News Notes and Comment

By MAURICE O'CALLAGHAN

School Friday was rather dull with many students absent or late due to the slippery roads. Several of the buses refused to move when started in the morning and therefore they arrived late.

The few who did arrive were very downcast because they couldn't go skating on the many ice ponds surrounding Klamath Falls. Although many probably did go skating during the afternoon it is quite probable that many more hit the ice that night.

It is cold enough to skate on most anything that has any moisture.

In about a week tests for the first semester will be given. Final arrangements have not been completed yet. The testing will be slightly different this year. We will tell all as soon as the facts are released by the office.

Tonight, Saturday, the Pelicans will play a group of Klamath high's best basketball stars of the past few years. The game will be a benefit for the paralysis drive.

Although the alumni are out of practice, we will give them a slight edge over our Pelicans. The alumni have experience; they are familiar with the floor, and they are wise to the teachings of Dutch French.

No matter who wins Saturday we will keep it, so to say, "in the family."

Remember, buy your defense stamps from the Quill and Scroll in room 316.

While speaking of defense stamps it might interest students of the art classes that a contest will be held in the art classes for a defense poster for the Quill and Scroll to use in their sale of stamps. The first prize in the contest will be a free El Rodeo in the spring.

If you have a good friend or any friend in the art classes and can think of a clever motto or something to sell defense stamps why not tell him or her of your findings?

The contest will close the week after the next semester begins. Suggestion: Help slap the sap out of a yellow Jap, buy a defense stamp. Every dime helps. A dime a day keeps the Japs away.
