VICTORY RODEO DISCUSSED FOR JULY 4TH HERE

Following a number of meetings and conferences on the 1942 Fourth of July plans, it was announced Thursday that plans were being completed for a Victory rodeo to be held at the fairgrounds here July 4 and 5.

Officers of Buckaroo Days have volunteered to handle the rodeo which will be patterned along the same lines of the former Buckaroo Days, but as many rodeo participants are in the service or in defense work, purses and prize moneys will be adjusted to meet these conditions, which may result in an amateur or local show. Rodeo officials felt that cowboys and riders will compete as usual, feeling their efforts will be a contribution to the war funds under which auspices the entire holiday program will be held this year. Net proceeds of the rodeo, as well as those of the dances and other activities will go to the troop hospitality fund.

The Victory rodeo will offer a bang up program of western events with all the unnecessary frills eliminated and admission prices scaled down so as to assure capacity crowds at each performance. Many local riders have assured the rodeo management that they will compete. Western rodeos that have been held this year have seen the largest crowds in history where such events have been staged.

O. D. Matthews and the other members will manage the Victory rodeo.

Kiwanis "Klamath Lake Navy" Issues Challenge

A navy recruiting challenge was a highlight of the dinner dance program of the Klamath Kiwanis club at the Reames Golf and Country club Wednesday evening.

The club, which is active in assisting the navy recruiting office here, supported Recruiter F. R. Duncan in a challenge to all Oregon offices to meet the enlistments per capita population in this recruiting area for the month of June.

Duncan, chief gunners' mate in the navy, made a short talk and read the challenge from the "Kiwanians of the Klamath lake navy." Mayor John Houston, Henry Perkins and C. S. Elliot participated in the motion to back up the challenge.

The letter was signed by Malcolm Epley, president of the club; John B. Ebinger, C. E. Seavey and Fred B. Southwell, members of the navy committee.

The evening's program followed a navy theme, with Mayor Houston as master of ceremonies. Ebinger and K. A. Moore had decorated the country club in keeping with the occasion.

Those on the committee in charge were Ted Medford, J. H. Robbins, M. P. Kerr, Dick McGuire and Martin Swanson.

Keno Valedictorian Enlists in Naval Aviation Class

Marvin Elwood Barrett, who was valedictorian of the Keno high school graduating class May 22, has been accepted for class V-5 of the naval reserve, according to the local navy recruiting office.

High school students 18 to 26 who enlist in class V-5 are trained for commissions in naval aviation if found qualified. Barrett, son of Albert Barrett, farmer of route 3, earned three letters in the mile run on the Keno track team. He is now in Seattle for his final physical examination before entering naval training.

Rear tires usually give 45 to 60 per cent less mileage than the front ones.

ELKS TO ENTERTAIN AIR CORPS CADETS

Klamath Elks lodge will be host Friday at 8 p. m. to 25 young men who have signed with the U. S. army air corps for training as flying cadets under sponsorship of the local lodge and the grand lodge. Also guests of the lodge will be 30 young men who have passed their examinations and are on furlough waiting to be called to training centers, as well as about 50 men who are taking civilian pilot training at the local airport and will sign with either the army or navy by June 15.

Some pictures of flying will be shown, and a feed will be served. A representative of the navy will be present to talk to those who are interested in the navy.

Angus Newton, chairman of the Elks national defense committee, said that an examining board will be at the Klamath armory all day Friday to interview any young man interested in becoming a pilot, bombardier or navigator.

The Elks national defense committee consists of Newton, Malcolm Epley, Lester Finley, Fred Hellbronner, Lester Wright and Don Hunt, secretary of the lodge. Men wishing further information on this program should call at the Elks lodge or at the recruiting offices of the army, navy or marines.

Canada-Born Youth Makes Quick Work Of Joining Navy

It took a long time to get started but his part of the job was carried out with quick dispatch by Fredrick Charles McFetridge who was sworn in by the US navy in Portland Wednesday.

McFetridge, who recently completed his apprenticeship as a machinist, had been trying to get into the navy for some months, according to the local navy recruiting officer, F. R. Duncan, but being Canadian born he had trouble with his citizenship requirements.

Tuesday McFetridge received his citizenship papers, Tuesday he applied at the naval recruiting office, and Tuesday night he was on his way to Portland to be inducted.

McFetridge graduated from high school at Dallas, Ore., in 1936 and served his machinist apprenticeship there. During the nine months he lived here he worked at the Klamath Machine and Locomotive works and later at the Klamath Iron works. He will continue as a machinist in the navy.
