

FOURTH DRAFT REGISTRATION PLACES GIVEN

Anticipating approximately one-and-a-half times the number of men signed up in the third registration, county officials Tuesday completed plans for the fourth registration which will last from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., Monday, April 27. Registrants will include all men who have reached their 45th birthday on or before February 16, 1942, and have not reached their 65th birthday on April 27. Men who were 45 years old or over on February 16 are not liable for military service.

In releasing the list of registration places, officials pointed out that men may register at the place which is most convenient for them, and need not necessarily register in their own vicinity. Men who are out of town on business may register at the closest place, giving their home and mailing address.

In general charge of the registration in Klamath county is Mrs. Mae K. Short, county clerk. Registration places and workers are:

Schedule Given for Talks By Scroggies This Week

Monday night Mrs. F. John Scroggie addressed the Business and Professional Women's club at the dinner in the Willard hotel, speaking on "The Women in the World Crisis." Tuesday Dr. Scroggie was scheduled to address the boys of the Klamath Union high school on "Preparation for War." On Thursday he will address the Kiwanis club on "The New World Order." On Thursday at 2:30 in the afternoon Mrs. Scroggie will speak in the First Presbyterian church on "The Forces of Evil and the Fortress of England." This address, as already announced, will be followed by the tea that the women of the congregation are holding in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Scroggie. To this the women of the churches as well as all women interested are most cordially invited.

Meetings will be held every afternoon at 2:30 and every evening at 8 o'clock in the Presbyterian church. Dr. Scroggie's afternoon series deals with "The Oracles of God, Revelation, Direction, Instruction and Inspiration." Four addresses are to be condensed into three. Tuesday evening Dr. Scroggie was to address the young people at a potluck dinner in the dining room of the church, while Mrs. Scroggie was to speak at the 8 o'clock hour on "A Startling Enquiry."

It was announced Monday that the closing address of Dr. Scroggie Friday evening would be an answer to the question, "Is This Armageddon?" At that time an offering will be received for the distinguished speaker. On Wednesday evening he will speak on "Human Responsibility" and on Thursday at the same time, "The Local and the Infinite."

Monday night's sermon was a powerful address on "The Divine Pathway," based on Isaiah 30:21. "Thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, this is the way, walk ye in it; when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left hand."

He said in part: "This is an exhortation to take the highway rather than the by way, or any secondary way, in spiritual things. In the Bible are 66 books, 29 in the Old Testament and 37 in the New. Likewise there are two divisions in Isaiah which contains just 66 chapters. The first division of 39 chapters deals with judgment and the law; the second of 27 chapters with grace, with Isaiah 53rd. chapter in the very heart of it, the chapter that deals supremely with the grace of God."

"There is a triple message in the text: The program of life. This is the way. The purpose of life. 'Walk ye in it.' The peril of life. Turn not to the right or to the left. God has a plan for your life. It is on His highway. If you get off the way, get back on the highway and fulfill his purpose. In the program of God we have travelled far. The primeval period is gone. The patriarchal period is gone. The period of Israelitish period is gone. The history of the cross, and the present period of the history of the church are nearing the end, while the last period of the history of the consummation is at hand.

"The peril, as we approach the end of the church period is that we turn either to the right hand or the left hand and miss the great highway of God's purpose and plan for our lives."

Dr. Smith of the First Presbyterian church says, "The people of Klamath Falls have a rare opportunity in hearing one of the greatest thinkers and expositors of the world. They should realize that his stay with us is very brief and avail themselves of every service to hear him."

Dr. and Mrs. John F. Scroggie, distinguished speakers from England who are appearing at the Presbyterian church in a daily series of talks this week. Both are also scheduled to address other organizations during their stay here.

MEN SOUGHT FOR CARPENTER CLASS

Carpentry classes sponsored by the vocational education department of Klamath Union high school have been "cleaned out" as the result of a call for carpenters issued by Japanese reception center contractors, it was learned from Albert Fitch, director.

Fitch called for men Tuesday in order that a new class in carpentry could be started immediately at the national defense school. Interested persons are asked to report to the carpentry shop at 6 p. m.

An urgent call was also received by the department from Boeing aircraft at Seattle asking for all trainees with over 90 hours to report for defense work at once.

Fitch will leave for Salem to attend a meeting of all coordinators to be held Thursday morning, Superintendent Arnold Gralapp reported.

At Monday night's meeting of the elementary and high school boards it was announced that 500 men have gone through the vocational department and of that number 320 have been placed in defense projects. Aviation sheet metal, 151, all with various aircraft companies on the Pacific coast; carpentry, 66, various cantonment jobs including Pearl Harbor defense works; machine shop, 16, defense operations in San Francisco, Portland and Los Angeles; radio, 15, Boeing in Seattle and Lockheed in Burbank, Calif.; welding, 72, various defense projects on the Pacific coast and Pearl Harbor. The vocational department has been awarded an additional $17,674, this appropriation to be expended before July 1, 1942, to expand the welding, general sheet metal and machine shop equipment.

Geary-for-Senator Club Meets Tonight

The Geary-for-Senator club of Klamath Falls will meet at the courthouse at 8 p. m. this (Tuesday) evening.

All persons interested in Geary's candidacy were urged to attend by Leslie Rogers, head of the club. Geary, a Portland attorney with Klamath farm interests, is opposing Senator L. McNary for the republican nomination.

With a staff composed largely of his aides who were in the Philippines, he also highlighted the attention he is devoting to that sector of his command by announcing that Japanese artillery firing upon Corregidor fortress in Manila bay was abating.

The big American guns firing from the island had registered telling hits upon enemy troops, his communique said, and enemy shelling and bombing was having negligible effect.

Schools Considering Plan to Coordinate Athletic Program

ence in accordance with his request, Gralapp stated.

All coaching assignments will be made following the action of the board on the coordinator system, a system similar to that recently approved by the boards in the music fields of both school programs.

Teachers appeared before the board Monday night and presented a proposed high school salary schedule and the board asked for more time to study the schedule, which, if accepted, would become effective during the school year 1942-43 and thereafter.

A number of changes in past procedures were approved by the board including the change in the opening of the school year which was upped Monday night to August 31. Superintendent Gralapp pointed out that by opening the schools one week earlier it would be possible to permit students to work in the harvest fields later in the fall if necessary. It is understood that action of the city boards follows that of the county.

All teachers in the high school system were allowed the third payment of an increment allotted them.

Action on appointment of new administrative assistants in the high school was also postponed until the next meeting of the board.

Members of the budget committee to serve with the high school board will be those who have previously served, K. G. Klahn, Dr. A. O. Roenicke, W. A. Constans and A. G. Morrison. A meeting will be called within the next 10 days at which time Gralapp and the board will work out a schedule to be presented to the budget committee. The budget must be cleared before the opening of the next budget year, July 1, 1942.

Members of the board approved the idea of year-around use of buildings and equipment and especially cooperating with the summer recreational program through use of the shop and gymnasium. David S. Bridge, city recreational officer, will work this out with the superintendent's office, it was stated. It is possible that Mills' recreational center and the high school will be the two centers available during the coming year.

Lutheran Ladies' Aid to Celebrate Anniversary Tonight

The fifth anniversary of the Klamath Lutheran Ladies' Aid will be celebrated tonight at the church, opening with a potluck dinner beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Excellent and appropriate music will be provided by Mrs. Carl Brandness, accompanist, Mrs. Dick Reeder, soloist, and Mrs. Lewis Hornsby, violinist.

Recognition of charter members and first officers, talks and toasts will be the order of the evening. The meeting will close with devotion and the benediction.

Frank Lowell Lists His Objectives in Statement

Frank Lowell, candidate for the democratic nomination for county commissioner, declared Tuesday he favors a "conservative, business-like, economical administration" of county affairs.

In his campaign statement, Lowell said: "TO THE VOTERS OF KLAMATH COUNTY:

I have entered the primary election contest for the democratic nomination for county commissioner and earnestly solicit the support and votes of those who wish to have a conservative, business-like, and economical administration of county affairs.

The conduct of the war is requiring the expenditure of huge sums of money and will continue to cost huge sums until victory has been achieved. Taxpayers, for the most part, realize the necessity for these expenditures and are willing and glad to pay. But it is not right to require the taxpayer, who is already carrying this heavy federal tax burden, to be further weighted down by unbusiness-like and wasteful local government.

If I am elected commissioner of Klamath county I pledge myself to do everything in my power to limit county expenditures to bare necessities during this war emergency.

I will not charge one cent of mileage for traveling to and from the courthouse, and I will stop such wasteful practices in other quarters whenever I can legally do so.

As many of you know, I am associated with the Klamath Packing company, and I am proud of the success I have made in that business. If elected county commissioner, I will apply similar business methods to my conduct of county affairs and can reasonably expect the people of Klamath county to profit thereby.

I have lived among you here in Klamath county for years, and my record as a citizen is open for your inspection. FRANK LOWELL, Candidate for the democratic nomination for County Commissioner.

First Aid Squads Praised After Practice and Review

Members of the first aid squads in this area came in for praise in a review of Friday night's practice held by George Myers, member of the Klamath county civilian defense council.

The practice, which was held without advance warning, was conducted to determine the efficiency of the organization which has been built up by the Klamath county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Reports showed that the performance was satisfactory, said Myers, who transmitted the theoretical warning signal to members of the Red Cross committee at 8:15 p. m. Friday.

The committee, including Chairman Dwight Gilchrist, Vern Owens, Henry Perkins, Otto Smith and A. L. Mean, reported to the Red Cross office in the armory and called workers to take their stations. All teams were reported assembled within 10 to 25 minutes after the yellow alert signal was given, which was considered a good indication that the first aid units will be ready for action before an air raid blackout signal is given.

The sincerity of the workers was pointed out in reports that one woman left her place as hostess at a dinner party, several were routed out of bed, three were known to have been in the bathtub when called and one appeared with a towel wrapped around a partially completed shampoo. Dr. Peter Rozendal was called from a meeting of the county health association to give technical advice.

Five of the teams in Zones C and E were given actual problems, with Larry Klahn, Mead

Badger, David Mocabee, Dan Mocabee and Billy Radcliffe as volunteer "victims," who were instructed in advance on the nature of their "injuries."

Upon reaching the scene, the teams rendered first aid to the "victims" in accordance with the indicated injuries and dispatched them to the armory in truck ambulances. There Dr. Rozendal reviewed the work and offered constructive criticism to the participants.

The truck ambulances were provided by the civilian defense transportation committee in charge of C. H. Foster. The trucks were loaned by local merchants registered with the council and driven by volunteer drivers who normally operate the trucks. The ambulance crews consisted of Boy Scouts who have received ambulance drill under the direction of Bob Glennon and Hugh Kaftan. The boys were assisted by Tom Scharfenstein, Eagle Scout and trained first aider.

The truck ambulances and drivers were available within 10 minutes after the call and a fourth truck reported five minutes after being called.

JULY 18 DATE SET FOR MEET OF ANTELOPERS

The Order of the Antelope will gather at the famed Blue Sky hotel on Hart mountain in Lake county on July 18, it was announced Tuesday by Marshall Cornett, Klamath Falls, chief white tail of the unique organization.

Cornett attended a meeting of the Lake county chamber of commerce at Lakeview Monday, when dates were set and other plans made. It was unanimously decided to go ahead with the high desert convention, after reports from many communities indicated general desire to attend despite war, fire and auto problems.

Plans for special entertainment and outstanding speakers were shaped at the meeting Monday. These will be announced as soon as confirmed.

The date of July was finally determined upon after it was learned it would not conflict with the annual meeting of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association, which is set for June 18.

Jean Branson, manager of the huge Hart mountain game refuge for the fish and wildlife service, attended the Lakeview meeting. He said the later date would be ideal this year, because the season is just about a month late on the mountain.

Branson said that more than 50 inches of snow were measured on snow courses on Hart mountain this winter. It was a windy winter, he said, with howling gales beating around his snug headquarters at the top of the Hart mountain grade at the old Lyons ranch.

Burns and Klamath Falls were represented at the Lakeview meeting, called by Forrest Cooper, secretary of the Lake chamber and grand secretary of the Antelope order.
