

'41 PARALYSIS NUMBER TOPS 9000 FIGURE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 — For a second time in a succession of three heavy epidemic years the number of reported infantile paralysis cases in the United States has topped the 9000 mark.

The figures for the 52 weeks of 1941, compiled by the United States public health service, were released today through the office of Keith Morgan, national chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday, for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which committee conducts the annual "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign.

They disclose a total of 9056 cases for the 52 weeks of 1941 and reveal that Nevada was the only one of the 48 states which was left untouched by the recent infantile paralysis epidemics.

Despite the fact that severe epidemics swept more than a dozen states including those in the southland with their heavy concentrations of soldiers in training, the disease was kept from spreading to the army camps. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis worked with local health authorities night and day to combat the epidemics and, due to this work a most serious situation was prevented, Mr. Morgan said.

Reported cases in 1939 were 7298 and, in 1940 the count was 9768. These, with the figures for the past year, show that during the three years more than 26,000 American homes were invaded by the mysterious and body-maiming virus of that disease.

And the 1941 record is the more significant because it represents the first time in the history of the disease in this country in which heavy infantile paralysis epidemics have continued without a break for three consecutive years. Always before there has been a definite lessening of the attacks every two or three years.

These figures released by Mr. Morgan show New York as leading all states in the total number of cases—its count for the 52 weeks being 1174. But on the ratio basis, the Empire state is the eighth in the standing.

Alabama, with a total of 680 reported cases, shows 31.1 cases for each 100,000 unit of its population, whereas the New York per 100,000 is 8.8.

Other states with high ratio marks are Georgia, with 25.0; Tennessee, with 18.6; Florida, with 14.6; Maryland, with 13.4; Washington, D. C. with 11.3, and Minnesota, with 9.4.

CHANGES SMALL IN CHICAGO GRAIN PIT

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (AP)—Only minor price changes occurred in the grain market today as commercial and professional interests studied the probable effect of increased farm production goals for certain feed and oil bearing crops and grain consuming livestock.

Soybeans, production of which may be stimulated by government purchases of beans well above loan rates but considerably below the prevailing market, advanced about a cent a bushel at one time but this gain was lost later. Wheat and rye were up about 1/2 cent early in the day while corn, on which acreage restrictions will be relaxed somewhat, was depressed by continued hedging sales to offset commercial trade purchases from the government.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/2 cent lower compared with yesterday, May $1.31-1.30 1/2, July $1.32 1/2-1; corn unchanged to 1/2 cent off, May 85 1/2-86, July 87 1/2; oats unchanged to 1/2 cent; rye 1/2-1/2 lower; soybeans 1/2 cent down.
