

HOME CANNERS MUST ANSWER 17 QUESTIONS

Those who apply for a canning allotment of sugar on or after June 1 at the local rationing board, are asked to answer 17 questions, according to W. S. Dirker, sugar rationing administrator for Oregon.

"These questions will determine the amount of sugar you will be allowed," Dirker stated. "In making application it is advisable to estimate the amounts of sugar you will need for the various fruits you will can this summer, so that you will still have a portion of your allotment on hand for fall canning."

The questions, Dirker listed as follows:

1. Name of family.
2. Address of family.
3. Name of individual making application.
4. Address.
5. Amount of sugar applied for (one pound for every four quarts of finished canned fruit is the maximum allowed.)
6. Have you registered for your regular war rationing book? (If not, the application will not be accepted until after you have registered.)
7. Did you receive a war ration book?
8. What is its number? What are the numbers of the war ration books in your family unit?
9. Number in family (if application is made for a family unit). Adults and children under 18.
10. How many quarts of fruit did you can last year? (This does not include preserves, jellies, fruit butters, etc.)
11. How many quarts of canned fruit which you put up do you have left from your last year's supply?
12. Over what period do you expect to use the fruit canned by you this season? (6 months? one year?)
13. Did you have excess sugar in your possession when you registered? How much? Do you have excess sugar in your possession now? How much?
14. Do you buy your fruit for canning or grow it yourself?
15. Do you sell any of the fruit you can?
16. Have you already applied for sugar for canning? How much were you granted on any previous application or applications for canning or/and preserving?
17. What approximate proportion of your canning for the entire year 1942 does this application cover?

Local rationing boards are ready to receive consumer applications for sugar for strawberry canning. The maximum amount which will be allowed may not exceed one pound of sugar per four quarts of finished canned fruits and one pound per annum per person for use in preparing preserves, jams, jellies or fruit butters. The family or individual will be limited to the canning of the quantity of fruit which the board deems reasonable for the family applying. There will be every effort to put this on an equitable basis, and with consideration of the size and ages in the family, its past practices in canning, the fruit available to it, etc.

"The approach to the matter should be not how much sugar can I get," Dirker said, "but how much can I do without? If the family is not in the habit of canning or if they have not been too successful at it, this is the year to omit it. It is as patriotic to save sugar as to save fruit. The same thing holds true for canning as for Victory gardens—unless you can really do a good job, don't do it at all for that is waste. For the whole family to get along on less canned fruit is their direct way of helping in the war effort."

Applications will be accepted only from those who have registered for their war ration books. Those who have registered but have not received their books on account of their having excess sugar, may register and receive an allotment for canning sugar. Of course, if they still have excess sugar their allotment will be subtracted from that excess. However, this reduction of excess sugar by using it for canning, will not be recognized by the board at the time of future applications, unless an application for canning sugar has been made.

The season is here when men fish and lie about—their fish.

House Completes Pension Revision

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—The house completed congressional action Tuesday on legislation to increase from $30 to $40 monthly pensions of World War veterans having non-service connected disabilities.

The measure, according to the senate finance committee, will affect about 17,500 veterans and raise annual pension costs about $8,400,000.

Disabled, unmarried veterans with incomes over $1000 yearly or those who have families and earn more than $2500 are ineligible.

HOW DARE YOU!

DIVIDE, Colo. (AP)—A big cinnamon bear ambling along the Midland terminal railroad tracks in Ute pass canyon paid no heed to Engineer J. W. Logan's whistle warnings. Coming down a steep grade with a gravel train, Engineer Logan set his brakes to stop within a few yards of the non-chalant beast.

The bear turned, blinked at the locomotive, then took its own sweet time walking off into the timber.

"Why, he just didn't give a damn," explained the surprised Logan.
