Clarifies Sleeper Play Regulations By ROBERT MYERS PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 7 (A)—The 1942 college football rulebook remains almost exactly as it was last season, but the governing rules committee clarified a few points and wrote two stern frowns into the text on a couple of practices. One raised eyebrow was directed at officials taking the easy way out in calling both teams of side and while the growth there is a rule that says when one player draws another off-side, number one's team should get five yards—backward. "We want to eliminate this double off-side matter," said Okeson.

The hideout, or sleeper play, where it is screened by substitutions, was also frowned upon and a 15-yard penalty attached for future reference. This type of play comes when a coach sends in, say, five players. In the confusion, six players start off the field—only one stops at the sideline and takes refuge in the cluster of chain-handlers, the headlinesman and possibly eight photographers.

The sleeper play with the wide flanker is all right—but not under this kind of wrap. West coast observers will re-member that Babe Hollingbery of Washington State thought he detected this in one game, yelled to high heaven and the 'sleeper" was awakened.

Gone, too, under the 1942 supplemented rules, is the reversed-center, which gained prominence last season on Ossie Solem's Syracuse team, It was described as the "Y-formation."
