

CONTENDERS
University of Oregon stands a 4-3 chance over Oregon State to be the Alma Mater of next year's Pelican grid pilot.

Currently under consideration by KUHS officials are a four-member of ex-Ducks and only a trio of once-Beavers.

Alphabetically, the U of O guys are Nello Giovannini, once a Pelican himself, Andy Harney of Bend, Howard Parks of Yoncola, and John Voll of Clatskanie. Oregon Staters are Jim Carr of Hood River, Frank McKinney of Corvallis, and Earl McKinney of Adrian.

As to who's ahead at what might be termed the quarter pole, you'll have to ask somebody other than us. All we can do is perhaps suggest the inclusion of Frank Nihil, a very successful Wildcat coach here a couple of autumns ago and now at Redding, Calif.

That'll make the score a 4-4 for OSC.

On the record, Ramsey, Giovannini, Carr and Nihil have posted the best totals. Ramsey's Corvallis squad last year was a whizzer after a bad start. Giovannini's eleven at Prineville last year licked Bend and whipped somebody else 100-0. Nihil has been assistant coaching since he left here but is scheduled to take over the head man's job this fall. Carr had a fine squad at Hood River last year.

RE-RUN
mentioned some time ago that the Cincinnati Redlegs will sponsor a five-day tryout camp for aspiring baseballers in Medford and suggested that those interested drop around to pick up application forms.

Several of the aspiring baseballers answered only to find the wrong department and consequently no forms. This is a reminder that we've still got 'em. They call this department sports editor and he may be found most anytime from 3 p. m. until nearly midnight at the N-H building in the N-T editorial rooms.

But you'd better hurry for the season starts June 3 at 10 a. m. on the Tornado high school field. George "Mickey" Shader, veteran minor league player, manager and current Red scout, will be in charge.

There'll be no tuition fee but if you're interested, must furnish your own shoes and gloves and be not less than 17 nor more than 21 years old.

BUM CHOICE
John Public is a better picker than Joe Expert in the current National league flag race, according to the latest Esquire sports poll.

Questionnaires sent out before the chase opened revealed that sports editors and radio broadcasters picked the St. Louis Cards but Phil Phan named Brooklyn's Bums to repeat . . . and as of Thursday the beautiful Dodgers were six games in the van.

Everybody picked the Yanks in the American.

The exact cause of eye cataracts is still unknown.

Cooper Brothers Snap Bums' Skein at 7

Mort Hurls Two-Hitter, Walker Bangs Triple to Shade Dodgers, 1-0

By United Press
Big Mort Cooper, aided by the timely hitting of his "little" brother Walker, bested Whit Wyatt in one of the season's tightest pitching duels today to give the St. Louis Cards a 1-0 triumph over the Dodgers and trim Brooklyn's National league lead to six games.

Cooper's curve ball set the Dodgers down with two hits in handing the flatbush flock its first shutout of the season and snapping its eight-game winning streak. It was the Cards' fourth triumph in a row and Cooper's fourth win in seven starts.

Wyatt allowed the Cards only four hits as he suffered his first reversal in three starts. The man who won the ball game for Cooper was his younger brother, Walker, six foot, three inch catcher. Walker belted a triple against the centerfield wall in the fifth and then romped home on Creepy Cresp's long fly for the game's only run.

Brooklyn's defeat clipped a full game off its lead as second place Boston rallied for a 10-inning 4-3 triumph over Pittsburgh. The Cardinals are a half game back of the Braves.

Ken Heintzelman walked in the winning run to provide Boston's only run.

Keep Arms and Hands Close to Body; Blade of Iron Should Lie Flat on Turf

Tenth of 12 instructive articles.
By BYRON NELSON
Master of the Masters
Reaching for the ball is one of the most common faults. It is especially damaging on iron shots. Player should make certain the blade of the club lies flat on the turf. If the toe is raised, you are reaching too much.

Hands and arms should be in close to the body. In this way you get punch in your shot. Over-reaching on an iron shot takes all the snap out of the swing. It cuts down distance.

"Inside and outside" is an old swing axiom. Many beginners swing to the left of the line of flight. They fail to keep the right arm in close to the side or they lift the club abruptly. For maximum distance, hit inside the line of flight.

Chicago, Ill., May 21 (UP)—Anton Christoforidis, former world's light-heavyweight champion, slugged his way to an impressive 10-round decision victory over Johnny Colan of New York, Wednesday night at the Chicago stadium.

The rugged Cleveland Greek who lost the 175-pound title to Gus Lesnevich a year ago and has experienced only ordinary ring success since was near the peak of his career Wednesday night as he temporarily sidetracked the title ambitions of Colan, victor in '38 of the 42 bouts of his brief career.

Christoforidis, who started his 1942 campaign by being knocked out in the second round by youthful, bozzard Charles of Cincinnati, bozzard far too much punching power and experience for Colan.

Coming in the ring on the short end of 2-1 betting odds, the Greek battler started slowly, but gained strength as the fight wore on and in the late rounds had things entirely his own way.

Savoldi Signed To Clash With Cowboy Chick
Crusher Jim Casey regretfully tendered his thanks Thursday to Cowboy Chick but said he was tied by previous engagements and wouldn't have any of Dude's famed airplane spins next Tuesday in the armory.

Which left the cowboy, without an opponent—but only for a few hours. In that time Promoter Mack Lillard signed Jumpin' Joe Savoldi to clash with the spinning cowhand in the main event of next week's card.

The bout will headline a program featuring a new face versus Alberto Corral, increasingly popular Mexican grappler, in the semi-windup.

Tulelake Nine Battles for County Title
TULELAKE — Honker batsmen will meet an unnamed nine on the home field Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock to determine the championship of Siskiyou county. It was announced Wednesday by Harold Schilling, baseball coach.

The contestant for the title will probably be Yreka. Tulelake pounded out a victory over Fort Jones last weekend to take the northern title 7-6.

As a windup of the athletic year, Clyde Frisholz, track, football and basketball coach, will take two men, Wilbur Edwards and Roger Shell to the divisional track meet at Alturas Saturday. Edwards last week tallied a new county record for the 1320-yard run, cutting ten seconds from the previous record.

His run was made in 3:31.2 to take first place in the county meet. Shell pulled a first out of the meet also in the shotput. Frisholz this week announced that he does not plan to return to Tulelake next year. He has been affiliated with the faculty for two years but plans to make his home in the future in southern California. He is concluding a successful two terms of coaching during which time he has developed some strong competitive athletic material. It is with regret that he leaves Tulelake, he stated.

Lou Nova Risks Ring Future in Washington

Reformed Yogi Ties Into Lee Savold In Navy Relief Battle; Title Shot Eyed

By ERNEST BARCELLA
WASHINGTON, May 21 (UP)—Lou Nova, the reformed Yogi, risks his fistie future against Lee Savold of Des Moines tonight in a 10-round battle expected to enrich the navy relief fund by about $20,000.

Last night, the odds were 2 to 1, Nova—launching a comeback—won't be sorry he took the risk.

Savold also will have much at stake in a fight which promises to bring the winner within reach of a September crack at Joe Louis' heavy-weight title.

Next to Louis himself, Savold has been just about the hottest article in the heavyweight ranks the past year or so. In that span he has racked up 17 victories.

But the only real stake that counts in this fight is something that transcends the personal ambition of any boxer. It is the future of the families of those men who fought and died on Wake Island, on Bataan and on Corregidor, of those bluejackets and marines who are fighting freedom's cause upon the seven seas.

Lord Byron Favored in PGA Test
Texan Mechanically Perfect for Golfdom's Big Test Starting Monday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
ABSECON, N. J., May 21 (AP)—Byron Nelson, hotter than a July sun in his native Texas, is one of the favorites—and not without reason—in the National Pro Golf association tournament that gets underway on the Seaview course Monday.

Nelson, winner of the 1942 Masters at Augusta, Ga., and a finalist the last three years in the PGA, was mechanically perfect Sunday as he won the second annual Massachusetts Big Eight tourney with a five-under par 139.

The big Texan, now playing out of Toledo, O., is paired with Bruce Coltart of Atlantic City, and Jimmy Hines of Lakeview, Long Island, through the 36-hole qualifying test which will occupy the 116 play-for-pay shot-makers on Monday and Tuesday.

One of his chief threats, little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., will play the two rounds with Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., and Harold (Jug) McSpadden of Philadelphia, according to tributed individual strength of each team in the meet indicates the possibility of an upset.

The Huskies are strong in the dashes, hurdles, middle distances and the relay, and can pick up place points in the field events.

Washington State, with long-gear Pat Haley in the dashes and hurdles, Noel Williams, Pacific coast two-mile champion, in the distances, and Frank Lontos in the weights, is still a threat in the division meet.

Oregon shows strength in the pole vault, sprints, hurdles and two-mile. Oregon State can grab for points in the jumps, mile, quarter, pole vault and two-mile. Idaho is strong in the shot and discus, and better than fair in the distances. Montana is strong in the distances and boasts Clawson who has turned in the division's best discus toss this year, 155 feet.
