

FASCIST FORCE TAKES BEATING FROM AIRCRAFT

lan naval formations were attacked, the RAF announced.

A communique said torpedo planes attacking from bases in Africa and Malta scored a number of hits and spread fires on Italian warships Monday night.

Italians Flee
A fascist cruiser of the Trento class was first set afire by bombs and then sunk by an aerial torpedo.

The Italian warship then turned northward and throughout last night "were shadowed as they returned to base," the communique went on, thus clearly indicating that the Italians had broken off the engagement to flee.

In the first action, the RAF said, an Italian naval force including two battleships and four destroyers was sighted south of Taranto, big Italian naval base, on Sunday evening.

Kept under surveillance, the force was attacked by allied torpedo planes Monday night and besides the 10,000-ton Trento class cruiser sent to the bottom, a six-inch cruiser and a destroyer were known to have been hit.

In the second action, Monday morning, another Italian force of cruisers and destroyers was attacked by British torpedo planes in the vicinity of Pantelleria. A cruiser was hit and left in flames, and a destroyer was "probably hit," the RAF said.

A German version of the spectacular sea-air battle, entirely different from the Italian account, said Nazi air and naval forces sank four cruisers and destroyers, probably sank another destroyer and damaged six other warships in attacks on British Mediterranean convoys.

The Germans also asserted that six merchant ships were sunk, eight others probably sunk and six damaged, and implied that these losses were inflicted on a west-bound convoy and were in addition to those reported by the Italians.

The fascist version said three British warships were sunk and 17 other ships sunk, set afire or damaged.

The whole battle or series of battles revolved about an apparent axis attempt to smash British supply lines to Malta and to North Africa, where the flaming desert struggle between weary British and axis forces appeared to be nearing a finale.

Business of the association was conducted as convention plans had been cancelled previously. Date of the next meeting will be fixed by the executive committee next January, Tillotson stated.

SELECTIVE BUYING AIDS STOCK PRICES

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—Selective buying gave the stock market a fairly well balanced appearance today although many leaders were unable to get over on the recovery side of the price scales.

Transfers approximated 275,000 shares. Air transport and gold mining issues failed to duplicate their late rallying flurry of Monday. A few rails, oils and distillers tilted upward.

International Minerals and Chemical common and preferred edged into new high ground for the year along with Postal Telegraph preferred. In front of the greater part of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Pepsi-Cola, Santa Fe, Texas company, American Viscose, Schenley, Dow Chemical and Kennecott. Some of these eventually slipped.

GRAIN PRICES IN RALLY ON TUESDAY

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP)—Strength in soy beans, some mill buying and reports of a possible compromise which would give producers full parity loans on major agricultural commodities while granting the Commodity Credit corporation authority to sell government owned wheat for feeding purposes helped all grain prices to rally today.

Rye, which lagged part of the time, later was affected and the gains about equaled those in wheat. Corn held to a narrowly higher range. The rise in soy beans was credited to moderate commission house demand when offerings were scarce.

The close was at or near the best levels of the session. Wheat finished 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents above Monday's final quotations, July $1.20 1/2, September $1.22 1/2 to 3; corn was 1 to 1 1/4 higher, July 86 1/2, September 89 1/2; oats rose 1 to 1 1/4; rye 1 to 1 1/4; soybeans 2 1/2 to 3 1/4 and lard was unchanged.

rank of sergeant upon his return to the United States. Following his graduation from Northwestern College of Law, Portland, Van Vector came to Klamath Falls in March, 1925. He served as deputy district attorney for four years and has just completed six years as city attorney.

Van Vector helped organize Battery D, 249th Coast Artillery, in 1927 and was made a first lieutenant at that time. In 1930, he was promoted to the rank of captain and served in command of the unit until 1934 when he found it necessary to relinquish his commission due to his acceptance of the city attorneyship and press of personal business. In 1934, Van Vector was transferred as a captain in the reserves, a commission which he held until 1938 when he resigned his captaincy.

Mrs. Van Vector and young son, Robert, will remain in Klamath Falls until Captain Van Vector receives definite assignment, it was learned.

Van Vector, who was commanding officer of the local state guard unit, has resigned and T. S. Abbott, first lieutenant, has taken charge of the company command.

MRS. ROGERS WINS SCHOOL BOARD POST

has been active for 10 years in Parent-Teacher work. She served as president of Mills PTA, president of the Klamath County council, is a member of the council at this time and member of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Hawkins has been a member of the board since 1937 when she was appointed in May to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. W. T. Dean.

According to Mrs. Robert Odell, clerk of the board, Mrs. Rogers will be sworn in at the regular meeting of the board June 22, and will take over duties July 1, beginning of the fiscal year.

Final Returns Not In
Final returns from the county school election will not be available for two or three days, when they are mailed in from the sub-districts located throughout the county. While the new board member represents the northern district, the vote is on a county-wide basis.

Chiloquin's vote was one of the largest ever reported in that community in a county school election. It far exceeded that of any other sub-district.

Returns from Fairhaven, Henley, Lamm's Camp, Kirk, and Altamont compiled early Tuesday showed Hagelstein leading 36 to 11; then the Chiloquin vote came in to wipe Hagelstein's lead over his opponent.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP) Creation of a powerful new "rubber agency" to direct the government's entire rubber program will be asked by a group of senators who have been studying production of synthetic rubber and alcohol from farm products.

Chairman Gillette (D-Ia.) of this group told reporters that legislation creating such a new agency would be introduced in the senate, probably Thursday, in the belief "this might be helpful to the president." The senator recently discussed the rubber inquiry at the White House.

If it fizzes out with Tobruk still strongly in British possession, Rommel will have failed in his objective.

THE mystery of American planes that landed in Turkey and were interned remains unsolved, but it is assumed that American air forces are joining in the battle of Russia.

THE bitter battle of Sevastopol seems to have died down with Sevastopol STILL IN RUSSIAN HANDS.

The Russian defenses were apparently too tough for Hitler to crack—this time. The Reds have been preparing them for years. Unlike Singapore, their guns POINT LANDWARD.

NOTE that in all these battles AIR STRENGTH has played a dominant part. Here is an interesting sequel to this fact:

The new U. S. naval appropriation of eight and a half billions places increasing emphasis on construction of carriers and OMITS any provision for NEW BATTLESHIPS.

TAXES WON'T BE CUT, LABOR HEARS

MARSHFIELD, Ore., June 16 (AP)—Delegates to the Oregon State Federation of Labor convention were told today they could not expect lower taxes.

Low Wallace, democratic candidate for governor, made this assertion to the 306 delegates and guests registered for the meeting.

"Candidates for public office who promise tax reduction are simply talking through their hats," Wallace said.

A message extending "warmest fraternal greetings" from the CIO Industrial Union council of North Bend, was read without comment and referred to the secretary for "appropriate answer."

Delegates last night heard the first Portland chamber of commerce representative ever invited to a convention. He was David B. Simpson, chamber director, who lauded Oregon labor's record of no strikes in war industries.

He also praised the federation for devising and carrying out a round-table plan of settling disputes, and pledged the chamber to meet labor "half-way."

(There was no confirmation in London of axis claims to having sliced through the British positions at Acroma to the coast. Presumably the way was still open for a complete withdrawal from Ain El Gazala if that became necessary.)

But there was no indication that Rommel had been reinforced, and he was believed to be fighting with the same three armored divisions with which he launched his offensive three weeks ago.

Enemy Losses

Leaving out the Aleutian score pending more complete reports, a compilation of the enemy's losses in the first two engagements, Coral and Midway, added up to 18 ships sunk, including three aircraft carriers and four cruisers; three probably sunk, including one carrier and a cruiser, and at least 27 damaged.

Although it was not mentioned specifically in the naval communique, Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, army air chief, said a flight of B-28 bombers had sunk a cruiser in the Aleutians and dropped a torpedo on the deck of a carrier. He made this disclosure in a telegram of congratulations to Glenn L. Martin of Baltimore, builder of the B-28's. Army bombers were used as torpedo planes for the first time in the Midway battle.

75 DRAFTEES TO LEAVE WEDNESDAY

Approximately 75 Klamath county Board 2 draftees will leave (Wednesday) from the Klamath armory for induction in the army at Portland, selective service officials announced.

The men have been ordered to report to the armory at 7 o'clock. A short entertainment program has been planned and friends and relatives are urged to say goodbye to the inductees there.

The next group of Klamath selectees is scheduled to leave here on the night of June 30.

would produce at least $1,000,000 a day.

Should that plan be followed, congress would be under less pressure to act hurriedly on the more difficult questions of individual and corporation tax rates.

Randolph Paul, tax adviser to Secretary Morgenthau, yesterday formally requested a $25,000 flat limitation on individual incomes after federal income taxes were paid.

President Roosevelt first broached the idea in a message to congress April 27.

Paul proposed a flat 100 per cent surtax on individual incomes above $25,000 after payment of taxes, and on married couples' incomes above $50,000.
