into an additional house by himself.

With the exception of one gun and a "piggy bank" virtually all the loot has been recovered. It was brought out.

Both boys admitted the object of going into the homes was to get money and war savings stamps. They said they damaged some of the places because they "thought it would be fun."

After Juvenile Officers David Bridge and Forrest Losse reviewed the records of the two youngsters, the 14-year-old boy asked if he could speak. He was sworn in, took the stand, and broke into tears.

Questioned by Judge Vandenberg, he said that of the money he had when caught, $1.50 had been given to him by his older brother and was not stolen.

Judge Vandenberg said he would take the $1.50 "off the record" and then asked the weeping boy if he was sorry.

"I'm sorry I got caught," said the boy.

Then the 12-year-old boy took the stand and broke down under gentle questioning by the judge.

Both boys asked "for another chance."

Bridge testified that the 12-year-old was first brought to his attention two or three years ago.

At that time, he said, the boy was involved in a break-and-enter case in which $5 was missing. Last February, the boy ran away with a milk bottle and money given him by a woman who asked him to go for some milk for her. Later he was charged with taking money around the school he attends.

Indian Debraud said the boy once called him and asked him to come to the school so he could tell the officer "something important." Bridge went out, and the boy told him how he and two other boys approached an Indian on Klamath avenue and asked the Indian if he wanted some wine.

When the Indian gave him 30 cents, the boys crawled over the top of a building and left the Indian standing at the foot of a ladder. They never returned.

On a second attempt, another Indian lost a dollar and got no wine.

The 14-year-old first came to the attention of juvenile authorities last Halloween when the county and juvenile officers picked him up for staying out after hours. Bridge gave the boys a lecture on observance of the curfew law.

At 1:30 a. m. May 17, Bridge said, he was called to the police station and found this boy, and another boy, who had been picked up with a stolen car. He said that when he went to the parents, the father's attitude was "all right," but the mother's attitude was "not what it should be."

Among those who took the stand was Mrs. Jack Ryan, whose # home on Eldorado street bore the brunt of the boys' vandalism. She described the damage done to her home and said the two boys, who were in front when she came home from a walk, laughed at her as they ran away. She said she did not know the boys and had never seen them before.

The two boys admitted embarking on their crime wave early Wednesday afternoon. They said their procedure was to go to a house, knock on the door and, if someone came to the door, ask "if Wilsons lived there." The name Wilson had no significance. If no one responded to their knocking, they then tried the door and began their search for money.

On the walls and mirrors of a number of homes they scrawled in black crayon the words, "The Nails." In Mrs. Ryan's home they scrawled "for hoarding sugar" on the wall when they found a small bin partially filled with sugar. Officers said Mrs. Ryan had declared the sugar and could not understand why she would be accused of hoarding sugar.

The boys were captured on the hills back of Pacific Terrace after they had entered a number of homes in that vicinity.

been destroyed and 25,000 prisoners have been taken.

Military quarters said this battle, fought to break off the northern pincer of the Russian forces, now had ended.

Fleet in Action
MOSCOW, June 15 (AP)—Steaming into the fight for Sevastopol with its guns thundering, the soviet Black sea fleet was reported today to have brought aid to the hard-pressed land garrison by laying down a deadly barrage which took a heavy toll of the axis assault forces.

The battles in the tight-drawn siege lines around the Crimean port and on the shell-pocked front east of Kharkov in the Ukraine continued with undiminished fury.

However, there were no further reports of German gains on either front since dispatches of yesterday which said the Germans had pushed forward in some sectors at Kharkov and turned loose a full-scale onslaught against Sevastopol in an attempt to smash the Russian defenses by sheer weight of men and armor.

Dispatches from the Crimean flank of the battlefield did not identify the warships whose guns were reported in action for the first time since June 5 when the new battle for Sevastopol began.

HARLINGEN, Tex., (AP)—Now the victory scavenger party.

Hostesses, instead of sending their guests out for the usual odd assortment required in scavenger hunts, have a victory list which includes every kind of scrap needed for the war effort—rubber, copper, iron and the like.

The first one back with a piece of every item on the list wins the prize—war savings stamps.

convoy got as far east as Sicily where it was forced to turn back.

The location of the battle, the strength and composition given by Rome for the allied naval force and the reckless expenditure of planes in the attack on it suggested either that Italian territory itself might be under attack or that the allies were engaged in a great transfer of strength between Gibraltar and Suez.

The Italian high command, in a special communique, claimed that two cruisers, one destroyer and four steamers were sunk out of one of two British convoys, and a battleship, an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, one destroyer and four steamers heavily damaged.

The Italians said the convoy attacked was protected by "numerous units of the line and by two aircraft carriers." Spotting the convoy early Saturday, Italians said their scout planes later lost sight of it and the first attack was not delivered until Sunday.

"Numerous formations" of torpedo planes, bombers and fighters then struck the flotilla, the Italians related. They acknowledged 20 planes lost themselves and reported shooting 15 carrier-borne planes down in flames.

"The operations were resumed in the early hours of this morning against the remaining units," the communique concluded.

point to progress of his "new order" in Europe.

The Paris explosion was one of a series of incidents reported over the weekend from a restless Europe.

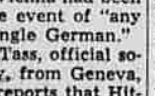

A Stockholm dispatch said 258 Jews were shot at Gross Lichterfelde in Berlin, where the execution squads worked in Hitler's blood purge of 1934. These shootings took place on May 28, the day after the assassination of Reinhard (The Hangman) Heydrich, reichsprotektor of Bohemia-Moravia.

The Stockholm dispatch said execution of 5,000 Jews in Berlin, Prague and Vienna had been threatened in the event of "any plot against a single German."

A dispatch of Tass, official soviet news agency, from Geneva, said there were reports that Hitler is contemplating a drastic purge of his officer corps which is at odds with the gestapo.

to the British commonwealth of nations and 35 other countries has mounted to $3,673,000,000 in goods and $24,000,000 in such services as repairing ships, ferrying aircraft and providing production facilities in this country.

The goods included $2,601,000,000 of articles transferred, that is, delivered to lend-lease nations at production or export points in this country. Of this amount, $2,138,000,000 has been exported.

The balance of the $3,673,000,000 is accounted for by articles awaiting transfer or use and those in process of manufacture.

The lend-lease assistance is not moving entirely in one direction, the report showed. To the full extent of their ability, the president said, our allies are supplying us with things we need.

He mentioned food and housing and equipment for American troops in Britain and Australia, special machine tools and equipment for munitions plants, British anti-aircraft guns at vital bases, and British-developed plane detection devices.

Jap Force Unknown
The nature of the enemy force which conducted the Attu and Kiska operations has not been described by the navy, but experts said it probably was the usual task force composed of one or more aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers which would be necessary to afford minimum protection to troop transports.

This, or similar task forces, probably still were at work in the Aleutian area, feeling out American defenses and maneuvering for landings on other islands. These operations, it was believed here, may lead to further attacks from the air on Dutch harbor and other Alaskan defense posts.

SOME advice to EVERYBODY:
During the next two weeks, scrape your premises with a fine-tooth comb and turn in EVERYTHING in the nature of rubber you can find. Stop short only of rubber bands.

You will be doing your country a real service in an emergency, and you may be ENABLING YOURSELF to keep your tires a little longer.

THE oil industry has volunteered its stations as collection points. If you want payment for your old rubber, you will get a cent a pound. The government, in turn, will pay the collectors a cent a pound.

The oil industry has announced that if there is any profit it will be turned over to organizations such as the USO, the army and navy relief and the Red Cross.

SOME more advice:
If you have been wasting rubber in unnecessary driving, QUIT. Walk wherever you can. If you have, or can get, a bicycle, USE IT. Cut out joy-riding—which includes all non-essential driving.

The rubber shortage is real.
