Give and Take on Tires

AN appeal to motorists of this area to restrict their tire re-capping orders to needed equipment at this time, in order that all necessary and emergency shortages may be filled, was issued by the county tire rationing committee

At a meeting of the committee, it was brought out that many people, with their cars fully equipped with good tires, are rushing in with additional orders that take precedence over other emergency needs. In these critical times, it was stated, selfish tactics should be sacrificed for the general good. People well supplied with tires should hold back with their new orders until others, not well off, can catch up.

Whether such an appeal will have an effect remains to be seen. It is a fair and reasonable request, but it is possible many people are not fully aware of the fair and reasonable requirements of the times, and are motivated by selfish factors that may be all right in normal periods but should be thrown out of the window just now.

It is going to take a community-wide program of "give and take" to make available rubber go around. That is clear to all who will inform themselves on the situation.

What Do They Know About It?

TALIAN newspapers are urging a "benevolent, intelligent neutrality" in South America.

The Italians talk as if neutrality to them was a beau-tiful and righteous state of affairs, to be respected and The Italians talk as if neutrality to them was a beautiful and righteous state of affairs, to be respected and honored by all. That's a nice way to look at neutrality, have to raise about $2,500,000. but it's not the way the Italians look at it.

They maintained a phony neutrality through months of the European war, giving every aid they could to one side of the conflict and finally jumping in on what they believed to be the "kill." They made a mockery of the word "neutrality."

With the war closing the normain return route to the Pacific mainland, the clipper was ordered to proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have proceed by the "most income equals or exceeds $1500; or if both have gross income of husband and the combined gross income gross income gross income gross incom

Furthermore, they and their axis pals have collaborated in preying on nations which have tried to maintain an honest neutrality. Several years ago, Abyssinia was a neutral, and Mussolini and his Italians violated that neutrality with cruel and savage violence. The list of would-be neutrals who were preyed upon after that by the axis powers is tragically long.

The number of these boats, known as "PCs," in service or on the ways is a secret, but the navy used the adjective "vastly" in describing the fleet's enlarge-ment. During 1917-18 the navy Equip built 440 of these boats, of which 100 were manned by the French. Sub-chaser craft are of two

It was badly crippled and out of provisions and lubricating oil. Crew members rationed food and water and used butter and salad oil in the engines until that was exhausted. The ship was leaking and food stores dwindled fast. The crew used all available blankets, sheets and tablecloths to rig sails. For a month the PC28 plodded through the seas at 4 knots until she reached the Azores.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8-Econ omists swooned when Mr. Roosevelt's new deal relief debt reached the giddy total of $40,-000,000,000 a year or so back. None flicker a whisker at his war program to nearly treble it at $110,000,000,000. All know it can be done now, and easily. War has brought wholly changed financial circumstances to the treasury. It was one thing to get a financially depressed nation to pay for what seemed to some an unjustified accumulation of debt years and a wholly different matter to rally patriotic support in an outraged country for all-out financing.

There are 30,000,000 families in the United States. If each family could purchase about $1350 of defense bonds on an average, the needed $40,000,000,-000 of our new debt will be fi-It is now around $70,-000,000,000. Some families would be able to take far less, but others might make up the deficit by purchasing more. The treasury has foolishly put a $3750 limit on each individual's an-nual purchase, but it is possible to buy one such bond for each member of the family—husband, wife, son, daughter-and perhaps the treasury will soon awaken and remove the limit.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN

There is every likelihood that Russia will be in war with Japan on the far eastern front in the spring. Such a conflict would re-lieve the Jap pressure on Singapore, if the British can hold out that long in Malaya.

The natural antagonism of Rus-sia and Japan dates back long before this war in ancient en-mity. Only the necessities of red concentration of every effort against Hitler has prevented resumption of their unended war Sooner than that may come favorable action against the Japs in China. They sneaked out most of their air force for use in their Malayan and Philippine camlighs. As a result they can no longer scout the positions of the Chinese army.

The first indication came when the organization's news-paper, Die S. A., ceased publication in August with no official explanation. Members who inquired were told simply that the was taken because of a paper shortage.

Next came an order calling a large percentage of S. A. men to the colors in the regular army instead of assigning them storm troopers' duties as in previous campaigns. They now wear army uniforms and are mixed in the same units with ordinary sold

The most recent move was the secret order forbidding S. men to hold meetings. No explanation was given.
