

NAZIS STRIVE TO GIVE JAPS VICTORY SIGN

By DeWITT MacKENZIE (Special News Service)

The martial spirits of the old shoguns are stirring uneasily as Japan debates whether to accept Washington's sweeping terms or to pursue expansion at the risk of war, but the signs still read the same—that Nippon would like to avoid an armed clash with America and Britain if it could find some face-saving escape from its dilemma.

The Tokyo government appeared to be feeling its way cautiously through the crisis today, and Foreign Office spokesman Kishi discreetly avoided anything more than non-committal comment on the volcanic situation.

As this column has pointed out before, much depends on whether the Japanese believe the axis will win the war, and the position at the moment is such that a great axis victory or defeat might determine Japan's course. That's one reason why Hitler is straining every nerve to capture Moscow, to save himself from the allied offensive in Libya, and to force the French government at Vichy to become a partner against Britain.

Hitler's best prospect at this writing is against Moscow. Aged Marshal Petain, French chief of state, apparently is being stubborn about making all-out concessions to the fuhrer, and the allies still retain the initiative in the battle of the desert.

The Muscovites warn us once more today, as they have been doing persistently, that the peril to Moscow is increasing. The blood of a host of young Germans is staining the white Russian snows in this vast assault and the bolshevist losses must be heavy as well, but the nazis continue to extend the arms of the pincers they are trying to swing about the capital.

Things appear to be going better for the nazis in the far south on the Rostov front. This is more important from the strategic standpoint than is Moscow itself, for Rostov is the hinge on which the gate to the Caucasus swings. Here the Russians claim to have flung the invaders back, and this morning further heavy bolshevist counter-attacks are reported.

Intense fighting continues to mark the great battle of the Libyan sands. Both sides report successes, but both continue conservative in their claims for what is the biggest engagement of its kind ever fought.

The most constructive announcement comes from London where it is stated that the allied position in Libya continues to improve as a whole. Analysis of the various developments tends to support this. The allies appear to be getting ahead with the job.

The most significant report of the day came through the official British radio which stated that "not one ton of supplies has reached the hard-pressed German and Italian armies by sea" since the battle began. The British navy is said to have swept the waters of the Libyan coast clean.

That is immensely important. As remarked in this column before, the outcome of the desert campaign is likely to rest on supplies and reinforcements. If the axis can't get them, and the allies can, then the situation must become increasingly dark for the German-Italian brotherhood.

Designer Tells How to Set International Tasty Table

Born and bred in New York, Mollie Parnis, the noted American dress designer, takes delight in foreign dishes. She indulges in food "treasure hunts," lunching and dining in the different neighborhoods where New York's foreign-born re-create the delicious foods of their homelands. Among Miss Parnis' finds are stuffed Italian squash and Hungarian stuffed peppers.

Stuffed Italian Squash (Serves 8 to 10)

One Italian squash, 2 pounds ground beef, 2 cups ground American cheese, 2 cups cracker crumbs, 1 chopped clove garlic, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 No. 1 can tomato sauce.

If the squash is tender, scrape it; if it is hard, pare; then hollow out the center. Mix the remaining ingredients, except the tomato sauce, and stuff center. Place in greased baking dish; pour the tomato sauce over it; cover and bake until tender, about 1 1/2 hours.

Hungarian Stuffed Peppers (Serves 8)

Four cups tomatoes, 1 cup water, 1 medium onion minced, salt and pepper, 8 green peppers, 4 slices day-old bread, 1 1/2 pounds ground beef, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons rice, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons water.

Place the tomatoes, water and onion in a deep kettle. Season with salt and pepper and simmer slowly for 15 minutes. Wash the peppers, and remove the top and seeds. Soak bread in cold water, then squeeze dry; add to meat; season with salt and pepper. Add parsley and rice and mix well. Stuff the peppers with the mixture and place in kettle with tomato mixture; simmer slowly for 2 1/2 hours or until rice is done. Thicken tomato sauce with flour-and-water paste to serve over peppers.

Scotch Scones

Afternoon tea in New York with Scotch scones and jam is a common sight. Here's a simple scone recipe with a genuine Scotch burr.

Two cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup sour milk. Sift flour, salt and soda together. Add enough sour milk to make stiff dough. Shape dough into thin round cakes. Bake on griddle in moderately hot (375 deg.) oven. Serve with butter and gooseberry jam.

BREAKFAST—Orange and grapefruit juice, crisp bacon, Scotch scones, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON—Kidney beans, wholewheat bread, fruit cup, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER—Hungarian stuffed peppers, rye bread, cole slaw, prune pie, coffee, milk.

Company Protests Restrictions on Sale of Drugs

PORTLAND, Nov. 28 (AP)—Hudson-Duncan and company

filed suit in circuit court yesterday to enjoin the Oregon board of pharmacy from enforcing an order restricting sales of proprietary medicines and household remedies to drug stores.

The order, effective January 2, has no relation to the public health and affords the public no protection, the complaint says, asserting it would give druggists sole sale of tooth pastes, nose drops, headache cures, cough syrups, cleaning fluid, rubbing ointment, laxatives and mouth wash.

Baker Woman Cheers Up Boys in Army

BAKER, Ore., Nov. 28 (AP)—Baker men in the military service have no cause for homesickness any longer since Mrs. J. Roscoe Lee became a combination mother, sweetheart and newspaper.

Mrs. Lee corresponds with more than 50 young Baker men in the service at present and daily her mailing list is growing until it is threatening to become a real project instead of a hobby.

Mrs. Lee sends six full type-written pages crammed with all types of local news to the men each month. They in return write her and give her the latest information as to what they are doing or about what another Baker man has done. In this way she keeps in contact with all of her "sons" and they hear about all of their friends.

SALEM, Nov. 28 (AP)—Automobile dealers are not entitled to exemption from taxes on gasoline they use to "warm up" motors in their garages, the attorney general ruled yesterday.

The opinion held that if the dealers obtained such exemption, then every person in the state who warms up his car in his garage each morning would be entitled to exemption for the amount of gas used.
