

Restrictions on Farm Construction Henderson's Topic

By C. A. HENDERSON
County Agricultural Agent

Recent orders issued from Washington indicate that farm building will be severely restricted. The new order requires: (1) that any new construction must be essential to meet agricultural production goals on the farm; (2) that the intended construction must be consistent with sound agricultural practices; (3) that the use of scarce materials and equipment must be reduced to a minimum; (4) to the largest extent local labor will be utilized in the construction without interference with labor essential to war industries.

Special war production board authorization is necessary before construction can be started for any 12 months period, with the following exceptions: (1) farm residences costing less than $500; (2) farm buildings, fences, irrigation and drainage structures costing less than $1000; (3) storage, processing, marketing or other off-farm facilities for farm products costing less than $5000.

For all other farm construction, applications must be made through the county USDA war board, except of course that any construction started prior to April 9 or ordinary maintenance and repair work or reconstruction of residences destroyed by fire or other accidents after December 31, 1941, may be done without making application. Necessary forms and instructions are now in the hands of the secretary of the USDA war board, C. A. Henderson, at the county agent's office, 213 Federal building.

In many cases, farmers wishing to purchase materials for exempted construction from dealers find that dealers are reluctant to sell such materials because they lack information of the order or other causes. In cases of this kind, the following statement should be attached by the applicant: "I am familiar with the provisions of conservation order L-41. Material will not be used in connection with restricted construction."

Order L-41 of course is the war board's application for project rating and is available at the county agent's office in the Federal building. It should be kept in mind that the statement given above should be used only in securing of materials to cover construction started before April 9, materials for repair and maintenance, farm dwellings costing less than $500, and other farm construction costing less than $1000, the latter being production construction, for any 12 months period.

SCHOLARSHIP LIST NAMED BY COMMITTEE

Winners of scholarships to 4-H summer school sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and company and Safeway stores, granges, parent teacher associations, and Klamath county, were selected by the 4-H scholarship committee.

These scholarships are for the 4-H club summer school to be held June 2 to 12 on the Oregon State college campus. These boys and girls will join the others from Klamath county at the Southern Pacific depot at 10:30 Tuesday morning.

Sears, Roebuck and company awarded five complete scholarships, paying board, room, tuition and railway fare. Club members winning these were Erlene Brown of Bonanza, David Brader of Chemult, Joyce Blehn of Pelican City, Clara Wallis of Bly, and Mary Pat Monks of Chiloquin.

The two complete Safeway scholarships, paying board, room, tuition and railway fare, went to Anna Cacka of Malin and Arthur Liebhardt of Altamont.

Complete scholarships provided by the county court were awarded to Virginia Welker of Algoma, James Wampler of Fort Klamath, Lucille Keady of Henley, and Winifred Fayne of Merrill.

The Fairhaven Parent-Teachers association has awarded two complete scholarships to Marian Schieferstein and Roger Mann, both of the Fairhaven community.

The Malin grange has awarded a complete scholarship to Madeline Schreiner of Malin, and the Midland grange provided a complete scholarship to Maxine Quimby of Midland.

The Pomona grange has awarded a scholarship paying board, room and tuition at summer school, to Margaret Noble of Henley, and the Shasta Valley grange has provided a one-half scholarship to summer school to Eva Jean Anderson and John McClellan of Altamont, according to Clifford Jenkins, county club agent.

Beauty Studio

More and more girls are getting those short haircuts. And in this kind of weather they really are enjoying the coolness and ease of dressing which the razor haircuts bring.

Fern Short, who owns the Studio of Beauty on Whyal's mezzanine, tells me that almost everyone who has a razor hair cut needs a new permanent too . . . Unless the permanent is very recent or the gal has naturally curly hair.

But you needn't worry about the cost . . . Because Fern doesn't charge anything for a razor cut if the permanent costs $5.00 or more.

And by the way . . . This is the season when facials become almost a necessity in this country . . . If you're going to look right.

Which reminds me that Ruby Engel, who is now with the Studio of Beauty, simply LOVES to give facials . . . (Possibly because she's so good at them!)

And you'll love the results of the Honey Scrub pack, which is perfect for now . . . As it cleans out soiled pores, removes blackheads, and softens the skin so little sunshines don't appear so quickly.

For an appointment at the Studio, call 7151.

LOUIE POLIN'S FLOWERS

A flower shop that is open from six in the morning until midnight every day including Sunday is a great convenience . . . Which is one of the reasons I appreciate Louie Polin's Flower Shop . . . And by the way, don't forget you will find beautiful Memorial Day flowers there . . . 7th and Main . . . Phone 8865.

Currin's

HERE'S a special I've been waiting for for two months . . . The half price sale on Tussy Deodorant Cream, which comes every year at this time.

It's at Currin's of course, because that's the only place where you can get Tussy products.

If you've bought Tussy Deodorant Cream before this, you know how wonderful it is, but if you haven't, here's some dope: It has a nice, light Tropical Spice fragrance . . . It's a soft cream that disappears quickly into the skin . . . There's no waiting for it to dry and no necessity for rinsing it off . . . It doesn't leave you feeling sticky, but fresh and dainty . . . Does not irritate and is perfectly safe for the average skin . . . And it won't stain or rot your clothes unless you're careless in applying it and leave a lot on.

AND . . . It DOES check perspiration and banish underarm odors.

I notice that the directions say it should be used every one to three days . . . But I never take a chance . . . I use it every single morning . . . Because, after all, there's no need to run the risk of offending, or of ruining your clothes, when Tussy Cream Deodorant is so simple to use.

By the way, the half price sale doesn't start until Saturday . . . I thought I could get under the tape and buy a jar or so Wednesday when I was in Currin's . . . But no . . . I have to wait until Saturday myself.

And you can be sure I'll buy enough to last me for months . . . And try to time the supply to last until the next half-price sale . . . Because when you can buy $1.00 jars for only 50c each, you're really saving money.

Incidentally, why not get an extra jar for the menfolks . . . Because men are becoming fastidious too, and they like the Tropical Spice fragrance of Tussy Deodorant Cream on themselves.

Remember . . . The half-price deal starts Saturday . . . At Currin's.

Weekly Market Trends

(Editor's Note: The following market information is supplied from material obtained from the government leased wire in the office of the extension economist at Oregon State college. The material, in the form of a weekly summary of trends in the livestock market, is not intended to replace spot day by day market reports.)

CATTLE MARKETS

The cattle market at North Portland was generally steady on Monday, following a week in which slight gains were shown on fed stuff, but some reduction was taken on dairy-type cows. With 2100 head of cattle available for local sale Monday, medium to good fed steers sold at $11.25 to $12.65, according to grade. The extreme top last week for one load of 1100-pound fed steers was $13.10. At San Francisco fed Idaho steers brought up to $13.25, while at Chicago the market eased off about 25 cents to an extreme top of $15.50 for heavy weight steers.

Both cattle and sheep are in below average condition in the range country, cattle having shown a further slight decline during April. The present condition of ranges is the lowest for May since 1939, while the carry-over of hay is considerably less than last year and in some localities is almost entirely depleted. Winter death losses of livestock were about average, but losses of calves this spring were comparatively heavy in some districts. A sharp improvement in ranges is expected with the coming warmer weather, as moisture supplies are generally favorable. East of the continental divide forage is also late, but there too moisture conditions are good.

SHEEP AND LAMB MARKETS

Only 1000 head of sheep and lambs were offered locally at North Portland Monday, resulting in active trading at strong prices. Good to choice spring lambs sold for $13 to $13.25, with a few loads even bringing $13.50. Medium to good grassy shorn old-crop lambs sold at $10.25. At San Francisco the best price reported was $13, while at both Chicago and Omaha prices were slightly higher than at last week's close. Top prices of $15.25 and $15 were reported respectively.

Lamb and mutton are still exempt from the recent price control order. Prices last week held at about the recent peak of $13.50 in the Portland area. Lambs have made rather favorable progress in April, despite a poor start in cold, wet weather. On May 1 early lambs were in average to better condition in all areas except in the northwest. Marketings of early lambs from California and Arizona were somewhat larger in April than the year previous and the quality of the lambs better. May marketings from these areas are expected to be smaller, however.

HOG MARKETS

High prices still prevailed for hogs on the North Portland market Monday, when 2000 head were offered for local sale. Good to choice drive-ins sold at mostly $14.25 to $14.40, up about 25 cents from last week's close. Good to choice feeder pigs brought $12.50 to $13.50. San Francisco reported slightly lower prices but, even so, the top was $14.85. A slight weakening of prices was noted in Chicago, where the top price was $14.15.

The hog market in particular, and other meat markets in general have been somewhat affected by the uncertainty in connection with ceiling prices. While these do not directly apply to prices paid producers, the ceilings on processed pork and some other items are affecting the trade.

WOOL MARKETS

What wool trading was done

27 MILLION FEET OF LUMBER SOLD

SEATTLE, May 21 (AP)—Twenty-one northwest lumber firms participated in the sale of 27,000,000 board feet of lumber to the navy Tuesday in one of the largest lumber deals ever negotiated in the Pacific northwest, Capt. L. A. Odlin of the naval supply depot said yesterday.

The lumber, all Douglas fir and western pine, sold for approximately $1,500,000.

Praising lumber dealers for their quick response while present orders are yet unfilled, Capt. Odlin said he felt the navy department would consider the cooperative action in future decisions respecting purchase of lumber here or in the east, as heretofore.

on the Boston market last week was mostly at close to ceiling prices. In general, the market was less active than in recent weeks. Demand for graded fine territory wools was steady at unchanged prices, with average French combing wools moving at $1.15 to $1.18, scoured basis. Short combing wools of similar grade sold at about $1.12 to $1.15.

The wool industry has been asked by the office of defense transportation to cooperate in preventing arrival in Boston of more wool at any one time than can be handled promptly. The cooperation of dealers, shippers, and cooperatives in this program has been requested.

Moe's Shoes

WASHABLE shoes for summer have been a boon since they were invented . . . So I thought I'd better tell you that you'll find them at Moe's Shoe Department . . . Both Keddets and Sunlogs . . . And they still come with rubber soles, but no one knows how long THAT supply will last!

Moe's has them in about 15 different patterns in all sports colors, including white . . . They're gay and summery . . . And cost only $2.95.

Play shoes that can be used for formal wear are news . . . So be sure to see the flat heel ones with ankle straps . . . They come in saddle tan, beige and white, and the latter can be dyed any color . . . They're wonderfully comfortable.

Moe's also carries Koolies . . . Sandal models which come in fabrics or smooth leather.

One interesting thing about these play shoes is the number of young gals who have bought them to wear at graduation exercises . . . And for play use later.

Oh, yes . . . Moe's play shoes are $2.95 and $3.95.

Murphey's

ALL you gardeners had better be on the look-out . . . Because warm weather brings out bugs that eat up your plants and shrubs.

If you want to recognize these bugs, and plant diseases, too, you'll appreciate the Spraying Guide that is given away at Murphey's Seed Store . . . It carries pictures of the insects, so you can identify the little pests.

And of course, the Spraying Guide tells what kind of insects attack which kind of shrubs and plants . . . And also what kind of insecticide to use.

To tell the truth, however . . . The way I do usually is just ask Red Bussman, because he is an expert on such things . . . But this year I asked him for a Spraying Guide and am not going to bother him so much with questions, if I can help it.

It'll be a terrible temptation, though . . . When anything goes wrong in the garden my first thought is to telephone Murphey's Seed Store at 3443.

I heard that the age-old juvenile lemonade stands would have blossomed out in our neighborhood this week if the mamas hadn't been sitting on the sugar sacks.

STOCK LIMIT SEEN AS NEXT ACTION OF WPB

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The war production board is expected soon to limit the stocks of goods which may be held by retailers and wholesalers.

Such a plan is definitely being considered by the board, informed persons said Wednesday. In order to assure an equitable supply of consumer goods, despite wartime production curtailments, for all merchants and their consumers.

The action would cover a consumer field as sweeping as the universal price ceiling which went into effect on all retail sales Monday; that is, virtually everything that Americans wear, use or eat.

Even broader implications were seen by some observers who believed that some such program would be a pre-requisite to any widespread rationing of consumer goods if need for such action should arise.

The contemplated edict would forbid storekeepers and wholesalers from building up inventories of merchandise greater than they held in some stipulated past period.

Although details were not divulged by officials, it was considered likely some provision would be made for swollen inventories already built up by many merchants in anticipation of a tightening supply situation.

The extent of such buying-ahead was reflected in official estimates that retail inventories early this year aggregated over $6,800,000,000, roughly $1,400,000,000 higher than at the same time last year.

Engineer Handles Court's Problem of Huge Defendant

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 21 (AP)—It wasn't an engineering problem exactly, but United States engineers provided the solution of getting Anna Craig, 530-pound negro woman, into court to face charges of possession and concealment of non tax paid liquor.

The woman lived in Greenville, 100 miles distant. Internal revenue agents had received a number of complaints. They had been unable to bring her into court because she was too large to get in an automobile, train or bus.

So, when Judge Sidney C. Mize opened federal court yesterday he put the problem up to the engineers. With characteristic efficiency, Col. S. D. Sturgis, district engineer, handled it this way:

He dispatched a ton and a half truck to Greenville. A deputy marshal directed loading of the woman, bed and all, into the truck. A daughter accompanied her in a rocking chair. The cargo was wheeled onto a loading platform here, then run into a freight elevator. A half dozen men finally brought the woman into the presence of the court.

She pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years.

STANDARD WAGE

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—The city council's finance committee agreed that while "book larnin'" isn't everything, it shouldn't be a handicap.

Accordingly, the committee agreed to recommend an additional appropriation of $1304 to equalize the salaries of the college-trained librarians at the Richmond public library with those of the library's four janitors and a part-time charwoman.

FAVORITES CLIMB ON STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Stocks with a peace-time rating again held the principal buying play in today's market and favorites climbed 1 to around 4 points at the best.

Transfers of more than 500,000 shares were the largest since April 14.

Strong victory claims from Russia, together with the recent optimism of Washington officials, brokers suggested, still inspired speculative and investment bullishness for stocks of companies that stand to benefit particularly if the world conflict should end sooner than generally expected.

(Editor's Note: Due to wire failure, the regular closing quotations were not received from the New York stock exchange Thursday.)

HENDERSON DENIES 'GESTAPO CHARGE'

WASHINGTON, May 21 (UP) Price Administrator Leon Henderson Wednesday night vigorously refuted charges by the American Automobile association that his office employed "gestapo methods" to enforce gasoline rationing which is expected to be extended throughout the nation on July 1.

In a letter to AAA Managing Director Eric Singer, he said the charges, contained in a recent press release, "served no good purpose" and would only "arouse fear and distrust" among motorists placed on their honor to conserve supplies.

The AAA on Monday had said that halting of cars throughout the eastern seaboard by OPA officials to check on ration cards and the motorists' destinations smacked of the "gestapo." Henderson attributed the checks to "overzealousness" by officials

WHEAT SLUMPS IN SELLING OUTBREAK

CHICAGO, May 21 (AP)—An outbreak of selling after mid-session today caused wheat prices to slump almost 2 cents a bushel to lows not equaled here since last November.

Corn tumbled more than 2 cents, May oats dropped and rye and soybeans were down also in a general reaction of the market. Oats and rye reached lows for the past several months.

which "could by no stretch of the imagination be classified as 'gestapo methods'."
