LICENSES DUE ON AMUSEMENT HALLS

The county court is in a very receptive mood as concerns applications for pool hall, dance hall and bowling alley licenses for 1942.

Pool halls, located outside municipal corporations, pay a fee of $10 per table but not more than $50.

Permits are also required for dance halls outside corporation limits. The fee is based on floor space.

All bowling alleys must get county licenses. The fee is $50.

Bonanza High Elects Student Body Officers

Merill Driscoll, a junior, was elected president of the Bonanza high school student body for the coming year. Merill is an outstanding scholar as well as being prominent in extra-curricular activities.

Other officers elected were: vice president, Neil Grohs; secretary, Peter Lorenz; and treasurer, Pauline Wood.

Song and yell leaders were chosen by the student body. May Lilly and Willie May Randall were victorious.

March of Dimes In Full Swing

"Give that others may walk!" And pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and larger pieces of money dropped into the little baskets passed through local theatres as the March of Dimes was on in full swing.

Samuel P. Miller, chairman of the diamond jubilee celebration of the president's birthday, announced Monday that the March of Dimes was started Sunday and will continue until the night of the president's ball, Saturday, January 31. Small tins have been placed in schools, restaurants, business houses and other points in the city. Fifty per cent of all donations in the county remain here for local use, the other 50 per cent going to the national foundation for research work.

Air Raid Wardens Given Instructions

Over 200 Klamath air raid wardens and assistants met in the Klamath Union high school auditorium Sunday for instruction on blackout duties and combatting of incendiary bombs.

Instruction was given by L. Orth Sisemore, air raid precaution supervisor, and Coleman O'Laughlin, chief Klamath air warden. The meeting was the first in a series of weekly instruction meetings. Next Sunday the group will take up treatment of and precautions against high explosive bombs and poison gas.

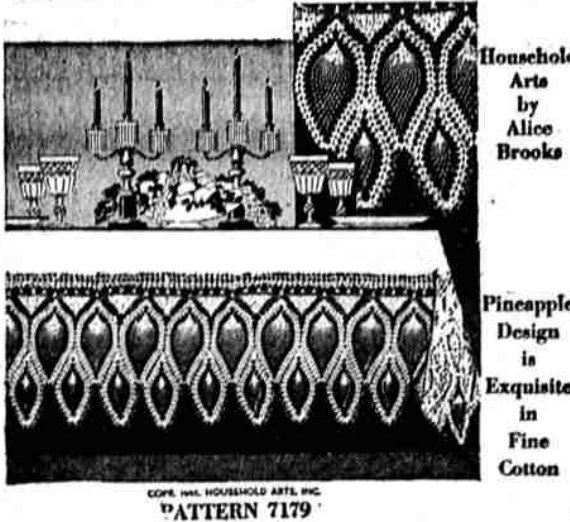

Sisemore strongly warned the public against allowing dogs to run loose during blackouts. With the city totally dark, he said air raid wardens are in danger of being bitten.

Crochet Makes Your Home Lovelier

The exquisite pineapple design gives this border richness that combines perfectly with linen, making an heirloom cloth you'll treasure forever! Border and corners are crocheted in one piece in fine cotton or string. Pattern 7179 contains instructions for making border in various sizes; illustrations of it and stitches; materials needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in coin to The Herald and News, Household Arts Dept., Klamath Falls. Do not send this picture, but keep it and the number for reference. Be sure to wrap coin securely, as a loose coin often slips out of the envelope. Requests for patterns should read, "Send pattern No. to followed by your name and address."

Mystery Deaths in Bombed Cities Puzzling Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 20 (Wide World)—Bombing of cities again has sent science in search of a solution of an old mystery, first reported in our Civil war and now puzzling English physicians—the people who are killed without sign of injury.

The British have made some progress:

First, verifying the existence of this strange death, which the medical profession has doubted ever since S. Weir Mitchell, U. S. surgeon, reported it in 1864.

Second, they have done animal experiments, showing two possible causes. One of these is compression; the other fast movement—that is, sudden acceleration of the head and body in space.

Dr. J. F. Fulton, of Yale university school of medicine, tells of the odd findings in a report written for the college of physicians of Philadelphia:

"In England at the present time, much perplexity has been felt over the fact that individuals frequently are found dead in the vicinity of a bomb explosion, even though they have not been struck by shrapnel or debris."

"Others more distant from the site of the explosion are often picked up in a state of profound circulatory collapse without visible sign of injury."

Some of the deaths are explained by finding lung injuries. A few deaths were due to carbon monoxide produced by the explosion.

But other dead had no internal injuries, even though microscopes were used in looking for possible brain damage.

As a first experiment, 70-pound high explosive paper bombs were set off in S. Zuckerman's laboratory, with animals placed at varying distances. The nearest were 13 feet away, the most distant 70 feet. The animals were mice, rats, guinea pigs, rabbits, cats, monkeys and pigeons.

The experiments were repeated with hydrogen and oxygen balloons as the explosives. In no instance were there flying missiles to hurt the animals.

Beyond 20 feet, no animal was killed. Most of them were quieter than before the explosion. Some showed signs of breathing troubles temporarily.

The medical guess at present is that the source of this kind of death and shock lies in disorganization of the blood vessels. The direct pressure of an explosion wave would not necessarily have to be the reason. The brain itself might be affected, so that its nerve centers lost control of the intricate blood vessel system.

The shocked persons sometimes develop nervous and mental troubles. Some of these have been greatly benefited by taking the synthetic male sex hormone, testosterone propionate.

HELLO, SAILOR!

CHICAGO, (P)—Walter L. Dienes, Chicago's first casualty of Pearl Harbor, was given an enthusiastic welcome home.

Limping from shrapnel wounds, the 21 year old signalman third class, stepped from a train amid shouts of welcome from his parents, four sisters, two brothers, relatives and friends.

Adding an official touch to the homecoming, Mayor Edward J. Kelly and President James B. McCahey of the board of education, joined the happy throng.

COUNTY TEACHING STAFFS CHANGED

Beginning of a new semester in Klamath county schools resulted in several changes in the teaching staffs. Three teachers have resigned to take their places with the armed forces of the U. S.: George Frank, shop teacher at Keno, who resigned to enter the naval reserves, has been replaced by Bernice Morrison, formerly of Altamont junior high school, and R. L. Putnam of the Keno school.

Harold Rowe of the Malin high school, resigned to join the naval reserves, and has been replaced by John Kallak of Salem, and Don Barnes, who left the Chiloquin grade school to take his place with the armed forces, has been replaced by Mrs. Marian Barker.

Orva Albi of the Keno high school, who resigned because of illness, has been replaced by Mrs. Ruth Hammer.

Three teachers have been added to the staff of Altamont junior high school: Mrs. Zenith Powell, Mrs. Mercedes Hadley and Mrs. Corinne Lindley. Ruth Fitch resigned her position at the school, in order to continue her studies.

Draft Board to Release Local Call Lists Again

Oregon selective service boards may now release lists of local men leaving for induction into the army and the number of each call, Major Ted Case, Klamath director said Tuesday.

Boards had been ordered shortly after the outbreak of war that all such information was "of aid or comfort" to the enemy and was to be withheld. Recent Washington dispatches have been releasing such news nationally and the state order followed.

Case said he as yet had no information as to the number of Klamath men who will be called in the next order, presumably in February.

OPENS A CHECK ACCOUNT

IN THE CheckMaster PLAN

For a trifling cost, you enjoy all the conveniences of paying by check without ever having to "keep up" any balance in the account.

It's better to pay by check than cash, because it's risky to keep money on hand or carry it around. It's also easier, and more economical to issue a check than bother with a money order.

Your check for a dollar or $1,000 costs you just a nickel.

Compare:
A money order for $2.50 costs 6 cents; for $10, it's 11 cents. A $25 money order costs 15 cents, and so on up to 22 cents for $100.

Besides the economy and convenience, a check is more business-like and makes a better impression than cash or money order—and your CheckMaster check looks just like any other check.

Remember: You can open a CheckMaster account in person or by mail.

DRIVE MORE SLOWLY... TO SAVE LIVES... TO SAVE MATERIALS FOR DEFENSE

"Asking motorists to go easy on their driving is a strange way for an oil company to do business," you may say. But that's just what we're doing. For the most important goal right now is winning this war.

Going easy on your driving... operating your car more sanely... will help defense. It will save lubricating oil, rubber, gasoline, and parts.

Of course we'd like to get all the motorists possible to use Gilmore Red Lion gasoline. We know they'd benefit thereby, for Red Lion is the world's most economical gasoline. Official records prove it!

But we don't want to sell a drop of Red Lion that is going to be wasted by poor or unnecessary driving. America is a nation on wheels... so use your car when you must—but not foolishly. Don't drive the few blocks you can walk.

Let's all play ball with each other... let's play ball with Uncle Sam... for victory... a real American victory.
