Musical Notes

NEW YORK—Just off the press is the book "Favorite Recipes of Famous Musicians" (Prentice-Hall, Inc.) and your correspondent can testify that there are some wonderful recipes contained therein. Pre-publication information came from watching the book develop for its author is Charlotte Morris. Not only are there delicacies of the rarest sort described, but plenty of recipes are suggested for making everyday fare truly glamorous. Some 100 of the most outstanding musicians of today have contributed their favorite dishes. Lawrence Tibbett, Lily Pons, Eugene Ormandy, Albert Spalding, John Charles Thomas, Jose Iturbi and the others have all added comments to their recipes and these make the book interesting reading. There is a short biographical sketch for each artist and also a picture and signature so the book is a good reference volume for the music lover. A special chapter written by Moses Smith, director of the Masterworks Division of Columbia Recording corporation gives ideas for using recordings as a background for the meal and there are lists of recordings given for menus made up from the book. There is a chapter written by Marcia Davenport, giving a menu such as Lena Geyer would have enjoyed. The book ends with ideas for after-the-concert dining by Virginia French, whose husband heads Community Concert Service. The hostess who is a music lover will find "Favorite Recipes of Famous Musicians" a valuable source of supply for unusual entertaining.

Igor Gorin, well known baritone, likes to mix music with his food. In his contribution to "Favorite Recipes" he says, "Sometimes the music helps to make me forget the food, and sometimes the food helps to make me forget the music!" That is his philosophical attitude toward eating while on concert tours. But his pet dish is broiled chicken a la Ohio, a recipe from his mother-in-law's file.

Tenor James Melton likes southern specialties. "Shortenin' Bread" is usually called for at a Melton concert and he knows how it really should be sung, as well as cooked. The midnight supper prepared personally by "Jimmy" for his friends are justly famous, for he is one of America's foremost gourmets. Like a majority of those who take particular interest in the culinary art, Melton likes simple, well seasoned food.

"We like all Russian dishes" says the renowned pianist, Vronsky and Babin. But when Russian food is beyond our reach, we like the various foods of countries we are visiting, provided they represent the best type of local cooking." Their contribution to "Favorite Recipes" is the delicious "Beef a la Stroganoff" (beef with sour cream gravy). Here is a dish to sharpen the most jaded appetite.

Club Plans For Holidays

Musical Program Heard by Mothers On Thursday

An exceptionally fine attendance was noted at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Mother's club of Sacred Heart academy this week, when a delightful musical program was presented in the school auditorium.

A song, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert, and sung by the boys' and girls' glee clubs, closed the delightful program.

Plans were then discussed for the annual Christmas party and shower for the Sisters of the academy, to be held Thursday, December the eighteenth, at half past one o'clock in the school auditorium.

A social hour followed the business meeting and tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. A. Peterson, Mrs. Phil Brick, Mrs. J. A. Mahoney, Mrs. W. C. Canton, and Mrs. S. A. Pieser.

During the lighting a violin duet, "Romance," was played by Miss Betty Morris and Miss Ruth Phair of Eugene. A solo, "Because," was sung by Mrs. Ruth Chamberlain, and Miss Wallila Bushnell, also of Eugene, played, "I Love You Truly," on the vibraphone.

Both Lohengrin's processional and Mendelssohn's recessional were played at the piano by Mr. Everett Fulton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white satin gown embroidered at the neckline with seed pearls, the long sleeves ending in a point at the wrist, and a full train under the lace and net veil which was caught at the head by a coronet of pearls and rhinestones. The bride's only jewelry was a strand of small pearls. Her shower bouquet was of sweet heart rosebuds, gardenias and very small white chrysanthemums.

Miss Margaret Conant of Eugene was the bride's maid-of-honor. Her floor length frock of blue taffeta was of princess style and she carried a gardenia corsage.

All wore similar frocks made with full, floor length skirts and carried French bouquets. The Rev. Roy E. Southard, brother of the bride, was best man. He is formerly of Klamath Falls, now residing in Des Moines, Iowa.

Ushers were Mr. Herbert E. Southard of Eugene, brother of the bride, Mr. Stanley Redner and the Rev. Daniel B. Anderson of Klamath Falls, and Mr. Elmer Peterson of Lakeview.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for members of both families and the attendants. The bride cut her cake which centered a beautifully appointed table.

For her going away costume the bride wore a navy blue tulle with beige accessories, her flowers a corsage of gardenias and rosebuds. Following a honeymoon in California, the couple returned to Klamath Falls to reside.
