other building, must be of 14-gauge material, and if in a driveway must be covered by a concrete slab. It must also be equipped with a vent.

As if these were not obstacles enough, one gas company official reported Tuesday he had been informed that a ruling will be aimed at would-be barrel customers. It will prohibit a station operator from selling to a customer for barrel storage if that customer heretofore has not been buying gasoline in that manner.

Fred Hamilton, Shell Oil manager, said that some protest had been made in vain against including Klamath Falls, Medford and Lakeview in the northwest rationing area. He said that these communities get their gasoline by tank car from California, and not by tanker through the northern ports. Inasmuch as they are not affected by the tanker situation, it is argued they should have been grouped with northern California in a non-rationing area.

No rationing has been ordered for northern California, and presumably there will be no restrictions on the supply at Tulelake, Dorris or other nearby California towns.

to Idaho, Montana, Nevada, and Utah by designating the four states as military areas. It also set aside 934 new prohibited areas from which German and Italian aliens and all persons of Japanese blood may eventually be excluded.

The new orders were issued by Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt, head of the western defense command, in "public proclamation No. 2."

In "public proclamation No. 2," DeWitt designated Idaho as military area No. 3; Montana as military area No. 4; Nevada as military area No. 5; and Utah as military area No. 6.

DeWitt said the designation of areas 3, 4, 5 and 6 as such "does not contemplate any prohibition, regulation, or restriction except with respect to the zones established therein." And except for restrictions on changes of residences by any persons of Japanese ancestry, alien or citizen, or by German or Italian aliens within the areas.

The restrictions on changes of residence by such persons require them to obtain and execute a change of residence notice through the postoffice of the city in which they reside.

BATAAN HERO IN AUSTRALIA AT NEW POST

supreme commander in the southwest Pacific was British General Sir Archibald Wavell, whose reassignment to command in India was announced on March 2.

At that time, no mention was made officially of the possibility that MacArthur would succeed him, although Australian sources had suggested MacArthur from time to time.

Wavell's reassignment to India was explained as a result of the loss of Malaya and the entry of the Japanese into Sumatra, separating Burma from the Netherlands East Indies. The transfer of all land, sea and air forces in the Netherlands Indies to the command of the Dutch was announced, but no reference was made to a supreme United Nations command in the southwest Pacific area.

It now develops that MacArthur already had been ordered to Australia, but today's announcement made no reference to India or Burma, and there was no immediate indication whether MacArthur's command extended to them.

LABOR HEADS AGREE TO FOREGO STRIKES of the national war labor board.

The two top men in organized labor, discussing by turns the parley with the chief executive, gave a picture of satisfactory production of war materials with labor devoting every force and effort to turning out war supplies.

Murray said it was agreed that "voluntary action on the part of labor to yield its right to strike was a more satisfactory answer to the problem of production and national unity than restrictive enactments by the federal congress."

Green remarked that "it was agreed that the 40-hour week shall be recognized as standard, that time and a half should be paid for overtime and double time for Sunday."

It was left undecided, he added, whether double time would be paid only for work on the Sabbath, or whether it would be paid for a seventh day of work, regardless of what day of the week that might be.

2. The German high command today announces heavy fighting in Lapland, whose northern frontier is only 50 miles from the Russian supply port of Murmansk.

THESE reports, if true, indicate that Hitler is preparing an attack in force against the British-American supply line to Russia by way of the Arctic sea.

That is the shortest supply route to Russia.

Russia needs British and American supplies if she is to upset Hitler's wagon this summer.

KEEP in mind that all this is guesswork, indulged in to pass away the time during this lull (except in Russia) in the active fighting.

We outsiders can know only what we read in the papers—which isn't much in comparison with what is actually in the wind these days of the spring of the big year of the war.

he felt that it is asking too much from the people of the city at this time.

"We shouldn't offer an 8-mill levy to the people just to prove our intentions are right," said Mayor Houston. "We should offer a levy we can support."

Councilman Rollin Cantrall, chairman of the fire committee, said that anything less than the proposed $78,000 annually for the fire department would be inadequate to "give you the kind of protection you want." He refused to budge from the committee's recommendation on that amount, although he agreed to the paper revision to a 4-mill levy and a continued budgetary allowance.

Seven Convicts Free After Texas Daylight Break

MIDWAY, Tex., March 16 (UP)—Seven convicts, most of them long-term hijackers, were freed from the Forgasun prison farm near here late today in a daring daylight delivery engineered by two outside confederates.

The band split into at least two groups shortly after their escape and the highways of Texas were being blocked to intercept them. Highway patrol men believed that already they might have three of them surrounded in the heavy brush country near Buffalo, Tex., 40 miles north of here.

The two outsiders, by pretending to seek information, lured to their automobile one of the convicts watching 17 convicts at work on a new manager's house at the farm.

when the rescue people asked to be permitted to buy outright the mission property on Owens street for $400 for the two lots.

The council originally sold the lots: the mission at $10 each, with a restriction they could never be used for anything but a rescue mission. The mission people now want to buy the property, have the restriction removed, and use the lots for the storage of automobiles. They explained they will be able to pay off some debts and eventually will conduct a mission on the property.

The 8268-ton Tacoma was the supply ship for the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, destroyed off Montevideo by Adolf Hitler's orders after being defeated by British cruisers in December, 1939. The Tacoma has been here ever since.
