MALIN VOTERS ASKED TO AID CITY FINANCES

MALIN-Voters of Malin will go to the polls on Tuesday, February 3 to vote on an amendment to the city charter which will authorize the common council to impose and col-lect a tax and to license and regulate all lawful trades, professions, occupations and busi-nesses within the city of Malin.

"In submitting this proposed charter amendment," according to printed information being sent to all voters prior to elec-tion day, "the Common Council is exercising their authority un-der the charter of the city and the constitution and laws of the state of Oregon and they wish to present to the voters the reasons for the proposed amend-

"It is of course well under stood by everyone that the cost of maintaining city government has greatly increased, and that the income and revenue for the city of Malin has not been adequate or sufficient to carry on the normal operations and functions of city government, and no money has been available for city improvements.

"The common council has on various occasions desired to improve the city streets including grading and looking forward to keeping the streets in good re-pair. There must be money made available to defray costs of police protection.

"The fire protection of the city of Malin must be kept at a high rate of efficiency, particularly due to the present na-tional emergency existing at this time, and it is necessary to provide additional equipment and to keep the present equipment in proper working order.

"There are certain outstanding warrants of the city which obligations for which the city is

From time to time it is going to be necessary to have legal counsel and money must be on hand for this purpose.

"The common council be-lieves that the only way the money can be raised for the purposes mentioned would be by amending the charter to permit passage of an ordinance by the common council for licensing trades, professions, occupa-tions and businesses within the corporate limits of Malin.

"Favorable action by the voters of the city will permit and allow the council to pass such an ordinance and will bring about additional revenue and income to the city which income and revenue will all be spent for uses and purposes resulting for the best interests of the city of Malin and the residents living within the corporate limits.'

The information is signed by Mayor A. Kalina, and councilmen, Everett Jones, H. Ben Pickett, James Ottoman, Con-rad Johnson, Clyde Van Meter and Clinton Williams.

Voters are asked to vote 100 -Yes or 101—No.

Polls will be open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. in the city hall in the Broadway theatre
