

Marion Stanley Is Lovely Fall Bride

Vows Exchanged Before Altar Banked With Late Autumn Flowers in Congregational Church

Late autumn flowers decorated the Community Congregational church on the evening of November twenty-eighth, when Miss Marion Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stanley, and Mr. George Allensworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Schroeder, exchanged vows at a beautiful candlelight ceremony. Reverend Eugene V. Haynes performed the ceremony.

Proceeding the ceremony, Mrs. R. E. Thompson sang "Because," accompanied by Mrs. E. V. Haynes.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with a trail of an embroidered Juliet cap held her fingertip veil in place. She carried a white prayer book with white and silver streamers falling from a single orchid.

Miss Betty McNeerney was the bride's maid-of-honor. The other attendants were Mrs. James Crapo, sister of the bride, and Mrs. E. A. Bedal, sister of the groom. They all wore frocks of taffeta in pastel shades with flower head bands to match and carried old-fashioned colonial bouquets.

The ring bearer was three-year-old Bobby Bedal, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bedal.

Mr. Luse Warren was best man and Mr. Lee Ruttenutter and Mr. E. A. Bedal were ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Stanley home. Those assisting were Mrs. W. A. Bishop, Mrs. Frank Hamm, Mrs. T. J. Webb and Mrs. G. E. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Sealworth will be at home in Seattle after December the first.

HENLEY MAID BECOMES BRIDE IN NEVADA

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Dehlinger of Klamath Falls announce the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, to Mr. Vern Hickman Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Berry of Henley.

The ceremony took place Thursday, December the fourth, in Reno, Nevada. Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dehlinger, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. A honeymoon of several days will be spent in San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Berry will return here to make their home in the Henley district. The bride is a former Henley high school student.

Christmas Program Scheduled Monday

Woman's Library Club Anticipates Hearing Professor Anthony F. Blanks of University

First of the holiday programs will be presented this coming Monday afternoon at two o'clock when the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club members hear Professor Anthony F. Blanks of the University of California in his program, "Christmas on the Old Plantation."

Those who have heard Professor Blanks will not wish to miss this program which, he declares, is "another old-fashioned Christmas lecture."

In keeping with the holiday theme Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt, music chairman, has announced Charles Stanfield, director of music at Klamath Union high school, will present his a cappella choir of boys and girls in a program of Christmas numbers. This, in itself, will be a delightful treat.

Hospitality committee members for the day will be Mrs. Helen Melias and Mrs. Fred Fletcher, with Mrs. A. G. Proctor in charge of flowers.

The meeting is called for two o'clock sharp by Mrs. R. R. Proebstel, president, and there will be a report on the ballots presented last meeting at which time members voted whether or not to purchase a defense savings bond from Library club funds, and whether or not to continue the contributions sent annually to Deernbecher hospital for crippled children.

SPEAKER

Professor Anthony F. Blanks of the University of California will be the guest speaker Monday before the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club, the topic being "Christmas on the Old Plantation."
