

ENROLLMENT IN CITY SCHOOLS REVEALS GAIN

week's session for first year students showed an increase over last year but the exact figure could not be obtained.

Classes met Monday afternoon in the high school at promptly 1 o'clock. A 30-minute assembly was followed by dismissal to home rooms where schedules were worked over for some 40 minutes. The boys and girls were then directed to follow a six-period schedule of 15 minutes each. They became acquainted with their faculty of 45 teachers, an increase of one member over last year, Gralapp stated.

In both the city elementary schools and the high school classes were to be under way Tuesday morning and the school year begun.

Klamath county boys and girls had one more day's fling at freedom. Teachers met Monday morning at Altamont for a round-table discussion and instructions directed by Superintendent Fred Peterson and students were instructed to report at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning for regular classes. A decided increase in enrollment in the suburban area was anticipated by county school officials.

BERLIN, Sept. 8 (P)—Hundreds of Jews in Hannover received notices today to evacuate their homes within 24 hours.

They were permitted to take only "the most necessary objects and furniture" and advised that the remainder of their property would be sold, the proceeds to be turned over to them "at a given time."

One reason cited for the action was said to have been a book written by "the Jew Kaufmann in New York." The book, it was alleged, demands sterilization of all Germans and employment of German soldiers as coolies in foreign lands.

(This reference apparently is to a book entitled "Germany Must Perish" by Theodore N. Kaufman, published by the Argle Press of Newark, N. J.).

Our Home Town

For School Teachers

By EARL WHITLOCK
Probably there is no way in which you school teachers could be paid in mere money, for the work you do in influencing young America. I am not thinking of the mere teaching of certain prescribed lessons to young minds quite often and quite firmly determined not to learn, nor of the maintenance of a trying schedule of instruction. These are minor matters, though how you do your work and retain your sanity has often puzzled me.

The important thing you do is to influence the CHARACTER of your charges. And there is no rule in the book of pedagogy which can show how to accomplish this. The silent respect with which some eager-eyed boy listens to your ideas, the more demonstrative, arm-linking "crush" which a young girl may feel toward you—these are not things to smile at, unless it be with a smile of tender understanding. For they mean that Youth has found in you the personification of the fine and noble qualities of which it dreams.

It is a big responsibility, also a big chance to mould some youngster into finer manhood or womanhood. And something of your best will be reflected by these kids you teach, during all their after-lives; may, indeed, be passed on by them to their children and their grand-children. Which is not a bad sort of immortality for you, is it?

Next Monday Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on "The Rank and File."

ceptionally close. Her home has been his home all his life.

The matriarch of Hyde Park house was supposed to have been one individual who subdued the vociferous Huey Long, the late senator and "kingfish," from Louisiana, at a dinner party.

Other guests said he had monopolized the conversation, expounding his ideas of government and passing along advice to the president, until Mrs. Roosevelt turned to a neighbor and said in a stage whisper: "There was only one reason why I didn't want Franklin to go into politics. He has to deal with such peculiar people."

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 8 (P)—The rector of the church where President Roosevelt and his mother have worshipped for many years disclosed today that the president came to Hyde Park this weekend on a premonition that he must see his mother at once.

The Rev. Frank Wilson, of St. James Episcopal church said that shortly after the president's mother died yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt told him that he must have had a hunch, for it wasn't until the last moment that he suddenly changed his plans and decided to come home this weekend.

Accidents Sabotage Defense Program

Protect the dollars you are spending for defense! Enlist in the campaign against accidents! President Roosevelt has asked the National Safety council to conduct a campaign against accidents that are hampering defense. But the council needs your help.

The needless waste of manpower and efficiency as a result of accidents is a threat to your country and your pocketbook. Don't let accidents sabotage the defense program!

ANNIVERSARY OF NAZI AIR WAR MARKED

the attack "especially low-down and contemptible."

Visibility Good

The air ministry news service said the attackers found the lakes to the west of Berlin shining in bright moonlight.

"We could see the place like a map," said one flight sergeant. "Soon there were many fires, with one in particular blazing large and fierce in the heart of the city as a further guide to bombers."

Other Attacks

The Berlin attackers were but part of the hundreds of planes striking regularly at the continent.

Crews returning from the German capital said that many big fires burst around a main railway station and their glow could be seen long after the bombers set out for home.

The German defenses were strong, the attackers acknowledged. Anti-aircraft was virtually incessant and stopped only to allow the approach of German night fighters.

Besides the attack on Berlin—the fourth by either British or Russian planes in a little more than a week—the offensive was aimed at Bergso island off Norway, the German naval base at Kiel, the Rhineland industrial town of Huls and the French-occupied port of Boulogne.

BERLIN, Sept. 8 (P)—An early morning British air raid in which at least 27 inhabitants of Berlin were killed was played up under two-column headlines today and one newspaper, the Nachttausgabe, bitterly assailed the attack as "especially low-down and contemptible."

Ominous hints that the Luftwaffe soon would get around to reprisals appeared in the press. The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung declared, "This infamy will be atoned."

Obviously with the permission of authorities, the press went beyond the customary mere publication of the high command communiqué. At least a column was given to description of the attack (which the British said lasted from midnight almost to dawn and was the heaviest RAF blow on Berlin so far).

Emphasis, however, was on "the exemplary discipline of civilians" and the care given victims.

Besides 27 dead announced by informed sources, a number of others were injured and fear was expressed that the number of dead might increase.

Of 17 British planes downed during the night, these were said to have been bagged over Berlin. "Explosives and incendiaries were dropped by the British aviators on residential sections where, almost exclusively, workers' families live," said the Nachttausgabe.

"The dead and wounded among them, old people, women and children, are lamented victims of a species of warfare which shrinks back at no crime, no murder."

Colt Killed on Weed Highway

A colt was struck and killed on the Weed highway near the Klamath River bridge Sunday night, according to state police records.

Driver of the car was S. V. Brooks of Minnesota. He reported his car ran into a small herd of horses on the highway and struck the colt and a horse before it could be stopped. The car was damaged.

Fred C. McFetridge of Klamath Falls and John H. Gee of Medford were drivers of cars which sideswiped on the Greensprings highway four miles west of Keno Sunday night.

Camp Fire Guardians — The Camp Fire Guardians association will meet at the Camp Fire house on Conger avenue Tuesday at 8 p. m. All guardians and Bluebird leaders are urged to be present for important business.

SCALING METHODS TO BE SURVEYED

An agreement for a survey of log scale methods in Klamath area operations by representatives of the Klamath Timber company and employees was announced Monday as 36 firm fallers returned to work following a short-lived "strike."

According to a spokesman for the International Woodworkers of America (CIO), in whose hall the men met during last week's layoff, a check will be made by an agent of each party of other methods of scaling. It was reported that the operation, woods unit of the Kesterson Lumber company will alter their method if the men so desire following the check.

Company officials could not be reached Monday afternoon for verification.

NLRB HEARING AT WEED WEDNESDAY

Date for a National Labor Relations board representation of the Long-Bell Lumber company of Weed's employees has again been set at September 18, it was announced Monday.

The hearing was originally scheduled for the 10th, but later postponed until September 18. It will be held in the council chambers of the city hall.

Definite dates were also released Monday for representation elections at the Crater Lake Box company and the Klamath Timber company, with the former slated for September 24 and the latter for the following day.

Proceeding both, on September 23, a runoff election involving over 1100 employees of the Shelvin-Hixon Lumber company will be held in Bend. An earlier poll resulted in 474 votes for the CIO, 332 for the AFL and 189 for no-union, none of the parties receiving a majority.

NAZIS CLOSE RING ON EAST SIDE OF CITY

sections of the Russian navy, the Germans said.

MOSCOW, Sept. 8 (P)—Russian military reports indicated today that while the Germans were staging a major offensive at the western and southern approaches to Leningrad they had thus far failed to achieve a serious breakthrough.

The red forces there were said to be holding their lines stubbornly, delivering repeated counter-attacks.

The whole main front, from the Baltic to the Black sea, was reported active throughout the night, with fighting hampered around Leningrad by rain and mud.

Lashing back with fierce counter-attacks before that second largest city of Russia, the red army reported that its rough-riding cossacks had captured a staff headquarters far behind the German lines and listed a general among mounting casualties.

Dies Accuses Henderson of Red Leanings

mission held the employees to be unfit he would discharge them as soon as he could get to a telephone. He added, however, that "summary punitive action on the basis of one man's opinion is as unAmerican a procedure as anything to which Mr. Dies has yet given his attention."

To Dies contention that Henderson himself once had connections with communist "front organizations or transmission belts," the price administrator declared at a press conference yesterday that he was not now and never had been a member of any communist-controlled organization.

In the letter to the president, Dies declared that these employees of the office of price administration had at one time or another expressed communistic views.

Robert A. Brady (described by Dies as "head consultant" but said by Henderson to be an employee of the price administration and responsible to the head of that division.) His annual salary is $7,500.

His wife, Mildred Edie Brady, principal specialist in consumer education, $5600 a year.

Tom Tippet, assistant chief of the rent section, $5600.

Dewey H. Palmer, consultant at $20 a day.

Dies added that E. J. Lever, principal field representative of the price administration with a $5600 a year salary, also was "affiliated with outstanding communists."

Last month Henderson remarked at a house banking committee hearing that Dies was not a "responsible member of congress," adding that he would not "fire anyone because Martin Dies or anyone else highly or lowly placed cast reflections on him."

First Aid Class Starts Monday
