Holding Up Our End

WEDNESDAY will mark the opening of a mighty all-out sales event by retail stores the nation over. This time, the merchandise to be offered is war bonds and stamps, and all the promotion resources of American retail business—the greatest sales set-up in the world—will be devoted to this gigantic effort.

Locally, the retailers are out front with elaborate plans for their part of the program. Klamath business people are going to do their part, and the Klamath public, we anticipate, will respond in kind.

The retail drive should aid materially in taking Klamath county over the top on a bond sales quota of $250,000 for July.

Klamath invented the successful bond pledge idea whereby individual pledgers were taken at precinct election places. Each time a monthly bond quota has been set, this county has achieved it. The June quota was reached almost 10 days before the end of the month.

This county is holding up its end in the bond sales business. It is apparent from the plans that have been made that Klamath retailers intend to hold up theirs in the nationwide July drive.

Eye-Opener

TOM WATSON, Multnomah county assessor, is a well-informed public official who probably knows more about Oregon than the average citizen.

Mr. Watson was in town the other day to attend the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment. Through the courtesy of County Assessor Charles H. Mack, he was shown over the Klamath basin. It was his first close-up view of the territory surrounding Klamath Falls.

"It opened my eyes," said Mr. Watson, afterwards. "I doubt if one Oregon citizen out of 100 knows the extent of the agricultural development in this area. Most people know Klamath Falls is a major pine manufacturing center, but not many of them know it is a great farming area where wonders have been done with water."

"Some people look with some doubt on the future of lumber towns. Whatever the future of the lumber industry may be, I am convinced Klamath Falls will be a good city with a prosperous surrounding territory for all time. More Oregon people should know these facts about the Klamath country."

Klamath is not engaged in promotion of settlement or land sales; it is generally content with what it has, without making too much noise about it. It does a community no harm, however, to have its stability well known. And sometimes the residents of the community themselves, living in the midst of sound development and future promise, need a little bucking up. Too many people living in Klamath Falls and the suburbs are not fully aware of the extent of the present and potential agricultural development of the Klamath basin.

Service Men's Pictures

BECAUSE of occasional misunderstandings which may develop in connection with appearance of service men's pictures in this newspaper, a word of explanation may be in order in this column.

This newspaper is trying to keep up with requests for pictures of the men from here who have joined our armed forces. With hundreds going from this community, this is a difficult task, and it is not possible to comply with special requests for publication of pictures on certain days, in certain places in the paper, etc. We have to take them as they come and do our best to get them in.

We believe no paper of the size of The Herald and News in the state or northern California is running as many pictures of local service men as appear in this paper. We will try to keep to this record, asking for patience and indulgence. We suggest that pictures be submitted on the occasion of some special incident, such as a promotion or graduation.

Langell Valley Women Do Their Part in War Effort

LANGELL VALLEY — Women of Langell valley, eager to do their share in event of emergency or time of need, have contributed materially to the Klamath chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Alice Peatross has completed a beautiful tablecloth which she sold, the proceeds turned over to the local chapter. Ten pairs of goose down pillows, made by Frank Pepple, have been donated to the Red Cross. Two women who have opened their homes to assist with Red Cross sewing on each Tuesday of the month are Mrs. Bessie Frazier and Mrs. Bessie Campbell. Both have been generous with their time.

Bathrobes, sweaters, children's clothing, baby layettes, and many other articles have been made by the women on these

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Some disappointment is evident in women's clubs and among citizen groups unfamiliar with military tactics (particularly on the Pacific coast) against the Roosevelt-Churchill conduct of the war.

The failure of their joint statement to promise anything very definite, coming after the Dutch Harbor raid and the occupation of two remote rocks in the Aleutian islands, plus the really dismal British failure in Libya, seems to be starting another wave of impatience, not shared by persons in possession of the facts.

Enough truly bad news is probably coming along to let the faint hearted indulge themselves fully, without conjuring imaginary dangers.

Fall of Sevastopol has been counted here as likely for the past two weeks. When that Russian naval base goes, about 20 good Nazi divisions will be released for the delayed "spring" drive in the Donets basin.

The coming important part of the fight, Nazi occupation of Sevastopol, would not only clear the Crimea, but give the Germans an excellent Black sea port into which to pour supplies by boat from Rumania (via the Danube) and from Constanza.

The Egyptian situation has recently been judged as serious, but not hopeless for the British. They have a good line, if they can hold it.

The Matruh line is an excellent defensive position, much better than Sidi Barrani for several reasons. It follows southward from the sea, a depression in the desert lined with a rocky escarpment.

The sands there are loose and difficult for tanks. Trucks and supply trains cannot pass. There are no camel trains.

The southern flank is protected further by waterless desert of a difficult type. Camels can get through, but mechanized equipment would have to go a long way around.

Any bragging statement from Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill, therefore, would have been untimely and might have a short-lived effect.

Impatient persons should face facts. Everyone wants a second front in Europe but the decision to launch that front should be made on a military, not a political basis. The military leaders must decide when they have enough men and material to win.

The Dutch Harbor raid was a minor sideshow and the occupation of tip Aleutian islands (nearer Japan than Midway island) is a matter of no importance.

You cannot blame Mr. Roosevelt for Libya. The British were so confident there, they had taken little interest in getting our lend-lease material there for three months past. They had all they wanted or needed—except a clever fighting general like MacArthur.

Churchill and the British will have to answer for that one alone.

WLB SPLIT
 The war labor board is splitting up inside in all directions over the vital little steel wage increase cases.

The labor members naturally will vote for the $1 a day increase, and union maintenance shop. The industry members are backed in their opposition by the Roosevelt policy of maintaining equilibrium in the war economy.

The representatives of the public, who hold the balance of power are sitting on a griddle and know it, being hopelessly divided.

The split naturally must be kept from the public gaze and a compromise which will furnish the pattern for General Motors, Chrysler and Ford, and may upset the Henderson planned war price economy.

It is strictly a case between the CIO and the government. The companies do not care as much as usual about the wage increase, because the public treasury will have to pay it in

SIDE GLANCES

"Keep smiling, son! Your father looks so serious because he's proud—and don't mind me—you know I cry when I'm happy!"

Increased costs of war weapons.

NO SUGAR SURPLUS

The government is coming clean on sugar, at least moderately clean. While exact figures of sugar stocks like those of gasoline are suppressed by censorship (not the voluntary kind), the Henderson office has announced stocks are only 20 per cent below last year.

Government officials privately claim that these stories you read about warehouses bulging everywhere with sugar, are circulated by political forces who want to kill the sugar act.

Apparently south coast storage houses are overflowing, because they are not accustomed to handling as large a portion of the supply as has poured in upon them lately. Also a Texas factory said it was going to shut down because it had no storage space left.

The country as a whole has no surplus of sugar, although the question of how much rationing is justified is still open.

Merrill

Catherine Louise Fotheringham, daughter of Mrs. Harriett Fotheringham, Merrill, is home for the summer after graduating June 26 from San Jose State college. Miss Fotheringham, who graduated with general elementary credentials, majored in education and minored in music. She has accepted a position at Carr school in the Tulelake area next term, where she will instruct the primary grades.

Mrs. Fotheringham returned from Portland in time to greet her daughter, after greeting a new granddaughter, Carol Ann, born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Peterson of that city. The mother was the former Geraldine Fotheringham, and this is the first grandchild in the Fotheringham family. Mrs. Fotheringham was accompanied north by her mother, Mrs. Mary A. Garrison, who will spend an indefinite time with a son in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Morrow and family have moved from Malin into the house adjacent to the shop of the Merrill high school. Morrow has taken a job as janitor at the school next term.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Malone, Seattle were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Offield. Malone is a nephew of Offield's and at one time lived in Merrill with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Malone. The family left here 23 years ago. The guests were en route to Eureka, on the coast, for a vacation trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hills, Eugene, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kilpatrick. Hills, a rock collector, paid a visit to Glass mountain below Stronghold, in search of black glass for a rock garden. En route home they fished at Diamond lake.

Camp Fire girls and their guardian, Mrs. E. E. Kilpatrick, covered 20 miles last Wednesday on horseback, taking lunch and going up Stukel mountain on the old road toward the old Turner mill. From there they journeyed back to the home of Patsy O'Connor and joined a lawn party at which Miss O'Connor was hostess.

NO FIGHT GIVEN TOKYO RAIDERS

PORTLAND, June 30 (AP)—A heavy anti-aircraft barrage met the U. S. army airmen who bombed Tokyo April 18, but Japanese pursuit pilots flying high overhead did not offer to fight. Lieut. Dean Davenport said last night.

Davenport, one of the raiders, said the Nipponese pilots stayed at a high altitude, watching the bombers as they skimmed over rooftops.

He told a reporter his plane dropped four bombs and a cluster of incendiaries on the Japanese capital.

"All were hits on machinery and steel works just south of the imperial palace. In fact we used the palace for a pylon," he added.

"I'd like to see Tokyo again that way. The people were panic stricken," Davenport said.

An army band and a welcoming committee met the lieutenant, who returned to his home here in time for celebration of his birthday.

Midland

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Obenchain and two children, Helen and Earl Jackson, are visiting this week at the home of Mrs. Obenchain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kirkpatrick, Obenchain, on vacation from his position with the Summer's Lane school district, is assisting with farm work on the Kirkpatrick ranch, aiding Kirkpatrick who recently suffered a badly lacerated thumb.

The Helping Hand society will meet July 8 at the home of Mrs. Eva Hundley.

Miss Jaunita Haley and Miss Maxine Haley, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. Perry Haley, with Calvin Hall Gibson, San Diego, fiance of Miss Maxine Haley, who have spent the past several days at the Haley home on the state line, left by train Sunday night for Berkeley, where Maxine is a student at Armstrong's college of business and Jaunita is employed in the offices of the war relocation board. Willie here, they made a tour of the Japanese reception center at Tulelake.

Rev. and Mrs. Donald Dod and baby daughter Judy are attending the annual summer Christian Endeavor conference at Fir Point, Ore.

Malin Girl Scouts will meet July 11 in the basement of the Malin Presbyterian church for a potluck dinner cooked by the girls. Each girl will take a toy she has made to be sent to an orphanage. The group has recently completed a large number of fag bags, made from scrap material and dyed scarlet to be given to forest rangers who in turn will present them to visitors to local national forests this summer as a reminder to put out matches and cigarette stubs. Each bag is large enough to accommodate a package of cigarettes and matches, closing with a draw string. The project is part of the "Keep Oregon Green" program.

Bly

The Bly Bridge club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Archie Strong on Friday, June 26. The usual two tables were present, with the following ladies playing: Frances Causbie, Opal Burch, Helen Smith, Janet Mullins, Lois Shepherd, Vernilia Hadley, Virginia Stone and the hostess, Mrs. Shepherd and Mrs. Hadley won high prizes for the day. Refreshments of nutbread sandwiches and coffee were served. Mrs. Opal Burch will be the next hostess.

It is in our power one day to transform our wartime effort into wider peacetime markets, toward full employment, toward maximum production.—President Seymour of Yale university.

Cutwork — just buttonhole stitch with parts cut out—is among the most durable of needlework. Or you can do these motifs in plain stitchery, darning stitch taking the place of cut portions. Pattern 7292 contains 6 motifs averaging 7 1/3 x 8 1/3 inches; materials needed.

To obtain this pattern send 11 cents in coin to The Herald and News, Household Arts Dept., Klamath Falls. Do not send this picture, but keep it and the number for reference. Be sure to wrap coin securely, as a loose coin often slips out of the envelope. Requests for patterns should read, "Send pattern No. 7292, to _____ followed by your name and address."

No Word Heard From Dieter, Tokyo Raider

TULELAKE — No word has been heard from Sergeant William J. Dieter, who on April 18 made good his wish to fly over Tokyo and drop a bomb, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Dieter. It is not known where he is stationed. Young Dieter was a bombardier with the Jimmy Doolittle volunteer brigade that made the air raid on Japan.

Apparently he is not among the 23 members of the crew who were recently decorated in Washington, many of whom are reported to be en route home to various parts of the United States for the Fourth of July.

Mrs. Dieter stated Monday that 11 more of those who took part in the raid are reported to be on the way home via Cairo, Egypt, but she has no way of knowing that her son is among them.

Dieter has seen several years' service in the armed forces, having served four years in the artillery before joining the air corps.

WAR QUIZ

1. This Civilian Defense insignia—a red cross on a white triangle superimposed upon a blue circle—indicates the wearer is an important cog in the defense machine. Is he an ambulance man, a doctor, an auxiliary fireman or a chaplain to render spiritual comfort to seriously bombed persons?

2. The island of Corsica, which Italy wants from France as war booty, was the birthplace of the great Bonaparte. Which of the following has been one of its principal contributions to France: authors, scientists, soldiers or Paris police chiefs?

3. June 30, 1919, marks the anniversary of something people are agitating in the present war. Was it a raise in the pay of American soldiers, the coming of the prohibition law into effect all over the land or the adoption of khaki for the Army thereafter?

ANSWERS TO WAR QUIZ

1. He is an auxiliary fireman.
 2. Corsica has given France many of its police bosses.
 3. Prohibition went into effect at midnight on that date.

Part of Skeleton Found Near Kirk By Shepherd

Part of a skeleton was found last weekend near Kirk, in northern Klamath county, by a shepherd, according to Dr. George H. Adler, coroner.

Dr. Adler said that hair found with the bones indicated they may be the remains of a negro. He suggested the possibility a transient may have wandered into the brush from the nearby railroad and died there. The bones had apparently been at the spot for several years.

Only man known missing in this territory is Carmen Riddle, an Indian. Dr. Adler said that the skeleton did not tally with descriptions of Riddle as to size, and the hair had definite negroid characteristics.

The secret of some men's success is a secret still.
