Maxine Hartlerode to Become Bride of Henry Thomas Cole in Philadelphia This Week

MERRILL—Miss Maxine Alta Hartlerode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hartlerode, whose marriage to Mr. Henry Thomas Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Harris, Merrill, will be an event of this week in Philadelphia, was showered delightfully with a host of miscellaneous gifts at the home of Mrs. Jerry Ferrer Thursday evening. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Vera McDonald, Mrs. William Wahlert, Mrs. Hope Hodges and Miss Louise Bowman.

Streamers in blue and white cascaded in a canopy above the table laid with a white lace cloth. Deep red roses flanked by tall white tapers formed an attractive central note on the table from which the gifts were opened. Among the gifts were several pieces of matching luggage.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Merrill high school and recently has been employed at Castleman's pharmacy. Mr. Harris, who has attended a submarine school in Philadelphia for several months will be stationed on the Atlantic coast in the patrol service.

The bride plans as her wedding dress a moss green frock, with gold trim, to be worn with dark accessories. She is the twin sister of Marjorie Hartlerode Hodges.

Invited for the evening were Mrs. Lon Storey, Mrs. Edna Kleppen, Mrs. Paul Lewis, Mrs. Hugh Falvey, Mrs. Pierce Hodges, Mrs. Pete McNeil, Mrs. Thomas A. Blake, Mrs. A. M. Blake, Mrs. Max Hartlerode, Mrs. John Liskey, Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Mrs. Dale Moore, Mrs. Francis Guilmon, Mrs. Mary Lacey Fox, Mrs. William Wahlert, Mrs. Leonard Bowman, Mrs. W. J. Grove, Mrs. Frank E. Trotman, Mrs. Clifford Shuck, Mrs. T. W. Chaburn Sr., Mrs. J. R. Steele, Mrs. B. W. Steele, Mrs. William Hodges, Mrs. William Walker, Mrs. V. J. Barron, Mrs. Lloyd Scott, Mrs. William Jinnette, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. J. S. Wilson, Mrs. E. M. Hammond, Mrs. Steve Kandra, Mrs. W. C. Bailey, Mrs. Charles Hodges, Mrs. Van Meyers, Mrs. O. J. Harris, Mrs. J. L. Haskins, Mrs. P. L. Hodges, Mrs. Clemens, Mrs. Jerry Ferrer, Mrs. P. M. Castleman, Mrs. Walter Robinson, Miss Vivian Hartlerode, Miss Maxine Hartlerode, guest of honor, Miss Louise Bowman, Miss Barbara Castleman of Hollywood, Miss Vera McDonald and Miss Lorraine Sanderbrink.

BETROTHAL OF COUPLE IS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Neils Nicholson announced the betrothal of their daughter Eileen to Mr. Richard E. Botens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Botens, at a party which took place Friday evening, November the twenty-eighth, at their home on Bisbee street.

Those receiving the news were Mrs. Louis Botens, Marjorie Botens, Effie Botens, Mrs. Mildred Botens, Mrs. Jean Botens, Mrs. Marie Carlson, Mrs. Ann Soli, Mrs. Jo Landers, Miss Alice Landers, Mrs. Agnes Solberg, Mrs. Mary Gunderson, Miss Helen Hriciszec, Ruth Phillips and Jane Nicholson.

The wedding will be solemnized at the Klamath Lutheran church, December the twentieth, with the Reverend L. K. Johnson officiating. Only members of the immediate family and relatives will be in attendance.

DISTRICT MEET OF AUXILIARY IS HELD HERE

The district meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary was held last Thursday, November the twenty-seventh, in the library club rooms when Mrs. Ann Woodworth opened the meeting and introduced the department president, Ethel Keck, of Seaside, Ida Crandall, president of district eight, and Mrs. Blackwell of Ashland.

Mrs. Keck expressed deep appreciation of the work of the Klamath auxiliary for the Veterans' hospitals at Roseburg and Portland, and also for its anxious cooperation in this present emergency. Auxiliary 1383 has pledged to furnish cookies for the Service Men's club in Portland, recently organized with Captain Fred Roberts as head of management. The auxiliary also sponsors a Girl Scout troop in Klamath Falls.

After the meeting a quaint Dutch wooden shoe dance was given by Mrs. Anna Dunn and her friend, and refreshments were served to thirty-five. A miniature cantonment, loaned by a Mills school student, evergreens and candles in holiday colors were used as decorations for the occasion.

Couple Wed On Saturday

Raymond - Quinn Nuptials Solemnized at Hundley Home

A quiet wedding was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hundley at Hager on the Merrill road Saturday evening, November the twenty-ninth, at half past seven o'clock when Miss Inez Lillian Raymond, daughter of Mr. Gordon E. Raymond of Klamath Falls became the bride of Mr. George Wayne Quinn, son of Mrs. Jessie Quinn of Creston, Iowa. The Reverend Victor Phillips of the First Methodist church read the single ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of olive green with a corsage of Taisman rosebuds. Her only attendant was Mrs. Reynolds Morgan who was dressed in a frock of light blue.

Mr. Reynolds Morgan acted as best man for the bridegroom.

The wedding was solemnized in the presence of a few close friends and relatives, including Mr. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams, Miss Louise Williams, Arthur and Frank Williams and Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hundley.

Mrs. Quinn is a graduate of Klamath Union high school with the class of 1941, and is now attending business college in Klamath Falls. Mr. Quinn is a graduate of the state university of Creston, Iowa, and is affiliated with the Keenan Plumbing company.

Mr. and Mrs. Quinn will be at home at 127 Mortimer street.

Musical Notes

The Metropolitan Music Bureau, which has presented to the concert public of the United States and Canada such important dance attractions in the past as the late La Argentina, the Ballet Jooss, Devi Dia and her Bali dancers, and others, takes pleasure in presenting this season a type of entertainment new to the concert stage, in the combination of Paul Draper, foremost of tap dancers, and Larry Adler, who has lifted the harmonica to the rank of concert instrument.

Incredible as it may seem, these remarkable artists have astonished critics with their accomplishment in the field of the classics—the music of Bach, Mozart, Handel, Beethoven, Brahms and Debussy. At the same time, they have at their command an enormous repertoire in the field of modern popular music.

Paul Draper is more than a tap-dancer as he has been thoroughly schooled in the traditional ballet. As an artist using the dance for expression, he utilizes both the ballet technique and tap-dancing in a unique blend of the two. His work is widely known in this country, Europe and South America, and he comes from a distinguished family—his grandfather was Charles A. Dana, publisher of the New York Sun, and Ruth Draper, that inimitable monologist is his aunt. His mother, Muriel Draper, was the author of that fascinating book, "Music at Midnight," in which she describes the famous evenings at her home in London, where the great personalities of the day were wont to congregate—Eleanor Duse, Henry James, the painter John Sargent, and musicians of note.

Larry Adler is a typical American, born in Baltimore. As a boy of fourteen, he won an amateur harmonica contest, playing Beethoven's Minuet. With this new-found fame, he began tramping around the country. The well-known impresario C. C. Cochran heard him and engaged him for a London review, where he became an over-night success. He was engaged as soloist with the London Philharmonic Orchestra—played command performances for the royal family—the composers Cyril Scott and Jacques Berger composed new works for him. One can, therefore, easily understand why Fritz Kreisler has given Adler permission to play his famed "Caprice Viennois" and that that composer Ravel marveled at his rendering of the "Bolero."

Helen Traubel, Wagnerian soprano whose achievements have probably received more newspaper space in the last six months than any other member of the Metropolitan Opera staff, opened the East Church Artist course Saturday evening with a concert in the civic auditorium so satisfying and delightful that it made the extravagant praise which has been lavished on the American prima donna quite understandable. Miss Traubel's recent fame has been based primarily on her work-in Wagnerian roles and she gave two impressive arias from this composer—"Elsa's Traum" from "Lohengrin" and Sieglinde's "Thou Art the Spring" from "Die Walkure." Proof of Miss Traubel's versatility came in her delightful singing of Schubert songs and numbers by Richard Strauss, her Negro spirituals, and her sympathetic singing of several modern numbers.—Herald.

"Like the flash of her Brazilian compatriot, Carmen Miranda to Hollywood has been the meteoric flash of Bidu Sayao to the opera realm. And, while Miss Sayao has visited Seattle before, it is safe to say that she will never forget the ovation she received for her singing of Gilda, daughter of Rigoletto."

Mrs. Bowman Elected

Merrill Library Club Enjoys Christmas Party

MERRILL—Members of the Merrill Library club gathered Thursday for the annual pot luck luncheon and Christmas gift exchange and interspersed business with pleasure to elect Mrs. Melvin Bowman, president for the ensuing year. Mrs. Bowman succeeds Mrs. E. E. Kilpatrick. Elected also were Mrs. Hazel Lilly, first vice president; Mrs. C. S. Moreland, second vice president; Mrs. Alton Hodges, secretary; Mrs. O. V. Reeves, treasurer; and Mrs. A. J. King who begins her second year as parliamentary. Mrs. Millie Stukel was re-elected librarian.

The election and business meeting followed the luncheon with guests seated at an L shaped table in the dining room of the club house. Gay Christmas motifs lent a holiday spirit to the day with swags, wreaths and table motifs loaned by Mrs. Scott McKendree. A gaily decorated tree graced one corner of the hall, a pile of packages for the "Christmas grab" piled beneath.

The program opened with "America" by the members followed by the club prayer read by Mrs. Frank E. Trotman.

Mrs. C. A. Taylor read the Bible story of the Birth of Christ and the good old Christmas carols were sung. In two clever contests a musical try-out and a word test honors went to Mrs. Warren Fruits and to Mrs. Dan Barry.

Mrs. D. W. Ferguson and Mrs. Uel Dillard were re-elected.

Mrs. A. J. King read the revised club by-laws and a special meeting is called for next Thursday, December the eleventh when they will be adopted providing a quorum is present. Mrs. E. E. Kilpatrick, retiring president, asks that all members take note that the old business of the year may be completed in regard to affiliating with the county library as a branch. The new by-laws must be adopted before the change becomes effective.

Mrs. C. A. Taylor, chairman of the semi-formal invitational dance to be given soon after the first of the year will be assisted by the membership. Mrs. Scott McKendree announced that a display of Christmas decorations will be sponsored by the Lost River Garden club in the high school on December thirteenth.

Mrs. Kilpatrick welcomed the newly elected officers and presented members of the retiring executive committee with remembrances. In turn Mrs. Kilpatrick was presented with a gift of copper from the club in appreciation of her work the past year. The new officers will take chairs in January.

LEE CAMPBELL YOUNG HOST ON FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Irwin Campbell was hostess to a group of young friends at her home on the Lakeview highway on Wednesday, November the twenty-sixth, in honor of her son, Lee's fourth birthday. Yellow rosebuds and chrysanthemums were arranged about the rooms.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served to Sandra Linville, Arden Bowne, Joe Riker Jr., Gary Cunningham, Peter and Carol Rieling, Kathleen and Janice Marshall, Gary Grimes, Barton Brown and the young host, Lee Campbell. Youngsters unable to attend were Robert and Jeannie Hill and Warren Alaway of Tulelake.

St. Augustine Has Christmas Bazaar

All-Day Affair Is Sponsored by Merrill Church Organization With Holiday Spirit Prevailing

MERRILL — An atmosphere of Christmas spirit was the background for the annual bazaar, dinner and card party of St. Augustine's church, held Wednesday afternoon and evening. Guests from Merrill, Tulelake, Malin, Klamath Falls and other valley points gathered for the delightful affair, heralded each year as the most outstanding of pre-holiday parties. Grouped about the large upstairs room were booths dispensing hand work, aprons, food and other Christmas ideas offered to the guests.

The lovely lace covered refreshment table presided over by Mrs. E. M. Hammond, Mrs. Dan Colwell and Mrs. R. W. Steele was centered with an arrangement of white tapers, laurel leaves and bayberries in a block glass setting.

Eighteen tables of bridge and pinochle were in play with prizes given at each table for high score in addition to prizes for high and second high for the entire group. A guest prize was also presented.

During the afternoon, Mrs. J. S. Wilson, Merrill, and Mrs. Frances Urbach, Tulelake, sang "You Are My Poem of Love," Fidich, and "For All Eternity," Mascheroni. Mrs. Wilson played the accompaniment.

Places were marked for one hundred seventy-five guests at the banquet when chicken was the main course. Here, too, the holiday theme held sway in table appointments and later the floor was cleared for the evening's entertainment. Camp Fire girls of Merrill assisted with the serving.

On the numerous committees as chairmen were Mrs. W. C. Dalton, Malin, assisted by

Officers Are Elected

Prosperity Rebekahs To Take Chairs in January

Initiation of two new members and election of new officers for the coming term took place at the Thursday evening meeting of Prosperity Rebekah lodge at the IOOF hall, with Mrs. Herbert Munsell presiding as noble grand.

The new officers who will be inducted into their chairs the latter part of January include Mrs. Stella Dryden, noble grand; Mrs. Vera Clemens, vice grand; Mrs. Alice Goeller, recording secretary; Mrs. Nellie Wattenburg, financial secretary; Mrs. Saldie May Rand, treasurer.

The lodge voted to send a Christmas box of canned food to the IOOF home in Portland, and each member is requested to bring a jar of canned food to the next meeting.

It was announced that the annual Rebekah-IOOF Christmas party will be held at the hall on the evening of December the twenty-third.

CONTRACT CLUB ENTERTAINED AT JONES RESIDENCE

The Thursday Contract club met at the home of Mrs. Eva Jones on Lincoln street, November the twenty-seventh. A bridge luncheon was served by the hostess. Guests were Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Helen Anderson.

Members were Mrs. Bertha Hewitt, Mrs. Clara McPherrin, Mrs. Pearl Yorkland, Mrs. Willa Bark, Mrs. Myrtle Dunham and Mrs. Stella Dryden. Prizes were given to Mrs. Yorkland, Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. McPherrin.

The club will meet with Mrs. Myrtle Dunham on North Tenth street, December the eleventh at half past one o'clock.

Mrs. E. T. Crawford, Merrill, and Mrs. George Yost of Tulelake for cards; Mrs. Jack Burke, Merrill, fancy work; Mrs. James O'Keefe, Merrill, food booths; Mrs. Leonard Petrik, Malin, games; Mrs. Jess Dieter, Tulelake, president of the Altar society, the dinner and general plans; Mrs. Hugh O'Connor, Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Mrs. Dan Cashman, decorations.

Members of the society express appreciation to Mrs. Dieter for her untiring efforts in behalf of the society for the past two years that she has served as president.

Greeting guests at the door were Mrs. E. T. Crawford, Mrs. W. C. Dalton, Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Mrs. Dan Cashman.
