Holly Sprig Tops Fruit Cake Casserole for Gift

Here's a really different fruit cake that is inexpensive and takes only a few days to ripen; in fact, might spoil if kept for several weeks. Bake it in a useful glass casserole, tie with ribbons and bright red holly and present to a cherished friend.

FESTIVITY FRUIT CAKE (3-Pound Fruit Cake)

One cup seeded raisins, 1/2 cup nut meats, 1 can mixed fruits and peels (8 ounces), 2-3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon alspice, 1/2 tea-spoon cloves, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1 square chocolate (1 ounce), 1 cup applesauce, 1/2 cup ground carrots, blanched almonds, citron and candied cherries for decoration.

Cut up raisins with kitchen scissors. Cut up nut meats and mix with raisins and mixed fruits and peels. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift together with salt, soda, alspice, cloves, nutmeg and cinnamon. Cream shortening; add brown sugar gradually while continuing creaming. Add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Add vanilla, melted chocolate and applesauce. Stir in flour mixture. Add fruits, nuts and peels. Pour batter into well-greased two-quart heat resistant glass baking dish. Decorate with cherries, citron and almonds. Bake in slow oven (290 degrees F.) about one hour and thirty to thirty-five minutes or until a toothpick comes out clean. Cover with utility cover and seal with Scotch tape before Christmas wrapping.

LUNCHEON: Potato and onion soup, hard rolls, cabbage and apple salad, cookies, tea, milk.

NUTRITION ADVICE FOR WORKERS EYED

"Better Family Living for National Defense," is the name of a booklet put out by the extension service of Oregon State college and distributed here in a campaign sponsored locally by the nutrition committee of the Klamath defense council, for better nutrition of American families in the struggle ahead.

If the mother of the family works, as many do, and thus cannot attend the afternoon meetings of extension units, clubs and other groups to which better nutrition is being preached, a solution has been found by Mrs. Suzanne Hamilton of the Penney store.

Hearing the gospel of better nutrition at a meeting of the BPW, at which Mrs. Winnifred Gillen, a member of the nutrition committee and Klamath home demonstration agent, spoke, she gathered material, took notes and went before a gathering of the store force prepared to make a plea for their help. Thirty-two women and men signed up to receive literature and to cooperate, in a wave of interest that is expected to spread to other stores where meetings of personnel are held. Material can be secured by applying to Mrs. Gillen, in the federal building, and services of a trained worker in nutrition can also be secured through the same office.

Those who have agreed to serve in this capacity are Mrs. William W. McNealy, Mrs. Fred D. Fletcher, Mrs. O. K. Puckett, Mrs. Anne Paygr, Miss Elizabeth Cleghorn and Miss Dorothy Nelson. Of these, several are or have been teachers of home economics. Winnifred K. Gillen, Clifford C. Jenkins, C. A. Henderson and Robert McCambridge, will leave Sunday for Corvallis, where they will spend the following week at Oregon State college, attending the annual conference of their particular branches of the extension work, it was announced. According to the nutrition committee of the Klamath defense council, to which they belong, particular emphasis will be placed during this series of meetings upon the problems connected with national work in which these agencies can assist. Nutrition work, under the nutrition committee, is already well started in Klamath county, but there will doubtless be much new material with which to work after the Corvallis conference. The triple A meeting will be held the same week at the state college.
