Christian Endeavor

At the Presbyterian church, Sixth and Pine streets, Roberta Alexander, president of Klamath-Lake Christian Endeavor union, conducted a candlelight vesper service last Sunday. The program was made up of Christmas music and readings. An organ prelude by Mrs. A. H. Denison opened the service; Buddy Aubrey and Lyle Steers, two Junior Christian Endeavorers, gave the Christmas scripture from memory. "We Three Kings of Orient" was sung by Dean Stephens and Charles Uhlig; Miss Gerry Mae Knuth gave a reading entitled "The Meaning of the Star." Roberta Alexander read a poem "Gifts," Gail Clapp and Freda Miller sang "Star of the East"; Ruth Henry sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem"; Gerry Mae Knuth gave another reading, "While the City Slept"; Dr. A. T. Smith pronounced the benediction.

The Christian Endeavor meeting for December 21 at the First Christian church Young People's society will be conducted by Hugh Kafton, and the discussion will be "No Room at the Inn."

Barbara Adams will lead the meeting on the same topic in the High School Christian Endeavor meeting at the First Christian church. At the evening church service this society is presenting a play, "The Christmas Voice."

The Presbyterian Young People's society will lead in a Christmas missionary program by Pearl Jean Wilson.

"Christmas in Song and Story" is the meeting Maxine Aubrey will lead for the Christian Church Juniors.

The high school society of the Community Presbyterian church at Altamont will present a play, "The Guiding Light," during the Bible school hour Sunday.

At the Presbyterian High School Christian Endeavor society, Jim Gwin, president of the society, will conduct a consecration meeting.

Church News—Sunday evening, December 21, the high school society of the First Christian church will present for the evening service a play entitled, "The Christmas Voice." The play is built around the story of a family who are awaiting a visit from the Christmas Guest, and who fail to recognize Him when he comes. This theme is developed in an interesting manner with high school boys and girls giving characteristically frank opinions about the way in which Christmas is celebrated today.

Those taking part are Gerry Mae Knuth, Jean Kellis, Dan Kafton, Betty Brabson, Barbara Adams, Jack Pearson, Gail Clapp, Hugh Kafton, Lyle Steers, Neva Knuth and Freda Miller. Directing the play is Charles Uhlig, assisted by Percy Steers and Don Kafton.

First Presbyterian Church

The First Presbyterian church choir, under the direction of Charles R. Stanfield with Mrs. Arthur Hall Denison organist, is to present Fairchild's beautiful cantata "The Son of the High-est," at a special vesper service held at five o'clock. This will be candle-lighted. The program follows:

"There Were Shepherds," introduction and chorus.

"And Lo, the Angel of the Lord," recitative, tenor solo by Harlan M. Parkhurst.

"Fear Not," baritone solo, Guy Bates.

"And Suddenly There Was With the Angel," recitative, tenor solo, Harlan M. Parkhurst.

"Glory to God," chorus.

Offertory, "Meditation" by Gillette.

"Peace on Earth," organ and chorus.

"It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," hymn, chorus.

"And It Came to Pass," soprano solo, Mrs. Bert C. Thomas.

"Let Us Now Go Even Unto Bethlehem," chorus.

"O Little Town of Bethlehem," chorus.

"And They Came with Haste," soprano solo, Mrs. Bert C. Thomas.

"Sleep, Baby, Sleep," contralto solo with choral interlude, Ruth Henry.

"He Shall Be Great," chorus.

Organ postlude, Christmas carol to be selected.

The audience is requested to be seated by 5 o'clock, the hour of opening, so that there may be no interruptions.

The pastor, officers and membership of Klamath Temple wish everyone in this community a very Merry Christmas and a happy New Year, prosperous in the blessings of God. Midweek services for the Christmas week will be announced from the pulpit Sunday. There will be no Friday night service this week at the Temple.

Pilgrim Holiness

Sunday evening, December 21, at 7:30 o'clock the Sunday school of the church at 2220 Wantland avenue will present its Christmas program to the public. Through there will be appropriate exercises by each class, the outstanding feature will be a tableau, presented by the young people's class, portraying the scenes of the annunciation and nativity. Realistic costuming and the singing of familiar Christmas carols make these scenes impressive and delightful. Following the program, treats will be distributed. All friends of the church are invited to attend this entertainment.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the pastor, Rev. Sherman Moore, will speak upon the subject, "Wise Men." Before Sunday school, at 9:45 a. m., the children will bring their "white gifts." Prayer meeting, Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m. will again be led by some layman of the congregation.
