Social Calendar Slates Busy Month of March

All work and no play is certainly out as far as women of Klamath Falls are concerned and although there is scarcely a one shirking the duties of defense what with a dozen or so classes under way in first aid, canteen service, nutrition, motor corps and whatnot, the calendar still fills itself with affairs which definitely are a lift to the morale.

For instance a hundred or more will start out next Monday morning to open the annual membership campaign for the Klamath Community Concert association and workers should find it a good task well done when they complete their efforts Saturday, March the twenty-first. With the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo scheduled on the 1942-43 series, music and dance lovers are especially thrilled over the coming performance. "The Marriage of Figaro" will appear here Monday night at the Pelican theatre as the last concert of the season. This promises to be much fun.

Three dances are scheduled for this month, the Italian supper dance at Reames on the night of Saturday, March the twenty-first, and the Winter Dancing club Dafodil dance the following Saturday. On this same night there is the Sons and Daughters dancing party for the younger group at the Elks temple, this affair sponsored by the Elks.

Then there are many parties planned for young couples leaving Klamath Falls and if you aren't thinking of giving one you practically are out of the swing. Never has there been such an exodus of Klamath folks. Army and navy service has quite depleted the ranks of the younger married people.

There are two interesting card parties planned, first being the annual St. Patrick's "whist" party at the Willard on March the seventeenth by St. Mary's Altar society. The other is the Easter Monday bridge tea sponsored by women of St. Paul's Guild on April the sixth at the Willard.

Army and Navy Men Take Klamath Brides

Scarcely a week passes but one hears of Mister Dan Cupid arranging a marriage among the younger set with the colors of the army or navy vying for a place in the news column along with a description of the wedding gown of the bride.

Of interest is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Winifred Southwell, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Southwell of Summers lane, who became the bride of Mr. James Stilwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Stilwell of Bly. The ceremony was read at six o'clock Saturday evening, March the seventh, in the First Methodist church of Grants Pass with the Rev. Darlow Johnson officiating.

On Monday Mr. Stilwell left for Portland where he will enter the service of the United States navy. Mrs. Stilwell is remaining in Klamath Falls with her parents.

The bride was attractive in a sheer wool suit of delphinium blue with black accessories and a corsage of rosebuds. Her sister, Miss Margie Southwell, was her only attendant and wore a blue wool of a deeper tone. Her flowers were also rosebuds. Both the young people are members of well known Klamath families.

An army air corps cadet, Mr. Milton K. McAuley of Luke field, Phoenix, Arizona, will claim a Klamath Falls maid as his bride next Monday in the southern city when the marriage of Miss Maxine Laursen and Mr. McAuley takes place.

Both are well known among the younger group here. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lela Laursen of this city. Mrs. Laursen, Maxine and her younger sister, Dorothy, left Thursday evening for Phoenix to make final plans for the simple ceremony. The young couple will reside in Phoenix until Mr. McAuley completes his training course in the air corps.
