STOCK MARKET SEES RISE IN SOME STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP) — Assorted stocks took brisk bites at recovery in today's market but many leaders displayed a distinct lack of come-back appetite.

Fractional price variations left trends in doubt at a lively opening. Closing advances and declines generally were small with the former moderately in the majority.

Large-scale tax selling again accounted for most of the two-hour volume of around 450,000 shares.

Farm implements revived as bright estimates of next year's agricultural income were studied. Rails never got anywhere in particular but oils and motors steadied.

Among the few stocks getting into new high ground for the year were Willis-Overland preferred. Better performers were U. S. Steel, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, Chrysler and U. S. Rubber.

In arrears at times were Bethlehem Steel, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Anaconda and Goodrich.

Bonds followed an uneven route and commodities were irregularly lower.

BREAK IN SOYBEANS CUTS WHEAT PRICE

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (AP) — A four cent break in soybean prices today stimulated enough selling to lower grain futures quotations despite recent good demand for actual cereals at virtually the highest quotations in four years in the case of wheat and oats.

Wheat closed 1-1 cent lower than yesterday, December $1.17 1/2, May $1.21 1/2-1.22; corn 1-1/2c lower, December 74 1/2c, May 80 1/2-1c; oats 1-1/2c down; rye 1-1/2c off and soybeans 2 1/2-3c lower, December $1.65.

Short covering rallied December soybeans after the price had fallen to $1.64 1/2, off 44 cents from yesterday's close.

No. 2 mixed wheat sold at $1.19 a bushel in the spot market while No. 2 white oats was priced up to 53c.

Farmers Warned Slump Expected After Emergency

HEPPNER, Ore., Dec. 6 (AP) — Agricultural Oregon can expect a slump at the end of the war, Eastern Oregon Wheat League members were told yesterday.

The state's cash income will reach $140,000,000 this year, more than twice that of depression years, and there is bound to be a post-war market let-down, R. E. Brown, general agent of the farm credit administration, said.

He urged farmers to retain normal land values, retire debts, build financial reserves, store up reserves of soil fertility, avoid speculative increases in production and increase the efficiency of family-sized farms and homes.

E. B. MacNaughton, president of the First National bank of Portland, said that the trend toward centralization of power and socialization of the nation could be developed for good or evil.

He predicted that leasehold materials, if repaid at all, would come back in goods and services, making the government the world's greatest wholesaler.

He said the principle of trusteeship was coming in agriculture and other natural resources.

Crop Office Opens At Tulelake

TULELAKE — With the opening of the new Tulelake branch office of the department of agriculture, farmers of the Tulelake district may confer with W. H. Anderson, Siskiyou county agricultural commissioner, on problems pertaining to agriculture, statistics on crops will be available and the office will be open for meetings unless the anticipated attendance is too large to be accommodated. The office was opened this week in the Rudy Kezek block.

A desk in the same office will be maintained by Mr. Van Zant, standardization official for this area.

WESTPORT, Dec. 6 (AP) — The Westport Lumber company has reduced operations from eight to six shifts a week, blaming a drop in orders.

GALLA-RINI, FAMOUS MUSICIAN TO PLAY

Galla-Rini, regarded as the world's foremost exponent of piano-accordion, will appear in Klamath Falls at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, December 16, at the Willard hotel.

From coast to coast Galla-Rini has received the tributes of the press, and the acclaim of the most callous critics, for his unusual presentation of the accordion as a concert instrument, his sponsors state.

He has played in 48 states, as well as Canada and Mexico, to audiences up to 20,000 people. Galla-Rini is one of the few accordion artists who has appeared as soloist with many of our leading symphony orchestras. Because of his virtuosity he has been retained by the Victor company to record many of the outstanding classics, including the works of Bach.

Not satisfied with the reception the accordion received generally, he began the development of more extensive literature available. He is not one to play merely light compositions which show the brilliance of the instrument, but his repertoire includes the works of Bach, Chopin, Wagner and Rimsky-Korsakoff, as well as his own compositions.

Of Italian extraction, Galla-Rini's early education in music was at the hands of his father, a professional musician. Not only was he an accomplished performer at 14, but was already considered a master of counterpoint, theory and musical form.

Youngster Tries Hand at Writing Items for News

Ruth King, News and Herald correspondent for Malin, Merrill and Tulelake, has a very up-and-coming little reporter to follow in her footsteps. This little lady will probably be a great newspaper woman when she grows up. . . if she improves just a "little" bit. The young lady is nine years old and her name is Marjorie King. The following bit of news was written by her for the Klamath News and Herald:

The Klamath News MERRILL — 14 German Battle Ships Sunk 2 o'clock Thursday night 14 battle ships sunk in ocean. All 14 were sunk.

Copco, SP Teams Stage Ticket Race For Elks Dance

The battle of the California Oregon Power company versus the Southern Pacific railroad to determine which organization can sell more tickets to the Elks club New Year's eve ball will start Monday when tickets go on sale.

The winner will be lavishly entertained by the losing team. George Clark, chairman of the Copco Elks team, and Herman Foster, director of the SP Elks, both point to the program of the New Year's eve dance as an incentive for prospective ticket purchasers. Besides a breakfast, the committee has arranged for an elaborate 45-minute floor show that will be imported especially for the occasion.

Members of the Copco team under Clark are Carroll Colvin, Elmer Longmire, C. V. Cook, Hollis Jobe, Phillip Quisenberry, Charles Oilmann, R. T. Warren, O. H. Kanast, Lester Finley and Clifford Smith.

SP Elks who are working under Foster are Ray Ruger, Frank Freyton, Harold Brandenberg, Harvey Teal, Al Stroud, Lynn Skillington, John Ruger, Floyd Wilkes, James Foster, James Ferguson, Paul Jones and Edward Boyd.

Oregon Wheat Men Willing to Ship Grain to Russia

HEPPNER, Ore., Dec. 6 (UP) — Willingness of Oregon wheat growers to sell their grain to the government for delivery to Russia under the lend-lease act was expressed today. Delegates to the Eastern Oregon Wheat League approved a suggestion by N. E. Dodd, western regional director of the AAA.

The farmers indicated willingness to sell their grain to the commodity credit corporation for loan values, plus charges.

Dodd said that most of the northwest supply might be shipped to Russia. If this is done, he said, the government would probably acquire the wheat by calling in loans.

Dodd said the main problem would be the supplying of ships. He said Russia might be able to supply part of them. Delegates said that such sales would relieve the storage problem—made more acute by lack of building materials—and possibly clean up the 1941 crop before the 1942 harvest.

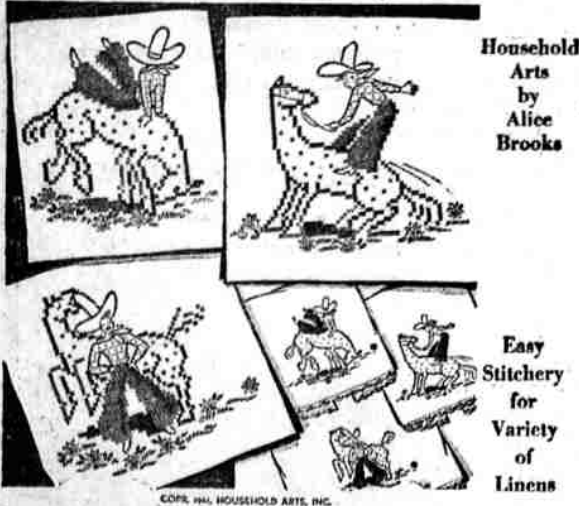

BEND, Dec. 6 (AP) — CIO lumberworkers' locals considered employers' proposals today to end a week-long strike here. Nearly 1000 men are affected at the Brooks-Scanlon mill and several operations of the Shevlin-Hixon company are threatened.
