enter without a permit. The army established Fort Mears on Unalaska island. The Dutch Harbor naval air station was commissioned September 1, 1941, with Comdr. W. N. Updegraff as station commander.

Unalaska island is separated from the mainland by Unimak pass, through which all ships bound to Nome, Bristol Bay and other Bering sea and Arctic points must pass. The shortest "great circle" route across the Pacific from Puget Sound to the Orient would also take ships through the pass to travel several hundred miles in the more protected Bering sea. Because charts of the outer Aleutians have not been fully completed, few ships have taken that route.

In Pacific maritime circles, however, the story has been current for years that the Japanese had such charts and used the route. A Japanese freighter, whose hull and wreckage remained several years on rocks near Dutch Harbor, lent credence to the account.

Keeping the geography of the North Pacific straight, here are approximate distances:

San Francisco to Dutch Harbor, 2833 miles.

Seattle to Dutch Harbor, 1968 miles.

Dutch Harbor to Attu and Near Islands, at outer tip of Aleutians, 900 miles.

Attu to the northern tip of the Japanese island chain, 675 miles.

Attu to Kamchatka (Russian) Peninsula, 650 miles.

Kiska island (outer Aleutians) to Tokyo, 2210 miles.

The towns of Dutch Harbor and Unalaska are two miles apart across an inlet. Dutch Harbor has a fine land-locked harbor and Unalaska harbor is also sheltered and safe.

The house appropriations committee sent to the floor today a supplemental navy, marine corps and coast guard supply bill calling for $654,999,740 in direct appropriations and $1,037,500,000 in contract authorization, of which $887,500,000 was earmarked for submarine construction.

Just how many submarines this would provide for has never been disclosed officially, but semi-official estimates were that it would add upwards of 100 long-range undersea raiders to the fleet.

small fires and causing some damage and casualties.

The German high command, in its broadcast communique, identified the target as the cathedral city of Canterbury, where, it said, 10,000 incendiary bombs and other bombs of "heavy and the heaviest caliber" were dropped. It was the second raid in three nights on Canterbury.

While it was emphasized that the RAF struck in force, an authoritative statement said "the scale of operations was not comparable with that of the previous night."

A good deal of smoke and ground haze made observation difficult, but the weather was good and the results are believed to be satisfactory," the statement said.

The air ministry news service said night fighters and bombers, which have run interference for the new-scale British night forays, again took up the offensive last night with raids on air bases, factories, railway lines and army units from Holland to Brittany.

PAIR GUILTY OF AIDING IN GIRL ESCAPE

Margaret Lantz and James Hutchinson were convicted by a circuit court jury Wednesday afternoon on a charge of aiding a confined person to escape. Judge David R. Vandenberg said he would pronounce sentence Saturday morning.

Mrs. Lantz and Hutchinson were charged with aiding in the escape of a daughter of Mrs. Lantz, who was held at the county farm on a juvenile court order as an alleged delinquent, April 9.

The state presented evidence to show that on the evening of April 9, Mrs. Lantz and Hutchinson cruised in a cab on the roads near the county farm, and picked up the girl who had run away from the farm. Later, it was shown, they took the girl to Tululake, and local authorities have not yet found trace of her.

Mrs. Lantz and Hutchinson were later arrested on the charge, which is an indictable misdemeanor and carries a possible county jail sentence.

District Attorney L. Orth Sisemore and his deputy, Clarence Humble, handled the prosecution. Defense attorneys were A. C. Yaden and George Chastain.

Red army artillerymen were declared to have killed 300 Germans, knocked nine anti-batteries out of action and destroyed an ammunition dump on the southern front.

general realization of axis fondness for holidays as a time to pull something.

In other part, it is due to rumors that have been going around about a Jap fleet somewhere in the Pacific, hanging out in the fog and waiting for a good opportunity to send off its planes. War and rumors go together.

NOBODY is scared. Everybody is a little pleased. Secretly, of course. Excitement is always pleasant. And nobody really believes the Japs are going to strike. But it's fun to think they MIGHT. And the possibility of it is ever present.

If you want to get a dirty look, just suggest that the little yellow men DO come they will be more likely to hit at the great airplane factories at Los Angeles and San Diego.

Nobody, ANYWHERE, wants to think his town isn't important enough to be bombed.

That goes for the big cities just the same as the tank towns.
