Most Bombed Spot

Day after day, 150 to 200 Axis planes have unloaded their tons of bombs on MALTA, the tiny British-held island off the foot of Italy in the Mediterranean. Yet MALTA still stands. More—the loss to Hitler in men and planes is such that his flyers who do return, are landed in a field apart. Else their story and plight would unnerve the force about to take off.

In command over MALTA is Chief General William George Sheddin DOBBIE, a man with a sword in one hand and a Bible in the other. A big lumbering man with a full English face, pink cheeks, white hair and mustache. He has a simple but tremendous faith in Almighty God which makes him completely fearless. He prays when he rises in the morning and in the evening leads his family in after-dinner prayers. So the July READERS DIGEST pictures him.

What God is to him he puts in a ONE-TWO-THREE:

ONE—I came to know Christ as my Saviour 47 years ago and through all my military service to the present. He has been my Saviour and Lord. Although I have often been unfaithful to Him, He has never been so to me nor has He let me down. My sins were forgiven me when I first accepted Him as my Saviour, were blotted out once and for all and in spite of my failures, I have become a new creature in Christ Jesus.

TWO—to serve God and follow Him is a very real and practical thing in the army. I have made it a habit to bring all my problems to Him, both great and small, both professional and private. I can testify that the help He gives is both certain and convincing.

THREE—I have known Him now for 47 years and could not face life without Him. It is no simple thing to know that all the past has been forgiven and that help from Almighty God is available for the present and that the whole future for all eternity is assured. I COMMEND SUCH A SAVIOUR TO ALL.

So, to date, stands MALTA, her 270,000 people and the defenders, living in passages tunneled out of the soft rock. Within these retreats family life goes on, meals are cooked, doctors operate, groups gather for worship, and giving courage to all is DOBBIE with his supreme faith in Almighty God. Could you show like faith for such a time and place as that? Open your Bible and read on until you also are able to cast your burden on the Lord and leave it there. Learn for yourself, God's power in Christ, to SAVE-KEEP-SATISFY.

CONTROL OF INFLATION DISCUSSED

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Ed.
NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Are inflation controls holding? Some Wall streeters doubt it. In the past two days, buyers have given the stock market its busiest trading of the year, boosting leading shares $2 to $4 or more. Meanwhile, wheat prices were bid up around 5 cents a bushel at Chicago.

At the same time, others pointed out that President Roosevelt's seven-point program for keeping prices down was announced only last April 27, that Price Administrator Henderson's retail price ceiling was clamped down only May 18. While some adjustments, and some apparent wavering may appear, they said, control is so vital that firmer measures are eventually inevitable, if needed.

Jones' Warning
Only last Wednesday, Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, warned that price inflation would "lead to ultimate bankruptcy—national and individual."

Three recent developments were mentioned in Wall street as leading to speculation that price controls may be cracking: 1. Recommendation by war labor board panel that a plea for a $1-a-day wage increase by workers in four so-called "little steel" companies be granted. The panel's recommendation still has to be decided by the board.

2. Approved by the office of price administration of increased prices of canned and frozen fruits and vegetables. 3. Passage by the senate of a bill to permit full parity loans to farmers of six major crops. This would bring the loan value of wheat, for instance, up to $1.34 a bushel. July wheat closed in the Chicago pit Thursday at $1.21 1/2. To become law, the measure still must pass the house, and be signed by the president.

Jones said that in 1943 the American people would have about $30,000,000,000 more income than the value of things for which money can be spent. "If we permit that amount of money to run wild," he asserted, "it will cause very great damage to our whole country."

Taxation
Treasury experts recommend pulling much of this money back through taxation and sale of war bonds to the public. The new tax bill, still under debate in congress, is $2,700,000,000 short of the treasury's requested goal.

Cost of living in the United States, as based on the U. S. bureau of labor statistics index for wage earners, showed in early June an increase of about 16 per cent over the 1935-39 average.

Meanwhile, incomes have mounted. The bureau's index of employment in all manufacturing industries is up about 40 per cent over the 1935-39 average.

"Buster" graduated from cook and baker school as a third class ship cook. Norman is doing office work with a yeoman rating. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Cool of 4839 Climax avenue; Norman was graduated from KUHS in '39; "Buster" was in his senior year when he enlisted last December 9.

The Klamath county court has ordered the fire fighting equipment, but does not know when it will arrive, it was learned. The fire fighting crews must be organized and ready for training when the equipment does arrive.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 (AP)—The communist party cannot be barred from the ballot in California under present laws, the state supreme court ruled unanimously today.

China is inspired not only by a grim determination to defend the cause of freedom, but also by a fervent desire to play her part after victory is won in the great task of building a new world.

—Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to U. S.

We are fighting now to preserve free enterprise, the thrift system, and the type of freedom that has made America great.

—Maj. George L. Berry, president International Printing Pressmen's Union.

PLANS LAID FOR FARM TRANSPORT

Details of a plan to make maximum use of farm transportation are being worked out by the newly formed farm transportation committee, which held its first meeting at the office of C. A. Henderson, county agent, on Friday morning.

Similar committees are being set up by executive order in every county in the United States, as a result of the pressing need to conserve trucks and trailers. It was decided to work toward this end by sending out a letter to all farmers in the county, urging the pooling of transportation resources, loading every truck to capacity whenever it makes a trip to market.

The committee members are E. A. Geary, chairman of the county planning commission, chairman; John Rieber, Producers Cooperative association, vice chairman; C. A. Henderson, county agent; William Kittredge, president of the Klamath County Stockgrowers association; Lewis Botens, master of Pomona grange, and Fred Rueck of Bonanza, chairman of the USDA war board and president of the Klamath county agricultural conservation association.

Also appointed to the committee are Lee Holliday, chairman of the Klamath County Dairy association and L. S. McMullen, executive secretary of the farm credit administration.

The committee will meet next Thursday with Herman Sites, manager of the Oregon office of defense transportation, from Salem. Sites will also meet with dairy representatives on the same day. Accompanying him will be Paul Carpenter, marketing specialist from OSC and A. W. Metzger, chief of the division of foods and dairies, weights and measures.

COMPANY DEVELOPS FIBRE CONTAINERS

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—The American Can company announced Friday that it had developed a new method for making containers with fibre bodies on machines used in metal manufacture.

Fibre is cut into sheets of tin plate size, lithographed on presses formerly used for tin plate, sheared and formed into bodies. Container ends are seamed with machines now in use.

After extensive test and experiments, the company said it planned to turn over the new method to the entire can-making industry for the duration.

At present the containers can be used for dry products—drugs,

Tables Turned on Curious Badger

A small, stubby-nosed animal, out to satisfy his curiosity about the great, wide world from the vantage point of Seventh and Lincoln street Friday night, had the tables turned on him. He, himself, became an object of curiosity for both canines and humans.

Identified as a silver badger, quite a rare animal, he might have provided an expensive pelt for someone, had not the humane society intervened. He was neatly trapped with a noose on the end of a stick, and taken unwillingly to a new home at the shelter.

DEMO COMMITTEE HAS LARGE MEET

The Democratic Central committee held its regular meeting in the circuit court room on July 9 with a good representation from city and county precincts in attendance. Robert H. Graham, chairman, presided. The following were appointed to act with the chairman on the nominating committee: Mae K. Short, R. A. LaLonde, A. A. Montgomery and Thomas Chatburn.

A finance committee consisting of G. C. Tatman, Mrs. Thomas Chatburn of Merrill, and A. E. Street of Malin was appointed by the chairman to report at the next meeting.

"Mrs. Gerihadine Owsley was appointed congressional committee woman. Twenty names were voted on as precinct committeemen to fill vacant precincts.

A refreshment committee, with Mrs. G. C. Tatman as chairman and Mrs. Esther Shepherd and Mrs. Dora Goddard assisting, was appointed to serve refreshments at the next regular meeting to be held on August 6.
