

Local VFW Offer Support to County

Early in 1940 the VFW national commander offered the president of the United States his and the organization's aid in any way possible in case of emergency. Immediately after this offer the department commander made the same offer to the governor of Oregon.

Now the governor has declared a state of emergency exists and asks the organization to cooperate with the local defense councils. Therefore John W. Lehase, commander of the Pelican post number 1383 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has offered the support of the local post to the county for any purpose in this crisis. All members are asked to register at the earliest possible time.
