

PICTURE NEWS of the WEEK

CIRCUS TIME—Summer time and circus time are two seasons that go hand in hand as far as the town kids are concerned. This week Nora Keane had a circus at home, 212 North Third street. Above, Patty Croker stands on her head and Darlene Smith helps her as they amuse the neighborhood with clown stunts. Below, Nora gives Thad Sprague a one-cent manicure with bright circus nail polish.

IN IRELAND—Raymond E. Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fuller of 2252 Vine avenue, cabled his parents of his arrival in northern Ireland on May 18. Raymond has been commissioned tank commander sergeant. He was graduated in 1935 from Klamath Union high school and enlisted in the tank corps where he received his training at Fort Knox, Ky.

FOR THE USO—Curly-headed Annette K. Jacobs hands a shiny new nickel over the USO drive headquarters counter to Mrs. Claude H. Davis. It's going to swell the fund that will help out her two uncles: Francis Albert with the RCAF and Philip Albert of the U. S. naval reserve. Annette, going on 6, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Jacobs.

SCRAP RUBBER FOR THE WHEELS OF WAR—One of the many loads flooding into Klamath Falls oil dealers' yards in the nationwide scrap rubber campaign is shown above. Left to right, beside the truck's cab are J. W. Carlson, Tom O'Hara, R. O. Snodgrass and an employee of the Klamath Falls Tire company. The truck is carrying 4500 pounds of old tires.

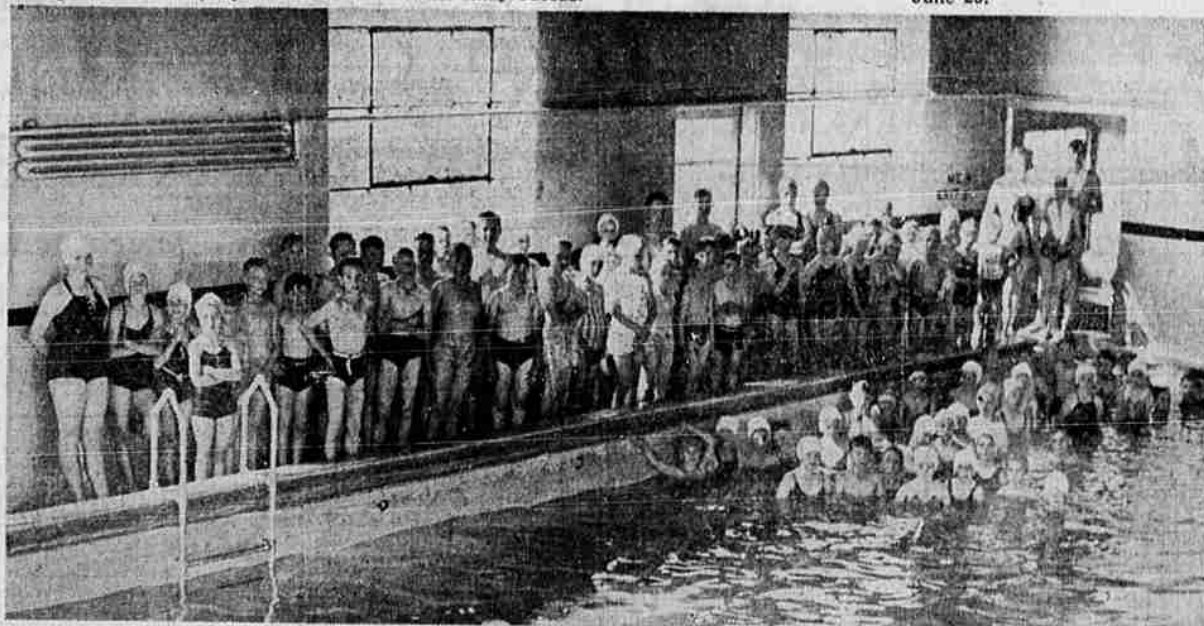

IN TRAINING—Granvel "Bud" Colvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Colvin Sr., of Riverside, is in United States navy air corps and will complete his instructor's training at San Diego on June 25.

HEY, YOU CAN'T HAVE THAT—Lassie, a Boston bulldog, is an unwilling contributor to the nationwide scrap rubber campaign. When an oil dealer tried to take her rubber bone away, she protested (above), for the photographer.

THEY CAME THROUGH—Two of Klamath county's six survivors of the sinking of the aircraft carrier Lexington in the battle of the Coral sea were Weston Watson, (left), 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Watson of 2301 Biehn street, and Swen C. Hult, (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hult of Altamont drive. Watson is home on leave and Hult has been transferred to the east coast.

SPLASH! SPLASH!—Beginning swimmers gathered at Butler's plunge this week as part of the summer recreation program. Classes are under the direction of Lillian Redkey of the city school system.

TOWNSEND CLUB INITIATION—The above picture shows members of the drill team, dignitaries and officers of the Klamath Townsend club as they were installed in a recent business and social meeting held at the KC hall.

TRAINS FOR NAVY—Norman Linville, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Linville of 1527 Plensant, is taking training as an aviation sheet metal smith at naval training school in Chicago. Young Norman, who was a student at KUHS before his enlistment February 21, says he is "thrilled by the service and has worked at about everything in the navy so far."

GIANT AND MIDGET—Rubber collection in Klamath Falls produced, among other things, this striking contrast in tire sizes. The giant truck casing and the miniature tire were part of a load of two tons of rubber gathered for salvage. With the tires is Lowell Brown.
