

TICKET DRIVE FOR CONCERTS STARTED HERE

The annual membership drive of the Klamath Community Concert association was under way Monday and will continue throughout the week, ending March 21.

Total membership last year was 1438, according to Mrs. Claude H. Davis, secretary, and only 100 additional memberships will be sold this year and at the close of a 1538 membership there will be none available for the coming year. Limit is placed only in accordance with seating capacity of the Pelican theatre where concerts have been held.

Speaking to workers Sunday night, Herbert Fox, artist manager, advised association members that the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will appear here sometime in early December, one of the stellar concert attractions of the present time.

Membership in the association is open to anyone in the basin area, including northern California, and also the Rogue River valley section. There will be no admissions sold to concerts this coming year, following out the policy maintained in the past. Those wishing to contact the membership chairman, Mrs. Lester Offield, may reach her at concert headquarters, 8486, Willard hotel. Office hours are 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The number of concerts, whether there will be three or four, depends on the response of the community, it was stated. This past year the schedule called for four concerts.

KUHS Rifle Club Meets Altamont

The Klamath Bullseyes, KUHS 4-H rifle club, will entertain the Altamont 4-H team in a competitive shoot in the Klamath armory tonight.

Each club will have a team of the five highest shooters competing.

Firing for the Bullseyes will be George Ray whose average is 88; Don Erickson, Bob McClean and Grant Brown, who have all posted 85; and Don Olson with an average of 82. All averages were compiled from shooting on March 2 and 12.

COUNTY ROAD WORK PROGRESS REVEALED

County road work is progressing on a tentative schedule so far this year, according to County Engineer Frank Howard, pending a decision on how much work will have to be done on the roads around the local airport.

Work already completed under the tentative schedule, however, includes graveling of the Alameda extension; re-graveling of the El Dorado extension and graveling of the Spring Lake road around the diversion channel.

By May, Howard said, work should be finished on completion of one and a half miles of grading and graveling on the Lower Lake road; completion of the grade on the north Poe Valley road from the Liskey ranch to the Harpoird bridge and reconstruction of the "chalk bank" section.

Drag-line work is planned on the Langell valley road; graveling of a stretch on the Bradbury road around the Wilson bridge, and reconstruction of Shasta way from Sixth street to the canal.

Before July 1, which marks the beginning of a new road budget, about 10 miles of road between Klamath Falls and Malin should be prepared for oiling, Howard said.

Driver Fined on Three Counts in Municipal Court

Felix Bigby was fined $50, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for 90 days when he pleaded guilty to three counts in Police Judge Leigh Ackerman's court Friday.

Bigby was charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident, being drunk, and with disorderly conduct. According to police, Bigby's car struck and damaged a sedan driven by James Holloway of route 3 on Klamath avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets. Later, police said, Bigby twice attempted to flee from officers who made the arrest at Ninth and Main streets where Bigby's car was identified about two hours after the accident.

Opera Tonight Closes Concert Season Here

happens to be in Italian. Tonight the concert will be given in English.

"Americans still like to pay their money for something they can understand what is going on," said one noteworthy critic after he had heard "Figaro" for the first time in English.

Members of the troupe arrived here late Saturday. They travel by bus and carry all "props" with them. All have splendid voices and a number attended church Sunday morning and delighted congregations as they sang hymns and took part in the music of the service. Monday a group went through Weyerhaeuser mill and en route north plan to go by way of Crater Lake National park. They are playing a full season's program throughout the United States.

There will be no tickets sold at the door, admittance by membership only.

Survivors of Sunk Vessel Arrive in U. S.

NORFOLK, Va., March 16 (UP)—Twenty crew members of a small American freighter apparently perished when a submarine torpedoed and sunk the ship without warning, seven survivors landed here said today.

The submarine circled around the spot where the ship sank, without being observed by U. S. navy planes which flew high overhead at the time, the survivors said.

The ship sank so rapidly that there was no time to lower a lifeboat or even throw a raft overboard. The survivors managed to climb on one or two rafts that broke loose from the freighter after the torpedo struck.

The attack occurred early Wednesday morning, March 11. One torpedo plowed into the ship and less than a minute later a second blasted the vessel. The ship sank within two minutes, according to the survivors, who were picked up Wednesday afternoon.

The survivors included Capt. Nicholas Manolis of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Relating that he was on the bridge when the first torpedo struck, Manolis said he "hardly had time to turn around before the second struck." He ordered the mate to blow the whistle and sound the alarm to abandon ship, he added.

"Then we dashed for the lifeboats," he continued, "but by that time the ship was sinking so fast there was nothing for us to do but swim out in the water."

He had been in the water about 15 minutes, he related, when one of the rafts floated by. "I crawled onto it and then picked up the second mate and the quartermaster," he said. "About an hour later we picked up four others."

Yellow Light "Meanwhile, the others struggled in the water," he added. "I could hear their cries for help, but I couldn't see them. After a time I heard no more cries. I suppose they went down."

All seven survivors said the submarine hoisted a yellow light shortly after the ship went down. It continued to circle in this vicinity, they said, despite the fact navy planes were flying overhead.

Women's Voter League to Press Registration Drive

Good government is more important now than ever before, a group of members of the League of Women Voters will lead Monday noon by Mrs. Ralph W. Rasmussen of Portland, their state president. The league should work harder than ever, she said, on the essentials of good government while leaving the non-essentials until after the war is over.

Mrs. Rasmussen made a short address to about 25 members of the organization at a luncheon in the Pelican cafe party room, which included officers and directors of the Klamath Falls group and interested members.

Of primary importance at this time, she said, is the work which can be done now in getting people to register as voters. Oregon's registration has fallen tremendously, and the state organization is planning a week's intensive campaign to urge people to register for the primary elections, she told the local group.

Competent state officials, congressmen and senators and wise legislation are of vital importance in war time, Mrs. Rasmussen stated, pointing out that the League of Women Voters can make an important contribution at this time in presenting to the voters of the country the facts they should know so as to vote intelligently.

Mrs. Fred Heilbroner presided at the luncheon meeting.

had sunk 60,000 tons of Japanese shipping in a 15,000-mile foray through Indonesian, Philippine and Malayan waters.

The nationality of the submarine, which docked safely at Perth after surviving several attacks with depth charges and aerial bombs during its 60-day voyage, was not disclosed.

Reports were published here, however, that the United States was launching an offensive against Japanese overseas communications with a vast fleet of submarines forming the spearhead of the attack. No authority was given for the reports.

Newspapers, meanwhile, warned that the battle for Australia was moving rapidly toward a climax and cited reports that the Japanese were sending troops out of China, presumably to strengthen forces gathering for an Australian invasion.

Long Resident of Bonanza District Passes Saturday

Robert Silas Sparks, 91, a resident of Klamath county for 40 years, died Saturday after an illness of two years.

Mr. Sparks was one of the old-timers of the Bonanza country. He farmed in that area for many years, and despite advanced age was active until four or five years ago.

Survivors include two daughters, four sons, 22 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. Mr. Sparks had been living recently with his daughter, Mrs. Millie Maxwell, on the hill road near Bonanza.

The funeral will be held at the Bonanza church at 11 a. m. Tuesday, with Whitlock's in charge.

by JOHN CLINTON

The doctor across the street knows everything. He knows it vocally and beligerently. So when, in his best professional voice, he said: "My engine's full of carbon—it's the gasoline I'm using." I let him have it—but good!

"Look, Jim, very little carbon comes from gasoline. It comes mostly from unstable elements in motor oil! It cooks out under engine heat and clogs up your rings, makes engines knock, and raises havoc generally."

"So what do I do?" asked the doctor. "So you use Triton Motor Oil," I replied. "So why—because you say so?"

"No, because tests prove that you should. 'Show me, brother!' says Doc.

I told him that lab tests of the 9 leading premium motor oils sold in the west showed that Triton contains 38% less carbon-forming elements than any of them—and a neat 85% less than the average of all nine of them!

Then I said that motorists have to make their present cars last for the duration, that it's more important than ever to keep engines free of carbon. He said he knew that already; but I have a hunch the doc will take no chances—he'll use Triton Motor Oil.

In case you are like the doc, and in case you're babying your engine with the finest in the land—then head for the nearest Union Oil station and get a can of Triton Motor Oil and—stay with it!
