NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Mr. Nelson has stepped inadvertently in some fly paper in his first move forward toward more production. His boys have worked up and sent to the government printing office, "an official handbook of the war production board" for the offensive on the factory front.

It is a presentation of excellent suggestions as to how each plant can do its job like MacArthur is doing his. The workers would be encouraged to coin their own slogans to paste on their machines (like "Go way, I'm busy helping a guy in a fight.") advertising their accomplishments by blowing a whistle whenever a new unit rolls off the production line, doubling up in autos coming to work.

This kind of "more production drive" is needed, perhaps more than anything else right now. Everyone is eager and cooperative. But back in the booklet, after generalized letters about necessity from Roosevelt, Knox, Simson, et al, is a controversial kernel. The whole drive is to be built around establishment of joint labor-management committees for each plant.

Now that sounds innocent enough until you consider (as all plane managers invited to join, are) what this joint management committee is to handle. The book tells you nine things:

Care of tools, preventing breakdowns, curtailing accidents, good lighting, maintenance and repair, re-adopting machines, cutting waste, breaking production bottlenecks, using every machine to the fullest.

"These are just suggestions," the booklet says. "You will probably have to adapt them to your own plant," (leaving a wide door open.)

But those who will do the "adapting wonder"—justly or unjustly—how much of their business management will be exclusively theirs, free of labor consultation, except the problem of making enough money to pay taxes, wages and profits.

SIDE GLANCES

"Last year he grouched all over the place when he paid his income tax—this year he paid four times as much on the same income and smiled."

Who Gets the Tires

It was sound judgment that led the Klamath rationing board to give full publicity to its allotments of tires and tubes to eligible users.

The board hesitated momentarily on the publicity question when the publication of the first list of names brought a great many personal calls to board members, who are busy with their private affairs along with those of the rationing program. Then it was announced the names of allottees will be published, and anyone having any complaint to make should do it at the board headquarters at the chamber of commerce.

In fact, the rationing rules call for the latter procedure. There are forms available at the headquarters to be used in making complaints. Also, full copies of all rules and regulations may be seen at the chamber offices. It is the place to go if one does not understand fully the rationing program and what is being done about it here.

The rationing board has been doing its best to fulfill the purposes of the rationing program as they apply to the particular problems of Klamath county. Of importance here are the tire needs of the lumber industry and of agriculture. Both of these activities are highly mechanized and require a great deal of rubber. Both are of significance in the fighting and defense program of the country. They, naturally, will get the lion's share of tires that go to eligible users.

Most people, being deprived of new tires, would like to know who is getting them and why. The board's publicity plan answers those questions. The public surveillance which accompanies the publicity is an automatic policing device.

The Important Potato (The Oregonian)

DOMESTIC demand for farm products is at 35 per cent above what it was at the same time in 1941, according to the February price report of the department of agriculture. This higher level of demand, coupled with a decline in potato acreage attributed to hitherto low prices at harvest time, has directed attention to that important vegetable. The householder who is attentive to such things will have noticed that he has been getting fewer and fewer potatoes for a dollar at the corner grocery.

The department of agriculture, it is now told in a dispatch from Washington, is offering inducements to farmers to plant not less than 80 per cent and up to 110 per cent of their allotted potato acreage. The inducement is a promise of price support at harvest time and it is offered to forestall possibility of a potato shortage.

If the Oregon potato grower could rely upon the continuance of present prices through harvesting he would not need to worry about government price support. The department's monthly price report discloses that the Oregon farmer who still has potatoes to sell is receiving much above the average received by potato growers the country over. Whereas the Oregon grower was getting about 80 cents a bushel last fall, he is getting an average of $1.20, as of February 15. In the corresponding period, a year ago, the Oregon farmer was receiving an average of 55 cents a bushel. This contrast, aside from pledged government price support, indicates a good year in 1942 for the Oregon potato grower. And the consumer, it may be supposed, will watch his productive reaction with interest if not anxiety. The grower's present price is 15½ cents a bushel above the national average, and the national average stands within a fraction of a cent of parity.

U. S. Attorney Reports Aliens Imposed Upon

PORTLAND, March 9 (AP)—U. S. Attorney Carl C. Donough denounced persons who, he said Saturday, are refusing to pay legitimate accounts to enemy aliens, faced with evacuation from the west coast.

He said he had also received reports of equipment dealers attempting to induce aliens to sign away title, even though there was no default, on property purchased through conditional sales contracts.

"Despite pending evacuation, there is no reason why an alien should sign away his goods," Donough said.

He predicted an alien property custodian would be named soon.

Nine Jap Section Hands Held While Fire Investigated

SEATTLE, March 9 (AP)—Nine Japanese members of a railway section crew are being held here today by immigration officials as a result of their arrest by army sentries investigating an explosion and fire which destroyed a speeder, a tool shed and two old coaches on the Port Townsend-Southern railroad yesterday.

The crew was called for some repair work on the road—which connects only by ferry with other lines—and was removing a speeder from a tool shed when the machine broke into flames, according to army guards who were patrolling nearby.

The flames spread, destroying the shed and coaches and several barrels of oil. Dynamite stored in the shed was exploded by the blaze.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 8.

The Golden Text was, "Have we not all one father, hath not one God created us," (Malachi 2:10).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness, and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them" (Gen. 1:26, 27).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the image and likeness of God... Man is spiritual and perfect; and because he is spiritual and perfect, he must be so understood in Christian Science. Man is idea, the image, of Love; he is not physique" (p. 475).

DEMONSTRATION

RISE SUN, Ind., (AP)—This little Ohio river town has rejected the suggestion that its name be changed because it is a reminder of the Japanese flag.

And now the townsfolk have come forward with a suggestion of their own. Their idea is that a big concentration camp be laid out on a nearby hill for Japanese taken into custody on the east and west coasts.

"We'll take care of them," said one resident, "in a way that will show them that our rising sun will never sink—theirs will never rise again."

We can help the boys who are peeling potatoes in army camps by peeling our bankrolls.

Klamath's Yesterdays

From the files—40 years ago and 10 years ago.

From the Klamath Republican.

March 13, 1902
The county court this week granted H. V. Gates the right to construct a telephone and telegraph line in Klamath county, said line to be commenced May 1 and completed to Klamath Falls by October, 1902.

It is to be hoped that cities of Klamath county will not fail to remember favorably the proposed county high school. This is a matter, we understand, to come up at the June election. There is probably no enterprise more important and beneficial to the rising generation in Klamath county than a county high school.

From the Evening Herald.

March 9, 1932
Perry DeLap resigned as adjutant of Klamath post of the American Legion last night. He is going into politics.

The cast of the high school play, Lucky Jade, includes Jim Morrison, Marguerite Uerlings, Verna Treton, Maxine Carson, Greer Drew, Harry Jones, Bob Knieval, Jim Larson, Bob Gallagher, Thelma Hubbard, Audrey O'Neill, Junior Van Emom, Bob Richards and Bob Elliott.

Walter W. Abbey, formerly in the garage business here, has moved to Medford.
