

F. R. REVIEWS WAR LESSONS AT MEMORIAL

president said, drawing on the words of Abraham Lincoln, to see to it "that these dead shall not have died in vain."

The chief executive recalled that Sergeant Alvin York, Tennessee's renowned hero of the World War, had said recently to "cynics and doubters."

"The thing they forget is that liberty and freedom and democracy are so very precious that you do not fight to win them once and stop. Liberty and freedom and democracy are prizes awarded only to those people who fight to win them and then keep fighting eternally to hold them."

The people of America, their president declared, agree with that.

The sergeant, Mr. Roosevelt said, also stood near the tomb of the unknown soldier recently and remarked that there are those who ask World War veterans "what did it get you?"

"Today we know the answer—all of us," Mr. Roosevelt remarked. "All who search their hearts in honesty and candor know it."

"We know that these men died to save their country from a terrible danger of that day. We know, because we face that danger once again on this day."

Not only do we know the answer to that question, the president said, but so also do the men of France, some of them hostages for the safety of their masters' lives, robbed of harvest, murdered in prisons. They are aware, he said, what "a former victory of freedom against tyranny was worth."

And the Czechs know the answer, and the Poles, Danes, Dutch, Serbs, Belgians, Norwegians and Greeks.

"We know it now," he said. Arrangements were made to transmit the chief executive's speech over major domestic networks and by short wave to the rest of the world.

Driver Leads City Police Cars on Wild Night Chase who was walking along his beat. Taking the Eleventh and Main corner on two wheels, and keeping the speedometer no lower than 60 at any time, the sedan tore down Main to Eighth and turned up to High street, the sirens "purring" and the tires screaming in pursuit.

At this point the city police officers said they "lost" the car, but were able to follow the trail of the pursued machine by the line of water from the broken radiator, probably the result of the impact with the marker at California and Upham. Somewhere in the vicinity of Fifth and High the sedan driver filled his water tank, took off, and went out Pine street and in back of the Baldwin hotel.

Officers are cooling their heels until Wednesday when a warrant will be issued against the owner of the car whose license they obtained early in the chase. Tuesday being a legal holiday, no warrants were issued.

The fact that the entire chase ended without mishap or serious accident to innocent motorists or pedestrians was considered more than remarkable, officers said.

SPRAGUE CARNIVAL PROVES SUCCESS

SPRAGUE RIVER—The largest crowd of the year attended the Sprague River school carnival held in the gymnasium Friday night, November 7. When final checkup is made, an estimated profit of over $100 is expected. This sum is to be used for playground equipment and classroom needs.

The gymnasium was divided into a number of booths selling popcorn, cider, doughnuts, ice cream, hot dogs, cake and coffee, and other foods. Among the games of chance were the dart game, shooting gallery, hit the kitty, spill the milk, ball in the bucket, nail drive and fish pond. A beauty parlor, bingo game and country store also drew large support. In the new high school building a comedy movie and boxing card were given as side show attractions.

At 8 o'clock a program was given consisting of a band concert by the Sprague River school band, and a number of interesting costume dance numbers. At 11 o'clock the floor was cleared and an hour of free dancing took place.

It was announced that a collection contest was won by the fifth and sixth grade room and the fourth grade room. Each room brought 108 different articles to be used for prizes in the country store and the various games. As an award Mr. Parks gave each room a large bag of chocolates. The rivalry grew so warm at one time that a boy had to be told to take home canned fruit, as it was apparent that he had raided the fruit house for the honor of the home room.

served the 23rd anniversary of the armistice in unobtrusive fashion Sunday.

"Dead March Day" The anonymous "Colonel Britton," leader of the British "V" campaign, broadcast from London last night, however, an appeal to the peoples of German-occupied countries to make the anniversary "Dead March day" and thus slow down Nazi war industries.

The Germans themselves, who regard November 11 as the "day of degradation," forbade under pain of punishment any demonstrations in areas under their control.

Memorial services for the dead of all wars were arranged in Vichy, seat of the government in unoccupied France.

Pierre Pucheu, French interior minister, said in a communique that "silence, meditation and dignity the French people must commemorate their war dead."

Italy celebrated on November 4 the anniversary of the end of fighting against Austria-Hungary in 1918. Today is the 23rd birthday anniversary of King Vittorio Emanuele, who remained quietly with his family at his country home on the Riviera.

On the occasion of the third war-time armistice day in London, U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant said in a message to British school children that "if peace could have been pursued as selflessly as men gave generously in war, permanent peace might have been a reality."

The ambassador told the students to "carry on."

Neither Russia nor Japan ever has celebrated Armistice day. Russia was out of the World War before the armistice and Japan always has ignored the date because she had little part in the war after the first few weeks.

Sprague Proclaims Thanksgiving Day On November 20

SALEM, Nov. 11 (P)—Governor Charles A. Sprague today proclaimed November 20 as Thanksgiving day, asking Oregon citizens to "use this occasion to light anew the candles of our faith in the fatherhood of God and the ultimate brotherhood of man."

The date, the third Wednesday in the month, is the same as proclaimed by President Roosevelt and by the governors of most other states. Next year, however, the date will be changed back to the traditional last Thursday of the month.

TOKYO CLAIMS BRITAIN BEING DUPED BY U. S.

Robert Leslie Craigie, called at the foreign office yesterday for the purpose, diplomatic sources said, of discussing the Churchill statement.

Sir Robert's call, evidently upon instruction from London, was made apparently as soon as possible after delivery of the Churchill warning, which came last night, Tokyo time.

Koh Ishii, the cabinet's official spokesman, discounted the Churchill declaration as an expected warning, but Domel, news agency with close official connections, said it was extremely significant.

Domel considered Churchill's timing important in view of the impending arrival of Saburo Kurosu, Japanese special envoy, in Washington to discuss the Pacific crisis, and in view of the extraordinary session of the Japanese parliament which opens Saturday.

Whitefish Get Break at Summit

CASCADE SUMMIT — The whitefish while spawning this year are getting a break inasmuch as the state game commission has declared the whitefish a game fish and subject to closed season the same as trout.

The fish have heretofore been dipped out by the thousands until they are now few in number. They must now be caught by hook and line.

Disappointed fishermen, coming to Cascade Summit to dip the whitefish, have returned home without a catch.

KARELIA PUSH STABS TOWARD ARCTIC PORTS

"If the course of the war should render such an action convenient and helpful."

In the Crimea, a bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters said German and Rumanian troops were continuing to advance against the great Black sea naval base of Sevastopol and the port of Kerch, gateway to the Caucasus.

Details of the new gains were not given. Previous reports had placed the Germans about 24 miles from Sevastopol and slightly farther away from Kerch with the Russians fiercely defending both points.

Beside the big German contingent reported trapped near Volokolamsk — victims of the same encirclement tactics exploited against red army troops — the Russians said a major Soviet counter-attack had been launched in the Serpukhov sector, 65 miles south of Moscow, against German panzer units attempting to break the central defense arc.

Reuters, the British news agency, declared German forces trying to cross the river Oka there had been annihilated.

Violent all-night fighting was also reported in the Tula sector, 100 miles south of the U. S. R. capital, with soviet troops holding their ground against repeated Nazi tank assaults in the southern suburbs of the town.
