

They're Moving 'Round the Mountain

Uncle Sam's mountain troops, a breed of hardy, specialized soldiers, shoulder skis for drill at their winter training camp on snowy Mount Rainier, Wash. The men not only learn to travel on skis while carrying a 50-pound pack, but they also discover how to eat, sleep and cook beneath the snow in caverns of their own carving. Only 30 per cent of the personnel ever set foot on skis before. Motorized toboggans are also used for transport.

U of O Grid Helm Taken By Warren

Frosh Mentor Named to Succeed Corley, Oliver
EUGENE, Ore., April 21 (AP)—John Warren, a local boy who made good, today took over the job of coaching the University of Oregon football squad.

His tenure, the Oregon athletic board hopes, will be longer than the last mentor's, which was 98 hours.
The last one was Vaughn Corley, Oregon line coach, who was elevated when Head Coach Gerald "Tex" Oliver was commissioned in the navy, but who resigned within a few days to accept a navy commission himself.

Warren is a safer bet to stick around. He tried to enlist, but the navy turned him down because of his avoirdupois.
That is considered a break for Oregon football. Warren, an Oregon graduate who made an impressive record coaching an Oregon high school and the university freshmen, was selected by the athletic board last night from a string of candidates including Jim Thorpe, famed Indian athlete, and Claude "Tiny" Thornhill, former Stanford coach.

Warren was seven years at Astoria, Ore., high school, and his football teams there won 58 of 70 games, going undefeated in three seasons. In seven years as freshman coach here, his teams have won 18, lost 10 and tied 3.

Warren, incidentally, has an even more impressive record at basketball, and at the rate coaches are going off to the armed forces, his hoop knowledge might come in handy. His Astoria basketball teams won 304 of 340 games and his Oregon frosh teams 93 of 111 games.

The football team's spring practice, interrupted by the rapid change of coaches, was resumed today at Warren's call.

Billy Marcus-Pete Belcastro Match, Commission - Ordered, Tops Armory Program Tonight

Winner Takes All of Main Event Purse

"Insisted" upon by the august Klamath Falls Boxing and Wrestling commission—much to the delight of both fans and ticket office—the mat battle of April, 1942, between Belligerent Billy Marcus and Pulverizin' Pete Belcastro, makes its combined debut and farewell tonight in the haze-blue confines of the Klamath armory.

A surpassing house is expected to bulge the brick walls to witness the final solution of a mix which began and ended before it began last week when Marcus is reported to have attacked and severely mauled the Weed Italian before the opening bell.

The swarthy Californian was expelled by the grapple group for his conduct and his pay held up, then cancelled. The commission did an about-face a day or two later, however, and "insisted" that the match go on this week, according to Promoter Meek Lillard.

It'll be a winner-take-all ladies' night grapple which Lillard foresees as a sell-out or more. Grappler Jim Casey, husky Irishman, will referee to see that no duplicate of last week's fiasco is staged. Ringsiders believe that a bigger man than Regular Referee Earl Yoakley could have prevented Marcus from nearly maiming Belcastro.

Tonight's card will also have the added attraction of Sockeye Jack McDonald, popular matman who has a host of friends and followers in the Klamath area. The ex-logger will collide with Tug Carlson, huge Swede whose exceptional strength offsets his tendency toward the cumbersome.

The rough and tough McDonald hasn't wrestled here in over two years but is reputed to be the same old Sockeye who was tremendously popular then.

Pedro Brazil, handsome, greying South American champion, will appear on the opener against Broccoli Bob Kruse, the barefoot wristlock devotee. Gong time is 8:30.

Schwarzenbach Again Takes Silver Belt Ski

NORDEN, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Maneuvering the twisting mile and one-quarter slalom course on Mount Lincoln in one minute and 22 seconds, Chris Schwarzenbach, 23, Pasadena, Calif., won the men's division in the Silver Belt ski race for the second straight year Sunday.

He was one of the few contestants to finish the run without a fall.
Bob Blatt, Stanford university, was second, in one minute, 24 3/10 seconds. Bill Cuthbert, Yosemite valley, was third. The 1941 national open slalom champion, Dick Durrance, Alta, Utah, finished sixth after a bad fall early in the race.

The women's division honors were won by Miss Kaki Henck, Berkeley, Calif., in two minutes, 20 seconds. Mrs. Dick Durrance, Alta, Utah, was second in two minutes, 24 3/10 seconds. Marcelle Barkley, Lake Tahoe, was third.

TULSA, Okla., April 21 (AP)—Jimmie Nesbit, nationally known bronco buster from Nowata, Okla., is heading for his biggest round-up. Nesbit, 26, winner of about 30 major championships, enlisted in the navy.

UCLA Track Team Drubs Cards, 71-60

PALO ALTO, CALIF., April 21 (UP)—University of California at Los Angeles administered a 71-60 drubbing to the Stanford track and field squad Monday, giving the Bruins their first Pacific Coast conference victory of the season and dropping the once-powerful Cardinals to last place in southern division standings.

UCLA racked up eight first places and tied for first in the 100-yard dash, where John Silva, Stanford, and Hubert Duke, UCLA, ended in a dead heat at 10 flat.

The Bruins recorded their major strength in the distance events and weights. The outstanding individual performance of the day was turned in by Mode Perry of UCLA, who won the mile run in 5:29.8, came back to take the 880-yard run in 2:00.2, and led off the Bruins' winning mile relay team.

Montgomery Whips Mexican Joe Peralta

PHILADELPHIA, April 21 (UP)—Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia's negro lightweight title contender won a 10-round decision over Joe Peralta, flashy Mexican, Monday night in a bout devoid of action.

Montgomery took the nod with ease, but failed to display any of his usual slashing attack against an opponent who edged him slightly in boxing skill. Peralta was given two rounds and two were termed even.

The Philadelphian was in trouble in the first round until he solved Peralta's boxing stance and moved in close for a body attack which slowed the Mexican in the second and third stanzas.

Cascade Gal Skiers Win Hood Combined

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore., April 21 (AP)—The Cascade Ski club of Portland won the Oregon women's downhill and slalom championships on Mount Hood Sunday with Bobbie Frank, Portland, taking the combined Class B title and Becky Simmons, Linfield co-ed, capturing the Class C crown.

Florence Mann of the Blue Mountain Ski club, Walla Walla, Wash., was runner up in Class B. Bertha Woods, Eugene, Santiam Associated Women Skiers, tied Miss Simmons in the Class C slalom.

Major league baseball became exactly one week old Monday and the date—April 20—may be especially significant because the Brooklyn Dodgers, champions of the National league, took over sole possession of first place in their circuit for the first time since they began defense of their 1941 title.

The Dodgers clouted three Boston pitchers for 11 hits, including Dolph Camilli's first-inning homer to rack up an easy 9-2 victory over the Braves at Ebbets field. Tom Earley was the Boston pitcher soaked by Camilli's clout and when he gave up three more in the third, he was yanked.

Camilli

Two lefthanders, Warren Spahn and Lou Tost, finished. Kirby Higbe pitched all the way to record his first triumph of the year for the Dodgers.

The Chicago Cubs exploded a six-run seventh-inning hit attack on Max Butcher and Hank Gornicki during a wild eighth inning at Pittsburgh and knocked the Pirates out of a tie for the top spot with an 8-2 decision.

Alban Glossop, former New York Giants' second baseman, cracked a home run with the bases loaded in the fourth to give the Philadelphia Phils a 6-3 victory over his former teammates at the polo grounds.

Washington cut loose with a 15-hit attack against the Boston Red Sox—the American league's hottest club—to score a 10-4 triumph behind Jack Wilson's five-hit pitching. Three of the hits off Wilson, former Red Sox righthander, were scratch safeties while the other was a homer by Rookie Catcher Bill Conroy.

Veteran Al Smith became the first Cleveland pitcher other than Jim Bagby to win a game when he pitched the Indians to a six-hit, 4-3 win over the St. Louis Browns.

Harry Sketchley's first-inning double scored two runs and enough for the White Sox to trim the Detroit Tigers, 3-1 at Chicago. Detroit scored their only run in the eighth on Eric McNair's double, an infield out and an outfield fly.

Cincinnati and St. Louis in the National league were unscheduled, while New York at Philadelphia in the American league was postponed because of the weather.

Standings in PCL Result Of Shutouts

By The Associated Press

Whether or not, as baseball tradition prescribes, Coast league pitchers are saving their Sunday curves for the second swing around the loop, they have served their employers well so far this season.

In the past two weeks, 49 games have been played, and of these 13, or more than a quarter, have ended in shutouts for the losing team. In ten others, the losers were limited to a single run.

There seems to be a rough relationship between the pitching excellence of the league's various members and their relative fortunes to date.

While this scarcely ranks as a startling observation, it can be noted that Oakland goose-egged Portland four times in six tries last week and achieved the league lead. The previous week the Oaks registered one shutout and one near-shutout.

Supreme elbowing, as well, has been that of the Seattle Rainiers. Since the loop settled down to business, they have turned in three whitewashings and three other victories in which the opposition scored but once. Hal Turpin's no-hitter of a week ago, of course, was the highlight, but every front-line member of the veteran Seattle mound dept. has taken a hand in the showing. At present, the Rainiers stand second.

Conversely, Portland and Sacramento, the last and next-to-last place teams respectively, have no shutouts to their credit, and San Diego, standing in sixth place, has only one.

If present trends continue, something magnificent should come from the mound at Seattle this week. Oakland moves in there tomorrow night to help the Rainiers open their home season, and 1-0, extra inning games might well become commonplace between then and Sunday. The league lead is very definitely at stake.

Portland fans likewise get the first glimpse of their outfit this week. The Beavers, with less distance to travel than Seattle, will appear against Hollywood tonight and nightly until Sunday.

In the south Los Angeles entertains Sacramento and San Francisco is host to San Diego. These series also open with games tonight.

Mrs. Warburton's attorney, Gail B. Selig, told Superior Judge William S. Baird that Warburton had agreed to pay his wife $100 a month temporary support pending trial of the suit.

Ted Williams Hopes He'll Slug Over .400 Again

NEW YORK, April 21 (UP)—Ted Williams, bubbling over with good humor because of the baseball public's friendly attitude toward him in the early games, confessed Saturday he hoped to duplicate his feat of last season and again bat over .400.

And Williams isn't wasting any time shooting for his goal. In the first five Red Sox games, including Saturday's he's batting a net .529.

Frankly worried this spring about the public's reaction to his reclassification from 1-A to 3-A in the army draft, Williams has had a great load taken off his mind by the way the fans received him.

Antelope Tags To Be Drawn In California

SACRAMENTO, April 21 (UP)—The California Fish and Game commission closed its books at midnight last night on applications for antelope hunting permits and announced that more than 2500 sportsmen had applied for the 500 permits available.

The open season on antelope, the first in many years, will run from May 26 to June 14 in accordance with a law passed by the 1941 legislature. Aerial surveys show herds of 4000 to 5000 animals are present, chiefly in Lassen and Modoc counties.

A drawing will be held here Wednesday to choose the 500 hunters who will receive permits. Several hundred alternates also will be chosen to fill in gaps left by winners who fail to post a $5 fee and show a valid hunting license.

Each qualified hunter will be allowed one antelope buck.
