If Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Day of Seaside, parents of Oregon State's Joe Day, camp on the Rose Bowl turf from Christmas time on, don't think it unusual. The couple started for Eugene to see the Oregon-Oregon State game last Saturday and reached a point some 115 miles from the Duck city when their car broke down. Repairs had just been completed as the radio announced the kickoff.

Ma and Pa Day arrived just in time to see Joe's game clincher in the fourth quarter. Somebody asked Pa Day how he liked the game.

"Like it?" he shouted. "You're only a fan—I'm his father."

Two candidates for mythical coach-of-the-year laurels tangle Saturday in Tacoma when the Cougars face the Texas Aggies. They're Homer Norton, pilot of the Ags, and Babe Hollingbery, WSC mentor.

According to the AP, Norton lost nine of his 1940 machine yet won the 1941 Southwest conference championship. His one defeat was at the hands of mighty Texas. And it was only his second defeat in 30 games.

Hollingbery took "the remnant of what was a remnant to begin with," then lost more than 20 players—no kidding—during the 1941 season by way of injuries, withdrawals and conscription, and emerged as the coast's giant-killer.

SKI MONTAGE

The Toronto ski club, started in 1922 by a handful of enthusiasts, now numbers more than 5000 members. The club property is at Summit, 20 miles north of Toronto, and has night ski classes on flood-lighted hills.

Most famous of the skiers in the 15th Infantry is Private Walter Prager, ex-Dartmouth coach. A Swiss, he has won scores of championships throughout Europe. . . . Paul Lafferty, former coach of the University of Oregon ski team, is a captain in the regiment and one of the outfit's reigning big shots.

Another ski trooper is Peter Pringshelm, a Bavarian and ex-member of the German national ski team. Pringshelm spent six months as an instructor in the German army. . . . Still another is Wladyslaw Thomas Mietelski, 34-year-old Pole who was born in America but spent 10 years in the Polish army's ski troops.

Then there's Lieut. Johnny B. Woodward of Seattle who was an instructor of the ski patrol and last year took fourth place in the annual Silver Skis race on Mt. Rainier. . . . One who will probably soon be transferred into the ski troop is Private Arnold Fawcus, an Englishman who's skied in European competition and was assistant winter sports director at Yosemite National park.

Others are Sergeant Thomas Pearce who spent five years carrying mail and supplies on skis over a 12-mile California mountain route; Private Tony Knutson, once of Kristiansand, Norway, and combined langlauf-jumping champion of the north-west in 1938; and Private Tom Hill, former director of the ski school at Mt. Hood's Timberline lodge.

DARE

Dave Sanderson, the stocky Eugene Daily News sports editor who knows high jumping as well as he does a calendar, paid for our weekend in Eugene and on Mount Hood Saturday and Sunday—for which we are tremendously, and finally grateful.

But David is not finished. This week in his column he publicly has challenged us to a golf match on any course we name for any amount per hole.

Which is practically only a slight variation of the old army game. This correspondent's best score is a somewhat specious 91, compiled one day two years ago when we were playing alone. David is adroit enough to have entered the Oregon State Amateur last summer on the coast.

We will accept his dare, however—on these conditions: That the business be properly handicapped by neutral parties and that on the same day or the following he meets us in a downhill race from Crater rock to Timberline lodge on Mount Hood or on any comparable distance on any course he wishes.

Stakes will be double the amount won or lost on the golf match.

This correspondent was born in 1914, not yesterday.

Midwest, South Dominates United Press All-American

Frankowski Only Coast Player Named

1941 All-Star Features Mobile Line, Backs With Power, Passing

By JACK QUENTHER

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (UP)—A mobile line with the speed to belie its 202-pound average from end to end and a compact backfield which combines straight power with passing good enough to bewilder any type of defense—that's the United Press All-American football team for 1941.

It is a team chosen by sports editors and football writers who have seen every important player from one coast to the other and it is a team dominated by the midlands and on the south. Between them these two sections provided nine players to one for the east and one for the Pacific coast.

It is a team without a stand-out star. Bill Dudley, of Virginia, the nation's leading scorer, drew the greatest number of votes with 598, while Endicott Peabody, 2nd, of Harvard led the linemen with 540.

Minnesota, generally considered the mythical national champion, was the only squad to place two men on the first team. Here is the team by positions: End—Holt Rast of Alabama, a thoroughly rounded player who calls his team's signals and is rated by Frank Thomas as the "best end I ever have coached." He is comparatively light but he plays a slashing game on defense and ranks as one of the best blockers in the south.

Dove is Junior End—Bob Dove of Notre Dame, a willowy youth at his best when he is picking the passes of Angelo Bertelli out of the air and sprinting for great gains through the enemy secondary. He is a junior.

Tackle — Dick Wildung of Minnesota, another junior who has been a regular starter for two years despite Bernie Bierman's well known aversion to unseasoned men. An almost unanimous choice as the top lineman in the Big 10 and a boy whose mind is as alert as his legs.

Tackle — Ernie Blandin of Tulane, the biggest man on the squad and one who actually combines speed with his 251 pounds. He is equally good on both offense and defense.

Husky Named

Guard — Endicott Peabody of Harvard, the player Swede Larson said kept navy from scoring all by himself. He isn't very big, but he was rated as the best lineman on the field no matter who Harvard played.

Guard — Ray Frankowski of Washington, a low-slung bulldog who is the heavyweight wrestling champion in the Pacific coast conference. He is fast enough to guard against passes, recover fumbles and lead his mates down field under punts.

Center — Darold Jenkins of Missouri, a driving offensive center with a flair for downfield blocking which makes many of the Tigers' long runs possible. A superior student and inspirational leader.

Quarterback — Bill Dudley of Virginia, one of the great offensive backs to rise from a small college. He averaged six yards a play on rushing, eight and a half on passing and gained 2439 yards in nine games. Plunges, sprints, punts, place-kicks and plays safety on defense. The nation's high scorer with 134 points, threw 12 touchdowns

Shasta Takes Butte High Quint, 27-25

DORRIS — Last Friday the Butte Valley high school Bulldogs traveled to Mt. Shasta to play their first game of the season. The "B" team lost by a score of 34 to 13. In the "A" game, neither team was ahead more than four points and at the end of the game, the score was 21 to 21. In an overtime period Mt. Shasta won by a score of 27 to 25.

Saturday night McCloud played Butte Valley at Dorris and just barely nosed out the "B" team by a score of 18-20 and the "A's" lost to the strong McCloud "A" team by a score of 34 to 11.

Saturday, Dec. 6 the Bulldogs travel to Alturas for a pair of games. The boys are working hard and are hoping to break into the win column.

The annual student conference for all of the schools in this section will be held in Yreka, Saturday, Dec. 13. Ten students from Dorris and two advisers are planning to attend.

On Saturday, Dec. 6, Principal Paul Goodwin, Mr. Kleiber and Dollie Criss will attend the annual White and Gold conference at Weed high school. The theme and dedication of the of the 1942 year book will be decided and all other plans for the production of a successful book will be discussed.

When Stub Allison replaced Ingram, Price was again made assistant but retained the mentorship of the Bear cage team. He has handled both chores since.

Lions club officials have invited any interested persons to attend the Tuesday night banquet. Bill Constans of the Quarterback club has issued a special invitation to Quarterbackers.

It has been suggested that reservations be made in advance with the Willard hotel. The dinner is slated for 6:30.

Price Banquet Speaker

Cal Coach Signed for Lions' Award Dinner

C. M. "Nibs" Price, head basketball coach and assistant grid mentor at the University of California, will be the featured speaker next Tuesday night at the Lions' club annual award banquet for the Klamath high school football team.

The announcement was made Friday coincidental with disclosure that the annual dinner will be given Tuesday at the Willard.

The Pelicans will be presented with annual awards for outstanding play through the past season, a custom started several years ago by Lions in cooperation with other service organizations. Nature of this year's awards has been kept secret and will be revealed Tuesday night.

Coach Price is a veteran of big-time coaching. In charge of physical education at San Diego high school in the early twenties, he came to California as assistant to the late famed Andy Smith, bringing virtually the entire Cal "wonder" team of the late 1920's with him.

He continued under Smith until the latter's death and then took over head coaching duties until succeeded by "Navy Bill" Ingram. Price was then made chief basketball pilot.

When Stub Allison replaced Ingram, Price was again made assistant but retained the mentorship of the Bear cage team. He has handled both chores since.

DE GROOT ADDED TO STAFF ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 5 (UP)—Coach Dudley S. De Groot of Rochester university has been added to the coaching staff of the Eastern team for the annual East-West all-star Shrine benefit football game at San Francisco on Christmas day, it was announced Thursday.

De Groot will be line coach under Bernie Bierman and Andy Kerr.

Master Minds of O. S. C. Eleven

These men are the master minds of the Oregon State football team. They coached the Stagers to the championship of the Pacific Coast conference and their next job will be to show the team how to take Duke in the Rose bowl encounter New Year's day. Shown at Corvallis, Ore., they are (left-right) Head Coach Lon Stiner, Line Coach Jim Dixon, Backfield Coach Hal Moo and End Coach Bill McKalip.

Cougars Wind Up 1941 With AG Tilt

"Uncrowned Kings" Clash With Southwest Champions at Tacoma

By JIM SULLIVAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5 (UP)—Washington State, whom some consider the uncrowned king of far western football, can do a lot toward justifying its claims Saturday when it meets the famed Texas Aggies in Tacoma in one of three inter-sectional games winding up the 1941 regular season.

From this vantage point the Cougars of Pullman appear to have the best chance of any coast team in the weekend inter-sectional and happily it's the one place where a win for the west would be the biggest help toward balancing the 1941 record of east versus west combat.

The Aggies come out of Tacoma as the champions of the southwestern conference, one of football's tough leagues. They have lost only one game.

The Cougars move down from Pullman as one of four teams tied for second place in the Pacific coast conference scramble. But they bring into the game a record of five straight wins and realization that if it hadn't been for a pair of one-point defeats earlier in the year they would be heading for Pasadena around Christmas time for the Rose Bowl. They hold a victory over Oregon State, the western Rose Bowl choice.

University of San Francisco meets Mississippi State in San Francisco and Oregon plays Texas University in Austin in the other inter-sectionals Saturday.

USF, which has a record of five straight and which has scored at least three touchdowns in each of its last six games, might upset the Mississippi visit-

Lon Gets Gander at Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 5 (UP) Head Coach Lon Stiner of Oregon State flies here today to take his first official peep at the Rose bowl, goal of most every major college pilot in the land.

Stiner, of course, has been in the big bowl many times, and probably has seen a number of Rose bowl games, but this will be the first time he's looked it over as the coach of a big bowl team.

Tonight, oddly enough, the affable Beaver mentor will be an honor guest at the football banquet of a university which temporarily detoured the Oregon State parade to the Rose bowl.
