DETAILS GIVEN ON WAR-TIME WOODS CLOSURE

Edward Cliff, supervisor of the Fremont national forest, was in Klamath Falls on business Tuesday and explained in further detail the war-time forest closures as they apply to Fremont national forest areas within Klamath county.

He said that under the governor's proclamation of July 2, all of that part of Klamath county within the exterior boundaries of the Fremont national forest is closed to travel except by permit, with the following exception:

Beginning at a point on the Klamath Falls-Lakeview highway at Paradise creek, following the exterior boundary of the national forest generally north and west to the North Fork of Sprague river, thence up the North Fork of the Sprague river to the Lee Thomas road, thence northeasterly to the south line of township 34 south, thence in a northwesterly direction over Green mountain summit, through Crazyman flat on a road to the Currier camp junction of the trunk road and thence east to the county line, thence south on the county line to the Klamath Falls-Lakeview highway, thence west along that highway to the point of beginning.

The contract for feeding the prisoners went to Winnie Hope, and for gasoline and oil to the Associated Oil company, which was low bidder.

Sam Ritchey of the power company said that Main had worked for Copco for a number of years and at present is in the water department. He lives at Fourth and Roosevelt streets.

Welfare Commission Stands At Rubber Cross-Roads

The Klamath county public welfare commission today stood at the rubber crossroads with a figurative thumb in the air.

Mrs. Altha Urquhart, chief of the county bureau, said that increased selective service dependency investigations, plus run-of-the-day social work, is driving welfare workers to the far reaches of huge Klamath county.

And now they can't get tires, recaps, or tubes. An application for a tube was rejected last week and it was later discovered that commission employees aren't eligible for tires or recaps either.

Which means, indirectly, that selective service work is classified as non-essential to the war effort.

"Between common carriers and private autos, I guess we can get along for a while," Mrs. Urquhart said, "but, like Tipperary, it's a long, long way to Chemult."

Sugar Rationing Was Too Much For Them
MOBERLY, Mo., July 14 (AP) — A 32-mile round trip for sugar? And how much home canning did they do last year? The problems were too much for Myra Riherd, 71, and her 82-year-old brother.

Wrote Sister Myra to the rationing board: "We have no car, no 'hoss and buggy.' My brother says, 'dammit, I quit whisky, I quit smoking and I can quit sugar!'"

"P. S.—I couldn't answer all the silly questions about how much I canned last year. All I know is it's all 'et up.' So probably it's just as well not to register."
