the community was the report that he had appeared at hearings showing bloody evidence of a bad beating by volunteers in the anti-soviet legion.

southeast, they said, German troops took all designated objectives, captured 5000 Russian prisoners and seized or destroyed 23 tanks, 45 cannon and large quantities of machine-guns, grenade-throwers and other war material.

MOSCOW, Aug. 29 (AP)—The southwestern red army of Marshal Semeon Budenny, much of which apparently has been saved from German encirclement by a stubborn, fighting retreat, opened a new phase of the battle of the Ukraine today from strong defense lines on the east bank of the lower Dnieper river.

The Russians covered the retreat by ruthlessly blasting to rubble their great Dnieperstrov dam and power plant, the largest in Europe, and indicated they had exacted a heavy toll of the nazis before yielding the industrial city of Dnieperopetrovsk, 50 miles up the river from the dam.

Dnieperopetrovsk, with a population of more than 500,000 produced a large proportion of the soviet's cast iron and steel. The single important island of resistance to the Germans and their allies in the southwestern Ukraine west of the Dnieper was Odessa, Russia's largest port on the Black sea. There red sailors and soldiers, cut off from help by land, were prepared to defend the port of more than 600,000 persons to the very end.

Farther north, the red army battled to save Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, on the west bank of the Dnieper.

One Killed, Two Injured in Army Bomber Crash

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 (AP)—A B-25 type army bomber crashed on a test flight at the municipal airport today, killing one man and injuring two critically. The plane burst into flames and was destroyed. James Knight, radio man, was believed to have perished.

Extricated from the blazing wreckage were Test Pilot W. B. (Tex) Wild, and Co-Pilot Paul Penrose. They were burned seriously.

The plane was built by North American Aviation corporation for the army air corps. It was returning from a brief test flight when it wavered, as it approached the east end of the airport, and plunged to the ground. It caught fire at once.

at the fuhrer's headquarters between Aug. 25-29 in discussions which took place at the fuhrer's headquarters for the north and south fronts. There was thorough discussions of all military and political questions concerning the development and duration of the war.

"The questions were studied in a spirit of close companionship and unity of fate which characterize relations of the axis powers.

"The discussions were permeated with the unchangeable will of both peoples and their leaders to wage war to a victorious end."

"The new European order which will emanate from this victory shall remove as extensively as possible the causes which gave rise in the past to European wars.

"Destruction of the bolshevik danger and of plutocratic exploitation will create the possibility of peaceful, harmonious and profitable cooperation of all peoples of the European continent in the political as well as in the economic and cultural spheres."

Mussolini was accompanied by Dino Alfieri, Italian ambassador to Germany, General Ugo Cavallero, chief of the Italian general staff; and other high Italian military and civil officials.

Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, was not present because of illness. The German ambassador to Italy, Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen and the German military attache to the embassy went with Mussolini from Rome. German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel participated in both the political and military conferences.

remains as head of both agencies in a dual capacity.

2. Relieved John D. Biggers of his duties as OPM director of production, dispatching him to London to work with the rank of minister with the president's lend-lease expeditor there, W. Averill Harriman.

3. Bestows upon Hopkins a new title as the top ranking official under the president in lend-lease matters—"special assistant to the president supervising the lend-lease program."

4. Relieved Edward R. Stettinius Jr., of his duties as OPM priorities director. Stettinius becomes lend-lease administrator serving under Hopkins.

5. Named Donald Nelson as executive director of a new supply priorities and allocations board, relieving him of his duties as OPM purchasing director. Nelson's assistant, Douglas McKeachie, may take over the purchasing post.

In effect, the executive order makes Nelson the active and most powerful head of the priorities system.

Wallace will be chairman of the new board in title, but his multitudinous duties as president of the senate, chairman of the economic defense board and other functions are expected to force his absence. Accordingly, Nelson will handle the arduous and technical problems involved.

California State Fair Opens Today

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 29 (UP)—A corps of artisans last night put finishing touches on displays and exhibits which make the California state fair the largest exposition of its kind in the world in preparation for the formal opening Friday.

Gov. Culbert L. Olson issued a radio invitation tonight to everyone to attend the 87th annual exposition. Before the gates close Sept. 7, attendance is expected to reach 800,000.

2500 TOTAL FOR CIVIL RESERVES

Latest official count of registrants for civil defense in the county Friday showed a total of 2500 men and women, according to late reports from Klamath county chamber of commerce.

Men appeared to have a strong lead over women registrants with 924 women signing up for civil defense, as compared to 1576 men. Additional blanks were coming in gradually to the office, attendants stated, and it was expected the number would pass the 3000 figure. Many blanks were taken home by persons, it was reported, and these will probably be turned in during the weekend.

ARMY AIRMEN TO TOUR WAR FRONTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A group of army air force officers, headed by Major General George H. Brett, chief of the air corps, will tour the African, near east, Mediterranean and Atlantic war fronts to make a first-hand study of British needs for American aviation equipment.

In making this announcement today, the war department said the date of departure of the group would not be made public. It added that there was no fixed schedule as to the length and itinerary of the trip.

Brett will be accompanied by Colonel Ray A. Dunn of the air corps; Colonel James B. Newman of the army engineers; Lieut. Jack W. Perry of the air forces and Harry C. Short of the Middleton, Pa., air depot.

A similar tour will be made by Lieut. Col. E. M. Powers, Major James H. Doolittle and Lieut. K. G. Boyd, all of the air corps. They will meet Gen. Brett's party at certain points of the war fronts.

Old Rail Case Ended By Decree

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 29 (UP)—Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwelienbach last night signed a decree ordering the Northern Pacific Railway company to relinquish rights to a broad belt of land extending from Wisconsin to the Pacific coast.

The decree, described as a "settlement and a compromise," ended litigation in a case that had its origin in the days of Abraham Lincoln.

Under the decree, Northern Pacific was to give up claims to 2,900,000 acres of land, part of two land grants made to the railway in 1864 and 1870. The company also agreed to reconvey to the United States approximately 363,000 acres of land, valued at $1,200,000.

In addition, the railway was to pay to the government $300,000 in cash for 65,000 acres of land for which "Northern Pacific had erroneously received patents.

The agreement was by stipulation, signed by representatives of the government and the railroad and approved, attorneys said, by the public lands committees of the senate and the house.

The original grants affected lands extending from Ashland, Wis., to Tacoma, Wash., and to Portland, Ore. The railroad passed through the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Oregon and the territories of North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Washington.

Harriman to Lead Russ Aid Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he would appoint W. Averell Harriman, head of an American delegation which will go to Moscow to consider the problem of aid to Russia.

Harriman has been in London handling lease-lend operations, and Mr. Roosevelt said John Biggers, who has been in charge of production for the office of production management, would take over Harriman's duties in the British capital.

The delegation to Moscow, which will meet with corresponding British and Russian groups, may be appointed within a few days, the president told a press conference, and may have a half dozen members.
