Navy Has Its "Commando"-Type Fighters, As Well As Army

Although the realistic scene above "shot" at San Diego, Calif., is only practice, it shows what enemy troops would see if they attempted to use gas to resist a navy landing party. Blue-jackets, tough as "commando" fighters, are receiving gas instructions at naval training station.

Camp had to be canceled only one day because of rain. This year's successful day camp is expected to set the precedent for an expanded camp next year, Miss Kavanaugh said.

AUTO-TRAIN WRECKS DELAY WAR EFFORT

While the tire shortage alone should impel motorists to drive slowly and carefully, there is another and even more important argument for safe operation of motor vehicles these days, according to C. H. Reeves, district freight and passenger agent for Southern Pacific.

Accidents at highway-railroad grade crossings are delaying the movement of war and other materials, as well as troops and other passengers, it was pointed out, at a time when every effort is being made by the railroads to expedite traffic.

Statistics just released by the safety section of the Association of American Railroads show that an average of 38 trains a day or 1137 trains a month in the United States are being delayed a total of 22 hours a day, or 660 hours a month from this cause, Reeves said.

"Eighty-two per cent of the accidents," he continued, "take place at grade crossings which have special protection consisting of flashing lights, gates or watchmen, and one-third of the accidents result from motorists driving into the sides of trains."

Radio Day by Day

(Pacific War Time)
NEW YORK, June 29 (Wide World) — The networks still have staff men at Bern, Switzerland, but they haven't done any broadcasting since the end of January, and anything they dig up has to be forwarded by cable.

The explanation as received here is the pressure of heavy shortwave message service in code and the lack of a trained staff to switch the transmitter back and forth from code to voice. However, there have been hints that another reason might be the desire on the part of Switzerland to avoid possible conflicts by adhering to its policy of strict neutrality.

The Ankara station in Turkey is another neutral which has lost broadcast contact with America. It has been unable to obtain tubes to replace transmitter burn-outs, so radio men here understand. Sweden is the only European neutral left from which broadcasts come occasionally.

EXTENSION UNIT MEETS FOR LUNCH

WEYERHAEUSER CAMP 4

Canning asparagus by pressure cooker, cherries by hot water bath, and strawberries by open kettle method were demonstrated by Winnifred Gillen at a special meeting of the Weyerhaeuser Camp 4 home extension unit on June 25. These demonstrations were given at the home of Mrs. W. M. Jones and began at 10 a. m.

A potluck lunch was served at noon. Blanching of vegetables for drying and sulphuring of apples for drying were demonstrated in the afternoon. Drying frames were displayed and various methods of applying heat in the process of drying foods discussed.

Commercially canned foods needed by our armed forces and by the forces of the allies, makes it urgent that housewives prepare and store their own foods, Mrs. Gillen told the group.

Bulletins on various methods of food preservation were distributed. Also a mimeograph on sugar saving methods of canning and freezing and recipes for substitution of light corn syrup for part of the sugar in making jelly or jam.

Nine ladies were present and each was asked by the chairman to discuss the demonstrations with one neighbor who did not attend.
