

CURRIN NAMED PRESIDENT OF JUNIOR GROUP

Dr. Hugh Currin was elected president of the Klamath county junior chamber of commerce for 1942 at a meeting of the local group Monday night. He succeeds Joe Bally on the first Monday in January.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: Howard H. Smith, vice president, Donald Sloan, secretary and Adolph Zamsky, treasurer. Along with the above, the following directors were also elected: Walter Bowne, Jack Campbell, Francis Connor, Hugh Gearin, John Harris, Joe Lemen, Oliver Moen and Art Rickbiel. President-elect Currin will appoint each director to a certain national project which they will carry through for their term.

After the election a general discussion of policies and future projects was taken up by all members and the new officers were given many helpful hints for their new term. Quite a controversy arose as to whether the junior chamber should continue their annual boat regatta and it was the opinion of the majority of the group that this project should by all means be continued as it was something that the people of the Klamath basin looked forward to each year.

The clean-up and paint-up campaign which has been an ideal civic project in past years and somewhat neglected during the last two years, was urged by the members to be revised and given full cooperation by the new officers and the whole group. This is a program that really requires a year around activity and should be stressed at all times, according to the Jaycees.

Leaves Hospital—E. R. Cardwell, well known Klamath county resident, was discharged from Klamath Valley hospital Monday afternoon after receiving treatment for injuries received in a fall. He lives in the Henley district.

POSTMASTER URGES EARLY GIFT MAIL

With less than two weeks left for mailing of packages going to distant parts of the United States, Postmaster Burt E. Hawkins urged postoffice patrons to start their mailing as early as possible in order to assure prompt delivery, and also to ease the burden on the shoulders of postal employees.

A slight increase in mailing activity has been noted at the postoffice, but in recent years the peak is noted around the 18th and 19th of the month. Many applications have been received for Christmas help by the postoffice department, however added employees will not be picked until some time next week, Hawkins stated. Between 26 and 27 extra men will be put to work for the holidays when the selections are made, it was learned.

Union Announces Grocery Clerks To Meet Again

Another meeting in a series of union-sponsored gatherings of Klamath Falls grocery clerks was scheduled for Tuesday night as the AFL Teamsters' union went forward with negotiations with several large local food concerns.

Earl Edsall, Teamsters' business agent, said the convulse was to be a routine organizational meeting. He revealed that approximately 100 of some 175 Klamath clerks have joined the union.

Edsall stated that parleys toward union clerk contracts are being held with Safeway Stores and Emil's Food Markets officials and others. He said he expected union-management agreement on some of the contracts early next week.

POLICE PLAN STRICT RULE ON SIGNALS

Strict enforcement of downtown traffic laws, particularly the parking time limits and double parking prohibitions, was promised by Police Chief Frank Hamm Tuesday in connection with the forthcoming operation of the traffic signal system.

Chief Hamm announced that the city council had authorized employment of three extra officers for an indefinite period while the public is becoming accustomed to the traffic signal system. He said that regular officers will be shifted from night to day to help on the traffic situation, and the new men will serve at night.

"It is important that motorists and pedestrians get started right with the signal system," said Chief Hamm. "We are going to enforce every rule to the letter. Double parking, in particular, will receive the attention of our men. There will be no compromise on this matter."

City Engineer Edwin A. Thomas said he hoped that the "walk and wait" glass for the pedestrian lights will arrive within a day or two so the signal system can be turned on. As soon as the final equipment is here, state traffic engineers will come to Klamath Falls and the signals will be put in operation.

MEN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Owen Foster, 19, is in Klamath Valley hospital suffering from a fractured collar bone and other injuries received in an automobile accident late Monday afternoon. Bill McPherson, 22, other occupant of the car, was treated for a fractured wrist and other hurts.

The two young men are employed on the Liskey brothers ranch in Poe valley.

Ten days with .01 inch or more of precipitation; clear, 12 days; partly cloudy, 9; cloudy, 9; fog, light on November 9; dense, November 10.

NOVEMBER BRINGS 11 FIRE ALARMS

Eleven alarms were received by the city fire department during the month of November, according to Fire Chief Keith K. Ambrose this week. None of these calls were false, Ambrose stated, but total fire loss was only $1426, of this amount $1326 covered by insurance. There were no injuries.

Fires were classified by occupancy as follows: public buildings, 1; dwellings, 7; hotels, 1; restaurants, 1; motor vehicles, 1.

Classified by cause: hot grease or oil, 1; careless smokers, 5; overheated flues, 5; total, 11.

Men's Store Remodeled

Remodeling work on Rudy's men's shop has finally been completed, according to Rudy Jacobs, owner. Display space inside the store has been considerably increased, by moving the office to the rear of the store. New type backless display windows have been installed, which makes for better light, and adds to the room on the interior. The work on remodeling and redecorating the outside of the building was completed some time ago.

Portland Slayer Sentenced to Die

PORTLAND, Dec. 2 (AP)—William H. Wallace, 54, convicted of the murder of Dan Finkell, 32, was sentenced to die in the Oregon penitentiary gas chamber February 27. The sentence, mandatory under the jury's verdict, was imposed by Circuit Judge Alfred P. Dobson. Witnesses testified that Wallace shot Finkell on a downtown Portland street August 8 after Finkell, accompanied by a woman, had asked Wallace to stop swearing.

CARD OF THANKS

To the many kind friends and neighbors of Klamath Falls, Poe Valley, and Bonanza who were so thoughtful and helpful to us during the sickness and at the time of death of our dear Mary Low, we desire in this way to express our heartfelt gratitude. NEW CHRYSLER AUTO SERVICE ORGANIZED

Organization of a new automobile business to handle the sales and service of Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles, was announced this week by Jack Keenan, head of the new firm.

The new Chrysler agency is known as Keenan Motors, Inc., and located at Second and Main streets. Keenan has been associated with the Turner Chevrolet company for the past two years, and has been in the automobile business for 26 years.

Earl Ware, for many years with the used car department of the Baisiger Motor company and more recently manager of the Commercial Finance company, is secretary-treasurer of Keenan Motors.

Ray Morris, who has been a salesman of Chrysler products in Klamath for many years, is salesmanager of the new concern.

Keenan announced that he had purchased interest of Leo's Service garage, which was opened recently by Leo Friend in the building which Keenan Motors now occupies, and that Friend will act as service manager. Friend held a similar position with the H. E. Hauger agency for 12 years.

New Chrysler and Plymouth cars are now on display, and a modern service department is completely manned and equipped, Keenan said.

PETITIONS DRAWN FOR POWER STUDY

Preliminary petitions asking the state hydroelectric commission to make a survey here have been placed in the hands of the printers by a committee of three appointed at Monday's meeting of representatives of various Klamath municipalities.

The committee is composed of A. M. Thomas, Harvey Martin and Percy Dixon.

The meeting was called at the invitation of the county Bonneville Power committee. Thomas, secretary of the county group, had previously pointed out that the city council of Klamath Falls has agreed to cooperate with the county committee in obtaining signatures on petitions to have the survey made. He stated that this commits the county no farther than that, and that councilmen can decide what they want to do when the survey is made.

The proposed power district would cover the territory now served in Klamath county by the California Oregon Power company.

Members may call any of these wives to find out what food to bring.

DANCE FORBIDDEN BY HEAD OFFICER

No dance was held for the visiting soldiers Monday night because their commanding officer forbade it, members of the Klamath soldier hospitality committee said Tuesday. They said there had been some public criticism of the failure to stage a dance and that the reason should be made clear.

The commanding officer, it was stated, at first decided the men would not be given town leave but later granted it.

The committeemen warmly praised citizens of the community for the transportation they gave the men back and forth from bivouac quarters at the fairgrounds.
