

LOCAL DEFENSE LEADERS MEET HERE MARCH 28

Arnold Gralapp, who heads the civilian defense training program, announced Thursday that an all-day session for defense leaders will be held at the high school here on March 28, beginning at 9 a. m., preliminary to a countywide training program.

A senior defense state instructor will be here for the meeting. All heads of local defense groups as well as those in the various communities in the county are being asked to attend. Persons who attend this session will then become instructors in their own groups or communities.

Gralapp explained that the defense training program is now laid out in such a way that training study in various courses is to be rewarded with the award of insignia.

For instance, messengers will take the following work:

- Basic subject, 22 hours.
- First aid, 10 hours.
- Fire defense, 1 hour.
- Gas defense, 2 hours.
- General course, 3 hours.
- Drill, 2 hours.

Courses in 16 divisions have been developed. After the hours have been earned, an insignia and federal recognition is given the defense worker.

Jap Supply Lines Weak, Says Chinese

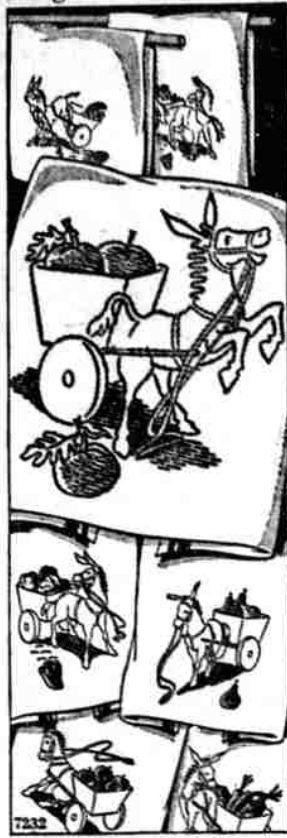

CHUNGKING, March 19 (AP)—An army spokesman said today that Japan had stretched her supply lines 5000 miles north and south from Manchukuo to Timor and 4000 miles east and west from Wake Island to Burma to a point where she was bound to encounter difficulties.

He said the Japanese already were beginning to feel the lack of adequate shipping to keep a war machine in action at these distances.

In order that funds might be raised to help defray the expenses of delegates to the annual Oregon State Junior chamber of commerce convention to be held in Portland May 1-2-3, the local in Portland group are sponsoring a dance at the Klamath Falls armory this coming Saturday, March 21. Emile Buzzaid and his orchestra will be featured in a spring sports dance with admission prices at $1.00 and ladies free.

The Klamath Jaycees have a very good chance to carry away top honors at the Portland meeting providing they can get a large enough delegation to attend and it is with this purpose in mind that they are having this dance. Last year this group missed the highest state award by only one tenth of one percent and all year they have done their best to make sure of its capture in 1942. In addition to the annual top award, five additional awards will be given in various activities.

Anyone wishing to buy their tickets in advance may do so by contacting any Junior chamber member or calling at the chamber of commerce office where a supply will be in hand. The local chapter thanked the public for their fine support in their efforts in the past year and any honors that they obtain in Portland have been brought about by the fine cooperation shown them by the public and the community at large.

Shaw Stationery CHILDREN ARE SMART

SHAW Stationery has been receiving new books right along as they come out. . . . And I must tell you about some of them that have captured my fancy:

The Chinese Today "Dragon Seed" by Pearl Buck, she of the deep insight into the character of China, is a powerful book of present times in the country which the Japs have tried for five years to subjugate. . . . Reading it, you realize what is wrong with newspaper stories of Jap atrocities at "the rape of Nanking" . . . The facts are there, but it takes Pearl Buck to make you understand the undaunted spirit of the Chinese people.

Imposter in Germany "The Scarlet Imposter" by Dennis Wheatley concerns a hero who works for the British secret service. . . . A devil-may-care imposter in the midst of Nazidom. . . . The story is based on the historic attempt to bomb Munich beer hall where Hitler was to speak, and is full of pursuits, escapes and treacheries. . . . And love interest, too.

Emil Ludwig "Bolivar" is the book that the Academia di Historia of Venezuela asked Emil Ludwig to write. . . . While it is authentically historical, the reader's attention is focused on the psychological disposition of Simon Bolivar, South America's most important and best-known historical figure.

Want to Laugh? "Past Imperfect" is a cock-eyed personal history written hilariously by Ilka Chase, Broadway stage star and radio celebrity. . . . Yes, it's about her imperfect past.

See Shaw's Shelves By the way, if you're in the mood to browse through books before you buy, Shaw's is an excellent place to do it.

Easter's Coming April 5th

Long's IF you're at a loss what to send to service men, here's a tip. . . . The good-luck charms I saw at Long's are awfully clever and they're so small they can be worn on his identification "dog" tag. There are scores of different kinds at Long's from one-half to three-quarters of an inch tall. . . . Picks, shovels, hearts, stirrups, saddles, hats, love jugs, lariats, chaps, horse shoes. . . . And lots more. They're sterling silver. . . . And he'll be sure to remember you. . . . For an outlay of only 75c to $1.00. . . . at Long's.

Garcelon's THIS week, at Garcelon's, I learned that pressure-type cookers are being sold in larger numbers than ever before. . . . Which may be due to the emphasis being placed on conserving vitamins. . . . Or maybe due to the fact that so many women are busy with Red Cross, first aid, ambulance work, etc., they need the time-saving characteristics of these cookers. The particular kind I fell for at Garcelon's is called the Presto Cooker. . . . It is 4-quart size, absolutely safe and very simple to operate. . . . Not like the big ones with all kinds of fancy gadgets. In this cooker you can cook pot roast in eight to 10 minutes. . . . Baked beans in 40 minutes. . . . And for fresh peas you just put 'em on and take 'em off, because peas cook in one-half to one minute! They're $12.95. . . . at Garcelon's.

I saw three police officers "flout" the law Monday. . . . When they drove a patrol car past a truck in the middle of the intersection at Ninth and Klamath.

Cal-Ore CAL-ORE will open again on Saturday. . . . Just a couple of days more. . . . And I know lots of people who won't forget the date. . . . March 21st. As usual, the regular 55c per person door charge goes on at 9 p. m. . . . And at the same time Sam Herman and his 6-piece band start to play.

CHILDREN ARE SMART

This story is about Raymond, aged 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bell:

RAYMOND: Daddy's going to be called to the war soon. LADY: Oh, I don't think so. Not when he has two little boys like you and your brother.

RAYMOND: We won't keep him out of the war. Why, they're even taking MARRIED men now.

Three-year-old Lane, according to his mother, Mrs. Cal Early, has yet to learn what to do with gum. Here are two instances:

MRS. EARLY: You didn't swallow that gum, did you? LANE: Yes. MRS. EARLY: Why did you do it? LANE: Well, I chewed it up.

JEANIE WRIGHT: Where's that gum I gave you? LANE: I laid it in my stomach.

Spring BEGINS FRIDAY March 20th

Curry's

ANOTHER shipment. . . . And the latest available. . . . Of those lovely Chantilly lace handkerchiefs and Chantilly perfume in one box arrived Tuesday at Curry's. . . . You may remember these specials, because Curry's has had two previous shipments and they sold like hot cakes.

In case you don't remember. . . . The special was put out by Houbigant to introduce the exquisite new Chantilly perfume. . . . The carton received Tuesday is the last of the special. Called "Beau Charmers," these cute little boxes trimmed with pink bows contain a darling handkerchief of Chantilly lace and a two-dram bottle of perfume (about $2.00 worth). . . . But the combination sells for only $1.50, because it's an introductory offer.

The government luxury tax is extra, of course. Now here's an ideal Easter gift. . . . Not very expensive, and yet worth about twice as much as it costs. . . . I think Chantilly fragrance is by far Houbigant's best, while the hanky is the kind of exquisite fragility that women like to carry so people will see it.

They told me at Curry's that the two other shipments sold so fast they don't expect this one to last long. . . . And this time there aren't any more. . . . So don't wait too long before going in to Curry's and asking to see the Chantilly "Beau Charmers". . . . (Several people have asked for them recently).

There are other items in the Chantilly line, too. . . . Cologne, toilet water, dusting powder, sachet, etc. . . . Very nice indeed.

At Curry's. Initial pins for your handbag or suit lapel are the latest thing. . . . Long's has them for $1.25. . . . And, since they're metal, can't get any more when these are gone.

Long's ANY gal looking for something brand new and different in the way of costume jewelry should drop in at Long's. . . . And ask to see the Satinore line manufactured by Richelleu.

Sheeny, satiny and warmly alive. . . . The necklaces and bracelets are so light you don't know they're on. . . . Because they're made of nylon. . . . And there are clips and earrings to match.

You'll find white and pastel shades to blend with any costume. . . . And make you look more softly feminine, which is the fashion these days.

At Long's. A tire store downtown used to display a large sign reading, "Tire Headquarters". . . . The sign is there still, but now it says, "Tire Information Headquarters."
