

Defense Is Theme Of Program Hour

Soroptimists Ship Tea to English Clubs; Seeds To Honolulu Club

The meeting of the Soroptimist club of Thursday, March the nineteenth, at the Willard hotel was given over to the theme of defense, with group singing of the international anthem, "There'll Always Be An England," "God Bless America" and other songs appropriate to the occasion. Questionnaires were picked up from the members giving a list of defense work undertaken or accomplished by each.

Beular Ray entertained the group by reading ten commandments for present day usage, the first being "Thou shalt keep thy mouth shut."

Under the direction of Clara Shaw, sixteen pounds of tea have been shipped to the Brighton and Hove club in England, and under the direction of Rita Whisenant a plentiful supply of root vegetable seeds will shortly be under way to the Soroptimist club of Honolulu.

Mrs. Sophie Kenoffel was welcomed home after a vacation in San Diego. While there she learned of a project being carried out by the Soroptimist club of that city, which conducts a room with beds for five girls who may have reached San Diego in search of work, become stranded from lack of funds. They are cared for until ways and means are found to send them to their homes.

Guest artist at the Soroptimist club Thursday noon, March twelfth, was Miss Lola Marie Whisenant, whose young voice delighted her audience as she sang "White Cliffs of Dover" and "I Love America," dedicated to her friend, Denny J. Rees, wounded and in the Philippines with the forces of General MacArthur. Also welcomed by the club was Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt who accompanied. On Tuesday night Lola Marie sang for the Venture club, choosing as her numbers "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "My Buddy."

Mrs. Gertrude Moore, a recent addition to the club, was initiated and presented with a lovely corsage of blue for get-me-nots and yellow rosebuds.

A most interesting account of a pleasant vacation was given by Mrs. Olive Cornett who was welcomed back to the club after a protracted tour through the southwest. Mrs. Cornett took her audience with her through the pleasant valleys of California, across the deserts of Arizona and Nevada and through the Carlsbad caverns where they were disappointed not to have been greeted by the million bats which at certain seasons of the year fly in clouds from the caverns.

Another disappointment was not being able to see the completed Boulder dam. Senator and Mrs. Cornett had visited this marvel of engineers' skill while it was under construction and it had been their hope to see it in operation. However, Mrs. Cornett amused her audience by her account of being conducted from the Arizona side of the dam to the Nevada side with jeeps in front of them and jeeps to the rear of them. Among other interesting things the Cornetts enjoyed rodeos, one under the showmanship of Gene Autrey, the other at Tucson.

An interesting call comes from the British Soroptimist asking for copies of that magazine for March, April, June, October and November of 1930 and for January, 1931, in order to fulfill a request from the librarian of congress at Washington, D. C., who desires to complete files. It is a source of gratification to American Soroptimists that the library is making a place for their overseas sister publication.

Also of interest was an article appearing in the British Soroptimist entitled "Gold and Blue," dated from Coventry, the city of mass murder by the Germans. The writer, Miss V. Stirling, has made every Soroptimist on this side of the Atlantic feel that the international convention is but postponed, not abandoned.

The Coventry club rejoices in the appointment of their president as justice of the peace, intimating that they expect to be let off lightly for such misdemeanors as chimneys affire, black-out unobserved, cycling without a rear light, and letting Bonzo out without his collar.

It is with a feeling of amazement that members here read of the generosity of these clubs which must be hard pressed under such conditions as exist in England, the club of Bolton having sent about one hundred dollars to the Russian Red Cross fund, eighty dollars to the National Children's Home, provided mid-day meals for school children and adults, and distributed chocolate sent by Mary Lewis of Washington, D. C.

Guest at Thursday's luncheon was Mrs. Joe Alweist, sister of Mrs. Sophie Kenoffel.
