

D. A. KENYON, PIONEER, DIES IN GRANTS PASS

David Ames Kenyon, who has been linked with the development of Klamath Falls and agricultural interests in the Klamath basin for 38 years, passed away in Grants Pass Wednesday morning. He was 65 years old and had been troubled with a heart ailment for some time and he and Mrs. Kenyon had been living in Grants Pass since April, in the hope of improving his health.

Mr. Kenyon was born in Illinois in 1877 and came to Klamath Falls in 1904, after having been engaged in freighting and teaming in Pendleton and Bend. He started the OK Transfer company here, and built it into a thriving business. He sold out later to devote his time to blacksmithing and manufacturing, specializing in the production of agricultural implements specifically adapted to local conditions of soil and agriculture.

Mr. Kenyon was highly respected throughout the county as a contributor to Klamath's progress and civic betterment. He was a member of Masonic lodge No. 77 of Klamath Falls, of Hillah temple of Ashland, and of Klamath Falls lodge No. 1247 B.P.O.E.

Mrs. David Goehring, his only daughter, drove here from Fort Ord, Calif., where Dr. Goehring is stationed with the army medical corps. Mrs. Josephine Horton, Mrs. Kenyon's aunt, arrived here by train this morning. Mr. Kenyon is also survived by a son, David Donald, and three grandchildren, Denise and Janice Kenyon and Beverly Goehring, all of Klamath Falls. Friends may call at Ward's Klamath funeral home after 4 p. m. Friday.

Similarly a three-directional threat developed against Stalingrad, 250 miles by air northeast of Rostov. The central and most advanced column was astride the Stalingrad-Likhaya railway line slightly more than 100 miles west of the Volga city.

By the light of a bright half moon, soviet heavy bombers and fighter-bombers pounded long columns of German reinforcements moving into the Do river area last night.

Scores of troop-laden trucks were smashed and others fled in confusion, field reports said. Another column was said to have suffered simultaneous bombings at head and tail.

come law," he said, "it would be necessary to borrow from the public during this fiscal year about $53,000,000,000. To the extent that we enlist our current income in taxes to cut down this borrowing, we shall be protecting the future economic soundness of our country and our free institutions. To the extent that we fail, we shall be endangering the survival of all that we are fighting to preserve."

Of most importance to the general public, Morgenthau requested a scale of personal income tax exemptions of $600 for single persons, $1200 for married persons, and $300 each for dependents. The present law is $750, $1500 and $400, and the house voted for $500, $1200 and $400.

Morgenthau also asked again for new excise taxes on soft drinks, candy and chewing gum, and increased rates on beer, wine, cigarettes, gasoline, oil, and transportation. He opposed a new tax of 5 per cent on freight and express voted by the house.

The secretary reiterated requests for mandatory joint income tax returns by married couples, repeal of percentage depletion allowances for oil companies, and repeal of income tax exemptions on interest from state and municipal bonds. He asked for the taxes in the name of the president's program to hold down the cost of living.

best to GIVE HELP wherever it is needed that we are unable to CONCENTRATE OUR FORCE at a single point and thus win a smashing victory that will discomfit and disorganize our enemies.

WHAT is the answer? This is the answer the AIR MEN give:

Quit putting the bulk of our energies into SURFACE warfare—which, the air men say, is rapidly becoming obsolete—and put it into AIR POWER, which moves from one part of the world to another, making possible SWIFT concentration of force at whatever point it may be needed.

HENRY KAISER, the latest important convert to the supremacy of air power in the modern world, wants to build fewer surface ships to be torpedoed by enemy submarines and build MORE AIRSHIPS which can move speedily and with relative immunity from attack to the points where help is needed.

He pictures to us an air fleet capable of carrying a half million soldiers to England in one day and following the next day with 70,000 tons of supplies.

THE air men may not have the answer. They may be over-enthusiastic. But at least they are making to us a daring proposal whose possibilities for America are so great as to deserve our respectful attention.

A hotel in a town about 50 miles from a London sustained bomb hits during the morning from a lone raider. (The German radio listed places attacked as Hull, Orford and Felixstowe, saying hangars and strategic installations were bombed.)

German raiders, striking at night against areas in east Anglia and southern England, caused a small number of casualties and some property damage.

One German plane was shot down.

The RAF did not attack Germany last night, presumably because of bad weather over the continent.

General MacArthur's announcement of the New Guinea move overshadowed news from China that United States bombers on Monday set docks and warehouses aflame and smashed a railway station at Kiukiang, on the Yangtze. In addition to sinking two Japanese ships, as previously reported.

The land war in China had lapsed into another indecisive phase in Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces but a Chungking spokesman said the enemy was massing around Kaifeng, and other points on the Honan plains in north China, possibly for a westward drive against Chengchow, junction of east-west and north-south railways.

but the situation was not believed to be serious.

It was forecast, however, that the bacon scarcity will continue to exist for some time because of large army purchases in coast meat processing centers.

Other than bacon no retail shortage was reported. Restaurants, however, found it difficult if not impossible to buy hind quarters of beef and pork.

Meat dealers said the hind-quarter shortage was due to ceiling prices. They said that because front-quarter prices sink during the summer months it is annually necessary to boost hind-quarter prices to break even. With prices limited to March levels it's impossible, they said, to do else than lose money if meat is sold on the hind quarters-front quarters basis. Consequently few houses are offering hind quarters for sale.

Restaurateurs reported it difficult to buy fancy meats such as tongue or well aged cuts.

JAMES B. BURNETT PASSES WEDNESDAY

James B. Burnett, 56, succumbed to a heart attack Wednesday while working on top of a haystack at the Whipple ranch in the Midland section. He and Whipple had been exchanging work for each other, and Burnett was standing on top of the stack immediately after finishing his midday meal, when he collapsed. He had been subject to fainting spells for some time. Mr. Burnett had been active in grange work for many years, having been master of the Midland grange for three terms. He was also a member of Mt. Nebo lodge No. 91, AF&AM of Shepherdstown, West Virginia. He had lived in Klamath county for 22 years.

Mr. Burnett died on the anniversary of his birth which was on July 22, 1886. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pearl Burnett of Midland, and one daughter, Mrs. Anna Hickman of Willow Ranch, Calif. A brother, S. L. Burnett, also lives in the Midland section.

headquarters was not specific on this point.

In London, military experts said it was obvious that the British chief of staff had been heavily reinforced in armor and artillery and was moving forward in all sectors with the intention of forcing a decisive battle.

Heavy dust storms were reported to have limited the support which the RAF was able to give British ground forces in the early phases of the battle yesterday morning, but later in the day bombers and fighters entered the fight on the central front with telling effect.

appeared before the committee today for a discussion of steps to throw the Japanese out of three islands in the western Aleutians, but departmental business kept them away from Capitol Hill and questioning of them was deferred.

Meanwhile, Rep. Bland (D-Va.), chairman of the house merchant marine committee, said that there was a "definite probability" that his committee would call in Kaiser and War Shipping Administrator Emory S. Land, probably late next week, for discussion of aerial freighters.

Bland's plan to have the merchant marine committee inquire into the flying boat question won immediate, enthusiastic support from Rep. Peterson (D-Fla.), chairman of a subcommittee investigating cancellation of a ship-building contract at a New Orleans yard, and from Rep. Boykin (D-Ala.), chairman of a subcommittee studying the shortage of steel for ship construction.

way." They fully realize the tax burden upon the United States in prosecuting the war, he said, and are anxious to make the project self-supporting. They are active purchasers of war savings bonds.

Shirrell said the Tulelake project had done better than some of the other WRA centers in getting started on a self-supporting basis, because of the farming program which covers about 2700 acres this year. He added that 100,000 celery plants had arrived this week and their planting would complete the agricultural layout for the current season.

He stated that the farming feature of the project should prove highly beneficial to the Klamath reclamation project, because it made possible development-work that would otherwise be held up under wartime conditions. He said that he hoped that this development would be a lasting monument to the war relocation activities in this area.

Not All Farmers. Shirrell said, are farmers, and two furniture factories are to be established as soon as they can be built.

The educational program is getting underway. Some 103 teachers are to be employed at the project this year.

When a final group of 500 evacuees arrives at the project this weekend, it will have its full complement of 15,000 persons. There are now more than 14,000 there. A third store is to be opened immediately.

Shirrell described various activities, such as the block organizations, fire-fighting department, and athletic program at the project. He stated that younger people are taking over the leadership, and the project council, composed of representatives of the blocks, has an average age of about 28.

Indicating the fact that the colonists are generally satisfied with their lot, he said there had been virtually no application by the alien Japanese for repatriation, despite an offer to move them back to Japan by the state department.

The speaker ended his talk by pointing out that the success of the WRA effort is immensely important to future race relationships in this country.

Parachutists get extra pay

3 advantages for men 18 and 19

PICK YOUR OWN BRANCH OF THE SERVICE

The Army offers you men of 18 and 19 a special opportunity—the right to choose your own combat branch:

Air Force Cavalry Corps of Engineers Infantry
Armored Force Coast Artillery Field Artillery Signal Corps

Or you can qualify as Aviation Cadet. If you are under 20, you can choose. After 20, this is no longer possible, except for certain specialists.

GET A HEAD START IN TRAINING

Enlist right away. Show your intelligence and leadership and you can qualify for an Officer Candidate School. There are no scholastic requirements. Start learning your way up in the branch of combat service you pick for yourself. If you earn a Second Lieutenant's commission before those who delay entering the service, you will find yourself in command of men your own age and older who didn't enlist when you did.

ACTION! ADVENTURE! BEST PAY AND EQUIPMENT!

Right now is the best time to start learning. There's action ahead and adventure—fighting with the best equipment on earth. No soldier in the world is better paid than you will be while you're training. $50 a month to start. Advancement is fast. You can make up to $138 a month as an enlisted man without prior service. The initial pay and allowances of a Second Lieutenant are $216 if single, and $252 if married. Your Army Recruiting and Induction Station has literature and information. Drop in and talk it over. Discuss it at home. There are lots of reasons for enlisting before you are 20.
