Klamath Falls Folk Enjoy Mid-summer Recreations

INFORMAL recreations have come into their own in Klamath Falls with the advent of warm days and luxuriously long, cool evenings. Formal entertaining on a large scale has suffered a relapse and club activities, for the most part, are quiet.

Klamath folk are saving their energies and tires for wartime needs by enjoying close-to-home relaxations which may have been somewhat neglected during the years when long trips to distant places were in vogue.

Summer homes at Lake o' the Woods and other nearby resorts are being utilized to the utmost, with many realizing for the first time that it is "good" to rediscover the joys that the various forms of relaxation near at hand have to offer.

SWIMMING — Mrs. John Maier climbs from the Barnhisejs' tempting pool after a cooling dip while Mrs. Rolla Goold improves that golden sun tan on the spring board. Mrs. Maier, Mr. Goold's sister, was their guest last week.

SAILING—Dick Igl and Mary Lou Johnson point the Drews' sailboat, the Faye-Virginia, into the breeze on Upper Klamath lake. Dick is home for the summer from the University of Oregon and Mary Lou plans to attend Pomona college this fall.

GOLF—Mrs. Jacques J. Steiger looks on as Dr. George Merryman Jr. makes a drive off the green at Reames Golf and Country club. Dr. and Mrs. Merryman expect to leave the city soon, as he is on call for duty with the army medical corps.

GARDENING—Mrs. Harry Boivin enjoys spending odd moments in the garden of her new home at 330 North First street where she can stop occasionally to enjoy a sweeping view of Lake Ewauna and the valley to the south.

TENNIS—Ben Hastings, last year's number one man on the Reed college tennis team and Rose Macartney, home for the summer from Stanford university, indulge in a little racquet swinging during their leisure hours.

RIDING—Mrs. Keith Moon, up on Pal-O-Mine Jerry, start out for an evening ride on the Moons' two registered Palominos. Young has taken over the Sunset stables and is engaged as trainer for the two thoroughbreds.
